EDITORIAL NOTES.

CIGARETTE smokers would do well to cogitate upon the fact that of thirty-two young men of New York lately examined for cadetship at West Point, only nine were accepted as physically sound.

In speaking upon the necessity of making the curriculum of our schools more practical than they are at present, a terse but truthful writer concludes that it is fair to say that the errors of the system originate in the active procurement or matention of parents and the people themselves.

The blind goddess, justice, seems occasionally to be decidedly wrong, at least so common understanding would consider the case, though perhaps the finer legal minds would see it in a different light.

It is related that a Mexican student at Yale squandered $50,000 in one year, and then ran away leaving debts behind.

The people are beginning to wish that Wiggins would predict earthquakes all the time, as his prediction of no more quakes for 16 years was immediately followed by a shake up in the entire New England states.

It is said that New York is burning pine cones, in the scarcity of coal that exists this season.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

Contributed by the W. C. T. U.

Abraham Lincoln once said: "The man who creates public opinion is greater than the legislator who formulates law, as public opinion makes the enforcement of law a possibility." This self-evident truth needs continually to be emphasized in connection with the temperance reform.

The national president of the W. C. T. U. has called for a week of prayer, beginning March 18th and continuing until the 25th.

The Astors of New York who own about five hundred houses and large real estate, have recently decided not to rent any one to liquor-dealers.
