Dr. Henry J. Smith, the eminent surgeon and specialist, 433 Kearney St., San Francisco, author of popular lectures on Science of Life, Chronic Nasal Catarrh and its Cure, Cause and Cure of Deafness, Diseases of the Male, Diseases of the Female, etc., who for years past has made regular professional visits to Portland, and has previously visited Albany as a representative of the Pacific Surgical Institute, is now at the Revere house, where he may be consulted regarding all chronic, special and surgical affections, including deafness, chronic nasal catarrh, affections and operations on the eye, all throat and lung diseases, nervous, blood, kidney and sexual diseases or weakness in either sex. All affections of the hip, knee and ankle joints, and all cases in any way crippled or deformed. All cases requiring braces or other surgical appliances will be furnished without extra charge from our workshops. All cases of rheumatism, chronic ulcers, cancers, skin diseases and all cases of broken down constitution, are especially invited to call and investigate our method of treatment. To all the afflicted he would say do not be influenced by what others may say, but come and see us and decide for yourselves." The doctor has been connected for years with institutions whose sole practice was the treatment of chronic, special and surgical affections, and has had an opportunity unsurpassed for learning to cure that class of diseases which has been given up by the general practitioner as incurable. The doctor has been in practice over 20 years and is a graduate of the best school in America and the university of Berlin, and may be consulted in German or English. The doctor would call attention to the wonderful

GALVANO-OXYGEN TREATMENT,

Which was originated by him and has been used successfully in hundreds of cases that had resisted all other treatment. He would call special attention to his treatment of

FEMALE WEAKNESS

Symptoms of which are backache, burning pain on top of the head, feeling of debility, general weakness, languor, and nervousness as the most successful and permanent that has ever been devised for the cure of this very large class of sufferers.

TO THOSE OF THE MALE SEX

Who may be suffering from any disease or weakness of the genito-urinary organs he would say: Do not waste your time by sending from home for advertised specifics or to so-called "doctors" who would have you believe that they can understand all the bearing and complications of your disease without seeing you. By means of the microscope and chemical analysis we can find out all about your case and will guarantee success in every case he undertakes. All weakness can be speedily cured by our galvano oxygen treatment. Piles radically cured without pain and without cutting

NASAL CATARRH.

This baneful disease, which is so often neglected and allowed to develop consumption and many other serious complications, has been cured by our pain of treatment in hundreds of cases in Oregon and throughout the Northwest Coast. Those who are afflicted should not despair, but come to us and be cured.

Testimonials.

Following are a few of the hundreds of testimonials we have received from Oregon during the past twelve years:

MILTON, O., Oct. 9, 1885.—Editor Walla Walla Journal: A sense of duty to the public prompts me to state that my son Henry has been afflicted with deafness since a child, and when I saw from your paper that Dr Smith of the Pacific Surgical Institute was in Walla Walla I determined to consult him. The doctor informed me that he was afflicted with catarrhal deafness, and thought that he could cure him. I accordingly put him under the doctor's treatment, which soon resulted in a cure, and I could recommend the doctor's treatment to all who may be suffering from deafness or any of the effects of nasal catarrh.—N. Pierce.

MILTON, Or., Oct. 3, 1886. Editor Walla Walla Journal: As the local doctors insisted that the cure of my boy Henry was only temporary I now take pleasure in stating that after a lapse of one year his condition is better than when I made my first statement. N. Pierce.

Editor Oregonian—Dear Sir: For twelve years I have been suffering from bronchitis an asthma so that I was compelled to keep my room during the entire winter season, but under the new galvano-oxygen treatment of Dr. Henry Smith, of San Francisco, I have been able to attend to my duties outdoors during the entire winter with perfect ease and comfort, and would cheerfully recommend all who may be similarly afflicted to go Dr. Smith and be cured.—Henry Barber, East Portland Supt Hogue's mill, Nov. 2, 1886.

AURORA MILLS, Or., Dec. 12, 1887.—J. W. Ehlen writes: Your treatment has nearly cured me of my catarrh difficulty of hearing and bronchitis. I would have been quite well had I followed your directions and taken treatment regularly.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 13, 1886.—M. Slavich (Proprietor Louisville restaurant) says: My catarrh, asthma and bronchitis have been cured by Dr Smith's treatment, and I can attend to all my duties and enjoy good health once more.

SPOKANE FALLS, Aug. 5, 1887.—Mr. P. L. LeBriton says: Dr Smith has cured me of my rheumatism, complicated with heart and and kidney disease, which have made my life miserable for the seven years past.

SPRAGUE, W. T., Aug. 4, 1887.—To the public: This is to certify that I have for over 19 years been troubled with a malignant chronic sore or ulcer on my shin, which more than a dozen doctors have tried to cure and failed, and my friends told me if I healed it up it would kill me, but Dr. H. J. Smith told me he would cure me, and after three month's treatment it was entirely healed and I am still alive and the healthiest and happiest man in Eastern Washington territory.—J. M. Laymance.

WONDERFUL PERUVIAN WORK.

Whistling Jugs Made by an Ancient Race---Messenger of the Incas.

Swiss Cross.

The silvadors or musical jugs found among the burial places of Peru are most ingenious specimens of handiwork. A silvio in the William S Vaux collection at Philadelphia consists of two vases, whose bodies are joined one to the other with a hole or opening between them. The neck of one of these vases is closed, with the exception of a small opening in which a clay pipe is inserted, leading to the body of the whistle. When a liquid is poured into the open-necked vase the air is compressed into the other, and in escaping through the narrow opening is forced into the whistle, the vibrations producing the sounds. Many of these sounds represent the notes of birds; one in the Clay collection of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, imitates the notes of the robin, or some other member of the thrush tribe peculiar to Peru. The closed neck of this double vase is remodeled into a representation of a bird's head, which is a thrush-like character. Another water vase in the same collection, represented a llama, imitates the disgusting habit which this animal possesses of ejecting its salvia when enraged. The hissing sound which accompanies this action is admirably imitated. A black tube of earthenware, ornamented with a grotesque head in low relief, to which short arms are attached pressing a three tubed syrinx to its lips (Clay collection) deserves especial mention, as it suggests the evolution of this instrument from which a single tube to more complicated forms.

Peruviar woven tissues, often dyed in brilliant hues, are unsurpassed by the textile productions of any other ancient American people. Their jewelry of gold and silver is remarkable. Statuttes in the precious mentals are even more wonderful; they represent monkeys, birds with their feathers, fish with scales, etc., modeled in relief or intaglio. Human figures were also cast in precious metals the artists even attempting groups. Beads were made of gold, silver, glass and earthenware. Wood was used to furnish objects in daily use, and an example may be seen in the beautifully ornamented combs that are sometimes found placed beside the dead in the huacas.

It is yet to be shown that the ancient Peruvians possessed a system of coinage, or of recording their ideas by a system of writing either hieroglyphic or phonetic. It is supposed that some system of communicating ideas and recording events existed by means of cords or strings of varying length, on which were knotted a certain number of threads. The Incas were thus enabled to transmit his orders by messengers over all the roads starting from the capital at Cuzco. Relays of runners were stationed all along the imperial highways at distances rarely exceeding five miles, and in this way orders were forwarded to all points in the kingdom with great rapidity.

WASHINGTON NEWS

Six Weeks of Legislation and Many Bills.

SENATE THE SPEECH MAKERS.

Rivalry for Leadership—Electrical Contents—Postal Telegraph Bill Delayed—Interesting News.

Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Congress has been nominally in session six weeks today, and while no really practical achievments can be pointed to in the way of legislation, still a great deal of work has been done. During this time 4,760 bills have been introduced into the house, and 1,400 in the senate. I find, on comparison, that this is an increase of 33 per cent. over a corresponding period of the last congress. Many of these bills are appropriately referred to committees and must consume more or less time in their examination by committees. A few congressmen take their task indifferently and have an easy time, but the majority work hard and more than earn all that they get.

There is a marked difference between the senate and the house in the matter of speech making. The senators almost universally prepare and write out their speeches before delivery, and there being no limit to their time, read them in a deliberate and dispassionate manner. Right the reverse in the house. There the time is limited to one hour. The issue to be discussed is often sprung suddenly, and of necessity, the speeches must be impromptu, and subject to repeated and annoying interruptions. The member who can stand this incessant fire, keep his temper, and cling to the question involved, wins the praise of his associates and takes a step higher in their regard. But many a good fellow has been buried under his first speech, never to be heard from again. Most new members are very cautious now-a-day about engaging in debate.

There is far more rivalry for leadership in the house than in the senate. The senate is extremely dignified and has great regard for what Roscoe Conkling termed senatorial courtesy. If personalities are indulged in they come in such a way that the rough corners are smoothed and rounded off so that no offense is given, though the language may be severely cutting. Not so in the house of representatives. Turmoil and confusion reign there, and the greater the din, the more satisfaction experienced, and the greater opportunity for direct, personal antagonism. There are scores of instances every session where bitter enemies are made, and all growing out of this great latitude given in debate.

The house committee on elections held a long session on Saturday and gave a full hearing on the Thoebe-Carlisle contested case. The result was a unanimous vote of the committee in favor of the speaker. This was expected and therefore gives no surprise. There are six other contested states which will probably be as easily settled. The Senate committee are always nine or eleven, the house thirteen or fifteen, giving a majority in favor of the controlling party in either branch. The senate is republican, and the house democratic and this fact should always be remembered in the settlement of any party questions.

In the senate committee on public lands there was a singular meeting last Friday, and all by accident, which made it more remarkable. There happened to be present five ex-Governors of Kansas and two ex United States senators from the same state. The coincidence was the subject of a great pleasantry, and senators left their seats to witness the unprecedented sight.

As the session progresses, the lack of democratic harmony becomes more apparent. Mr. Mills of Texas, the Chairman of the important committee on ways and means, assumes the responsibilities of entire Government are upon his shoulders. He received a severe back-set on Friday, through his party associate, Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, much to the merriment of the republican side of the house. Mills is very arrogant. Hatch is practical and wants straight business, and the result was that Hatch scored several good points, much to the discomforture of Mr. Mills. I do not know there is any truth in the report that Speaker Carlisle has already expressed his regret that he has put Mr. Mills at the head of this committee, still it is thought to be a fact.

I have good reasons for believing that there will be no action this session on the Postal Telegraph bill. Desirable as it may be the people will have to wait.

The HERALD's Special Dispatches.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—A special from Cattleburg, Kentucky says the war of extermination between Hatfield and McCoy is still going on in the wilds of Virginia. Saturday a pursuing party, numbering 20 overtook the Hatfield gang near Capt. Hatfield's house. During the fight which ensued, Bud McCoy, of the pursuing party was dangerously wounded and will probably die, Murphy of Hatfield gang was killed. The party which numbers forty is still in pursuit. The excitement throughout Pike county is increasing daily as the Hatfield party have warned people that they propose to kill them and burn their property. Mine Explosion.

VICTORIA (B. C.), Jan. 24.—An explosion occurred shortly before 9 o'clock this morning in No. 5 shaft of Wellington Colleries, R. Dunsmuer & Sons, proprietors. The force of the explosion displaced all the hoisting gear and at 11:50 eleven men had been hoisted out by ropes. This leads to the belief that the explosion has not been a severe one and that the prospect is good for the safety of the balance. Two hundred men are in the mine. Hon. Dunsmuer proceeded in a special train to the mine immediately after noon and reached here at 1 o'clock. Thirty four white men and thirty one Chinese have been safely hauled up by the hoisting shaft gear now being in working order. They are being brought up quickly and as there is no fire in the mine, it is reasonably sure that all are safe, with the exception of a few immediately where the explosion occurred.

American Divorce Sustained.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The divorce court to-day in the case of an English woman named Turner who had married an American named Thompson and who had the marriage annulled by an American court. The judge held that the woman having married an American and lived with him in America was subject to the same laws as her husband and therefore the decree pronounced in America holding in England without a further decree from the English courts.
