AT WASHINGTON.

Political Notes and Comments from the National Capital.

SHERMAN'S VIEWS ON BLAINE.

Rumor Says That President Cleveland's Mother-in-Law will Marry Secretary Bayard.

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—General Sheridan, who usually refuses to talk politics, says that James G. Blaine will be the next President of the United States.

The more the fisheries treaty is studied the more its weak points protrude. It is not believed here that the Senate will ever consent to ratify it, nor should they. We are entitled to much more than the proposed treaty give us and the citizens of the country look to the republican Senate to protect their interests.

The pension committee of the House have reported favorably the bill pensioning Union ex-prisoners of the war who were confined sixty days or more in Confederate prisons, and are suffering from disabilities which may be easily traced to their imprisonment. The pension is to be at the rates now provided by law for like disability.

The bill further grants a compensation of $2 per day to ex-prisoners of the war for each day that they were confined in prison. The bill increasing the pension for total deafness at $30 per month has also been favorably reported.

One of the finest floral tributes ever seen at the Capitol was on Senator Manderson's desk last Friday as he made his speech in favor of the dependent G. A. R. pension bill. It was presented by an ex-Union soldier as a slight testimonial of their appreciation of his unflinching efforts in behalf of their bill. By the way, this bill is almost sure to become a law. It will pass both Houses and it is not believed that Cleveland will dare to veto it.

Society is all agog over the rumor that Mrs. Polson, Cleveland's mother-in-law, who is now in Paris has gone there to obtain her trousseau for her approaching marriage to Secretary Bayard.

The House Judiciary committee has reported favorably a bill rendering eligible to any position in the United States army any person who has served in the military, naval or civil service of the late confederate states. If the bill should pass both Houses, Cleveland, should be seen fit appoint Jeff Davis to the next position that becomes vacant in the army, but it isn't likely to pass.

The Union ex-prisoners of the war association held their second annual re-union in this city Thursday night. They had quite a jolly time singing war songs and recalling incidents of their sufferings in Southern prisons. Among the speakers were Representatives Morrill and Holmes, both of whom favored giving a pension to every soldier who wore the blue, whether disabled or not. They urged the members of the association to get the legislatures of their states to memorialize Congress in behalf of such a measure.

Cleveland had a hard fight to carry his point of having the democratic nominating convention held before the republican convention.

The anti-Cleveland men under the lead of Senator Gorman stole a march on the Cleveland people at the first day's session of the national committee and rushed through a resolution fixing July 3rd as the date. But the next day the Cleveland men rallied and with the assistance of numerous telegrams from Dan Lamont who was with Cleveland in Florida, succeeded in getting a reconsideration and having June 5th made the date and St. Louis the place.

The fight made, shows very plainly that Cleveland is not to get the nomination without a struggle. Hill has many friends and they say from this time he is to be actively pushed forward.

Senator Sherman advocates the Senate bill to incorporate the Maritime canal company of Nicaragua and says he would be willing even that the United States Government should construct the canal. He is not alone in his willingness.

There are many people who believe that it would be a good policy for the United States to construct a ship canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, over the route proposed by the Nicaragua company or any other route possible.

SULLIVAN IN FRANCE.

Mitchell Missing—He has Probably Followed Sullivan.

LONDON, March 5.—It is reported here that Sullivan is now settled comfortably in his quarters in an obscure town of France, and there is a probability of his flight with Mitchell coming off within a few days. Mitchell was not seen around his accustomed haunts yesterday, and he is believed to have followed Sullivan. Whether Mitchell is in France or on his way there is impossible to find out, but a French detective was sent to Chertsey yesterday afternoon and could not find him. Some friends have been scouring London for him without success. The bankers of both pugilists deny that the fight is any nearer than it was two weeks ago.

AN EXPERT IN WRITING.

How Mrs. Paul Lytle Collins Unravels Blind Addresses for U. S. Sam.

Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Paul Lytle Collins is a reader of blind hand-writing in the Dead Letter Department of the postoffice at Washington. She has been there for many years, and has a liberal salary for her work, is not afraid of going out or coming in administration, because she is an expert in her profession. She is a bright, clever woman, and has an encyclopedic memory for names and places, as well as a happy faculty of guessing out obscure statements written in illegible or nonsensical chirography on the backs of envelopes. I found her seated at her desk at the noon hour eating the frugal lunch the Department Clerk carries in the regulation paper bag. She very kindly gave a brief sketch of her work, and showed her method of deciphering blind addresses and making into good English the mongrel languages recorded on the back of envelopes by the careless and ignorant.

"How many languages do you speak, Mrs. Collins?" I inquired.

"Every known language excepting the Russian and Chinese," she answered. "We have few Russian letters sent to this country, and Chinese are so careful in preparing the addresses—usually having one in English, in case of accident—that I have had no experience with them."

"How many letters do you read daily?"

"About one thousand; but these letters are never opened; only the addresses are read."

"Under what administration was this department established?"

"Under the management of Postmaster General Key; but I have held the position only eight years."

"Do these careless correspondents appreciate the work you do?"

"Yes. I receive many letters of thanks addressed simply to the Dead-Letter Department. A woman in England wrote to the Postmaster-General, asking him to find her brother in Massachusetts, America; that he had left the old country thirteen years before, and his relatives had never heard of him since. I found him at No. 4 Barrington street, Lowell, Mass. His trade was given, and I reasoned from this that he would be found in a manufacturing town. After a year another letter came here misdirected to the same man. I never forget a name, and when I read 'Mr. James Gunn, No. 4 Barrington street, United States of America,' I knew where to send it. The man has communicated with his friends after thirteen years."

Twelve Hours.

Why are the dials divided into twelve divisions of five minutes each? Here Mr. S. Grant Oliphant: "We have sixty divisions on the dials of our clocks and watches because the old Greek astronomer, Hipparchus, who lived in the second century before Christ, accepted the Babylonian system of reckoning time—that system being sexagesimal. The Babylonians were acquainted with the decimal system, but for common or practical purposes they counted by sossi and sari, the sossos representing sixty and the saros sixty times six—360. From Hipparchus that mode of reckoning found its way into the works of Ptolemy, about 150 A. D., and hence was carried down the stream of science and civilization, and found its way to the dial plates of our clocks and watches."

Making Celluloid.

Des Moines News.

The process for the manufacture is little known, yet very simple. Paper is sprayed with acids until thoroughly saturated, then compressed and washed with water and reduced to a pulp. It is next bleached, mixed with camphor, colored, ground and spread in thin layers on slabs. Finally it is placed under hydraulic pressure and passed between heated rollers, coming out in elastic sheets.

Sore Throat.

is particularly favorable to the contraction of Diphtheria. Heed the warning, and use Darby's Prophylactic Fluid. It at once allays the inflammation of the throat, subsides the pain and gives permanent relief. It promptly and effectually destroys all contagion and diphtheritic germs. It is a safeguard against Diphtheria, and should be used on the first symptoms of sore throat as a remedy.

WALRIKE OUTLOOK IN VENEZUELA

A Pennsylvania Bank Cashier Shot—Death of Louise M. Alcott—Neal Dow Defeated.

The Herald's Special Dispatches.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The strike has now resolved itself into a game of freeze out, and that is practically the situation this morning. If the engineers can get out their promise made yesterday it will prevent the Burlington road from doing any through business. The Burlington officials say that they are prepared to abide by this decision, and confine business entirely to the territory covered by their own system.

BRAFORD (Pa.), March 6.—A masked stranger entered the National Bank in this city about 1 o'clock this morning, and as Cashier Tomlinson stepped up to the counter, the stranger drew a revolver and shot him in the groin, torso, and made his escape out of the door. A crowd was attracted by the noise and several started in pursuit. As they gained on the fleeing murderer, he turned and shot a butcher named Blisch in the left side, then shot himself dead instantly. The stranger's name is said to be Kimball. Tomlinson's condition is very critical. Blisch is not seriously hurt.
