SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR
WILTLESS FAMILY MEDICINE
"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for many years, having made it my only Family Medicine. My mother before me was very partial to it. It is a safe, good and reliable medicine for any disorder of the system, and is used at this time as a great preventive of sickness. I often recommend it to my friends, and shall continue to do so."

COAST NOTES.
A sixteen-stall roundhouse will be built at Ashland by the railroad company, says the Tidings.
Thirteen head of horses were buried in a snow slide the other day near Prichard creek, Baker county, and killed.
Baker county paper: In many localities in this valley water stands two feet deep over the surface of the ground.
Measles have been raging in town during the last three or four weeks, and seem to be rather on the increase, says a Eugene paper.
Dalles paper: The snow has almost disappeared from the neighboring hills, and everything is fast assuming the appearance of spring.
Snow is said to be pretty deep in the mountains, and this occurrence will be a boon to placer miners the coming season, says a Grant county paper.
Measles and colds have made quite an inroad upon the schools here, but there are yet enough able to attend to make pretty fair schools in all the departments, says the Ochoco Review.
Roseburg Review: A little son of James Byron in Ten Mile fell off the fence one day last week and broke his neck. He was about four years old and it was indeed a deplorable accident.
Fast Oregonian: The Milton Eagle tempts the public school children to attempt the solution of a problem by offering as a prize "a fine photo-lithograph of the editor." No doubt they'll all sit up nights to secure so great a prize.
Gilliam, Wallowa and Malheur counties will each vote for a county seat next June. In Gilliam county the candidates are Arlington, Fossil and Condon; in Wallowa, Joseph and Enterprise; and in Malheur, Vale and Ontario.
Josephine county takes its place alongside the best corn-producing sections of Oregon, says an exchange. In fact, it can be considered one of the very best. Large and well-developed ears. A good average per acre; and raised without irrigation.
Klamath Star: Prof. Joseph Emery, Indian agent at Klamath agency, called on us a few days ago. Mr. Emery reports typhoid fever as being in a malignant form in his section, and that the Indian school at that place has closed, in consequence of there being some forty pupils under the doctor's care.
George B. Teel, who lives on the Meadows near Foster, was in town Saturday, says a Pendleton paper. He reported that the high water of Wednesday last drove him and his family from their home, and destroyed some of his fencing, his cellar, and all his family groceries. Mr. Teel estimates his loss at $200.
It is stated on good authority that there are 71,000 acres of taxable property in Josephine county, and aside from this some 10,000 acres especially adapted to fruit, and which will come under the plow before a great while. The latter is what is called foothill land, than which there is none better for the cultivation of fine fruits.
The Chinese pheasants are getting to be very plentiful in the upper part of the county, says the Benton Leader. During the cold weather they gathered at the barns and mingled with the domestic fowls, sometimes whipping the barnyard cock on their own grounds. They appear to be a hardy bird and increase rapidly in this climate.

AT WASHINGTON.
Political and Other Gossip from the National Capital.
OUR ARCTIC EXPLORATIONS
How the Government Fails to Remunerate the Services of the Explorers in the Arctic Seas.
Special Correspondence.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—For the first time, Cleveland was seen on foot on the streets of this city Saturday when accompanied by Secretary Fairchild he walked to West Washington and returned. A short distance behind them walked two detectives, to see that nobody should hurt the dear innocent little things. It's enough to make one sick to even think of, particularly when it is remembered that when Gen. Grant was president, he made a regular practice of walking about the city alone; and it would have been a very reckless man who would have dared to suggest to the brave old warrior that he should be followed by detectives to protect him from his fellow citizens. But it's a long ways from Grant to Cleveland.
That Republics are ungrateful was never more strikingly shown than in the case of the survivors of Lieut. Greeley's expedition to Lady Franklin Bay, who have not to this day received from the government their regular allowance for fuel and quarters. If they had been on some easy duty at home, they would doubtless have long ago received their allowances; but their absence in the Arctic seas and the term of the order detailing them, made an act of congress necessary to authorize their payment. A bill was reported to the senate in the last congress, and easily passed, but it was defeated in the house, through the effort of General Bragg (now minister to Mexico) solely because it was reported from the committee on claim instead of from the military committee. A bill has already been introduced in the senate this session to give Brainerd and his brave comrades their pay, which amounts to about $700 for each of them. Senator Manderson made the report on this bill, in which he said:
The appeal of these men is not only just, with precedent in support of it, but the heroism exhibited and the hardships endured by part of the representatives of the petitioners should have stimulated earlier action as an evidence of a desire on the American people to reward those who were willing to sacrifice their lives and their health in the cause of science. Justice has been tardy. Fourteen of the nineteen persons named in this bill are dead, and at the rate of progress which their prayer for relief has, all may be deceased before action is taken.
Think of a report like that being made in the senate. And yet it may be years before the heirs of these brave men get their money.
Hon. S. V. White, of New York, has introduced a bill that will strike many people favorably, in view of the rapid rate at which our forests are being destroyed. His bill proposes to separate the forest lands from the other public lands of the United States, to withdraw them from the control of the general land office, and to put them under the special care of the commissioner of forests and four assistant commissioners, with the view of having the forest lands cultivated and preserved.

NOVEL PROJECT.
A Scheme to Bring the Old Libby Prison to Chicago.
CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—A new departure in the line of relic worship has been taken here. Preliminary steps for the formation of a corporation whose object is to purchase and remove to this city the famous Libby prison, of Richmond, Virginia, were taken here yesterday. The building is of red brick, three stories high and covered with an old-fashioned gable roof. It contains about 600,000 bricks. Competent architects says it can be taken down, removed to Chicago and rebuilt just as it stands bodily. It will be taken down in sections boxed up and brought by rail. When erected in Chicago the building will be surrounded by another building, 200 by 150 feet with glass roof, and on the opposite wall will be painted a panoramic view of James river and the country beyond. Four well known citizens are at back of the project. The company will have a capital of $400,000, and all the stock has been applied for.
William H. Gray, who got up the scheme, says the building can be purchased for $24,000, and an option has been taken on it. It is also proposed to place in the building a collection of the relics of the late war, and have panoramic views of the engagement between the Monitor and Merrimac and other battles.
Mr. Brink has received the finest assortment of wicker rocking chairs to be found in the city. If you don't believe it, call in and see for yourself.

THE COMING OREGON ELECTION.
Scheme to Send Denis Kearney Here in the Interest of the Democrats.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—The Oregonian published some time ago the fact that Senator Gorman had his eye on the election to be held next June in Oregon. It was stated that Cleveland had communicated with his lieutenant in California, inquiring the prospects of carrying Oregon at the next election. It was also stated that the California lieutenant had written to Bernard Goldsmith, chairman of the Democratic state committee in regard to the matter. There was ample evidence to prove all this at the time the statement was made. Now there is another step to be taken in the democratic camp in Oregon. Dennis Kearney said tonight that in all probability he would go to Oregon and help the democrats there. Whether the democratic managers here will send Kearney into Oregon, to say that only the democratic party is in earnest in its effort to exclude the Chinese remains to be seen. Such agitators will have some hard questions to answer. It will be in order for them to show how the democratic party, which favors free trade with China and all other countries, would protect the American workmen from coolie labor. Still Bourbon tactics are to get the mob to follow such agitators as Kearney. Very probably, however wiser heads in the democratic party in Oregon will not permit the old sand-lot agitator to take part in their campaign.
