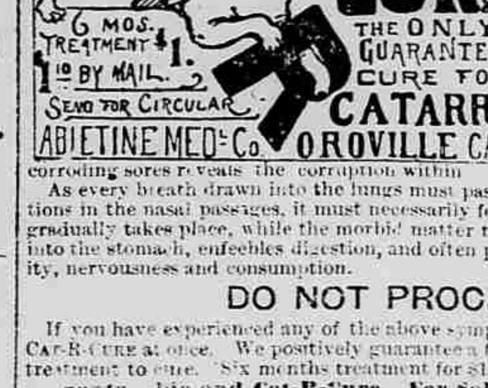
HAVE YOU A COLD in the head which does not get better? Have you an excessive secretion of mucus or matter in the nasal passages which either must be blown from the nose or drop back behind the palate, or hawked or snuffed backward to the throat? Are you troubled by hawking, spitting, weak and inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, ringing or roaring in the ears, more or less impairment of the hearing, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness or dizziness of the head, dryness or heat of nose? Have you lost all sense of smell? Have you a hacking cough? Have you dyspepsia? Is your breath foul? If so YOU HAVE THE CATARRH. Some have all these symptoms, others only a part. The leading symptom of ordinary catarrh is increased secretion of mucus of yellow or greenish colored matter.



Foul breath is caused by the decomposing secretions exuded from festering ulcers far back in the head; sometimes the membrane covering the bones is eaten away and the bones themselves gradually decay. Such cases are indeed objects of pity, as stench from corroding sores reveals the corruption within.

As every breath drawn into the lungs must pass over and become polluted by the secretions in the nasal passages, it must necessarily follow that poisoning of the whole system gradually takes place, while the morbid matter that is swallowed during the sleep passes into the stomach, enfeebles digestion, and often produces dyspepsia, and finally great debility, nervousness and consumption.

DO NOT PROCRASTINATE.

If you have experienced any of the above symptoms do not delay, but try CALIFORNIA CAT-R-CURE at once. We positively guarantee a few applications to relieve, and a thorough treatment to cure. Six months treatment for $1.00; sent by mail $1.10.

GENERAL NEWS.

Kentucky's Absconding Treasurer Must be Impeached.

A FRIGHTFUL EXPLOSION OF GAS

A Theater Building Destroyed and Many People Killed—Many Homes Inundated by Floods along the Missouri.

[The HERALD's Special Dispatches.]

LOUISVILLE, March 21.—A dispatch from Frankfort states that the senate judiciary committee and a committee appointed yesterday by the house in their joint report to the legislature, concerning the proper measures to be taken in the Tate defalcation case, recommend his impeachment. The report says that his suspension by the governor does not vacate the office, and that his impeachment is the only constitutional means by which the absconding treasurer may be removed, and his place made vacant.

ANOTHER RAILWAY DISASTER.

Engineer and Brakeman and Many Passengers Injured.

WYOMING, March 21.—An emigrant train going west on the Grand Trunk road, collided with a petrolia train going east, one mile east of this city this morning. The engineer and a brakeman on the emigrant train were badly injured. Of the passengers, eight or ten have broken limbs and are more or less seriously injured. No persons were killed. The emigrants are mostly Danes and Germans, and are bound for Illinois and other points further west.

DISASTROUS FLOODS.

Ice Gorges Break Up With Serious Results to Settlers.

POPULAR RIVER, Mont., March 21—Ice in the Missouri river broke yesterday, and the river overflowed its banks and flooded millions of acres. There will be a great loss of cattle. The settlers have all gone to the hills.

A FRIGHTFUL EXPLOSION.

A Theatre Destroyed and Many People Killed and Wounded.

OPORTO, March 21.—While the performance was in progress at the Banquet theatre last night an explosion of gas occurred and the theatre took fire and was destroyed. The house was full of spectators. Ten bodies have been recovered from the ruins. Many persons were injured.

FOUND GUILTY.

Startling Disclosures Leading to Wholesale Arrests.

COLUMBUS, Mo., March 21.—The coroner's jury in the case of David Gordon has completed its work with a verdict of willful murder by William and Jonathan Blalock. Constable Gordon was assassinated on Friday night last. The Gun depot had been broke open Thursday night and he was watching the house where the stolen goods were supposed to be when the murder was committed. Next day Miss Blalock, a teacher in one of the city schools, confessed to the authorities that her brothers did the killing. They were arrested and made a full confession of their multinodous crimes. They have been connected for years with a gang of horse thieves which extends from Kansas City to Arkansas, Texas and Colorado. Their crimes include robbing mails, blowing up safes, sand bagging and murder. Fifteen arrests already have been made and information has been telegraghed that will lead to the arrest of as many more.

Severe Wind Storm.

PITTSBURG, March 21.—A terrific windstorm accompanied by heavy wind, passed over this section this morning, doing great damage to telegraph services. Poles are reported down in all directions, and wires are working badly.

Alaskan Affairs.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The house committee on territories today decided on reporting a bill for organization in the territory of Alaska.

A Strike Averted.

MINNEAPOLIS, March, 21.—It transpires that the general tie-up of Northwestern roads has only been prevented by Chief Arthur's counsels. The men have been on the point of striking for some time, but unwilling to take the responsibility of doing so without the approval of the grand officers and support of the whole brotherhood. A committee of engineers and firemen went to Chicago yesterday to consult Arthur. On the result of their visit depends whether the general tie-up will be begun or not.

Portland News.

PORTLAND, March 21.—To-day in the case of Pearl Page, on trial in the state circuit court, the defendant was jointly indicted with C. M. Harding for robbery.

BOY AND GIRL, MAN AND WOMAN.

"Kiss me, Will," sang Marguerite,
To a pretty little tune,
Holding up her pouty lips,
Sweet as roses born in June.
Will was ten years old that day,
And he pulled her golden curls
Teasingly, and answer made,
"I'm too old—I don't kiss girls."

Ten years pass and Marguerite
Smiles as Will kneels at her feet,
Gazing fondly in her eyes
Praying, "Won't you kiss me, sweet?"
Rite is seventeen to-day;
With her lily ring she toys
For a moment, then replies,
"I am too old—I don't kiss boys."
—Boston Traveler.

The Heroic Sacrifice of a Child

In the Bodleian library at Oxford is a most touching record of heroism and self-sacrifice on the part of a child—a record to touch one's heart with its pathos. The tower door of St. Leonard's Church Bridgewater, England, was left open and two young boys, wandering in, were tempted to mount the upper part and scramble from beam to beam.

All at once a joist gave away. The beam on which they were standing became displaced. The elder had just time to grasp it when falling, while the younger, slipping over his body, caught hold of his comrade's legs. In this fearful position the poor lads hung, crying vainly for help, for no one was near.

At length the boy clinging to the beam become exhausted. He could no longer support the weight. He called out to the lad below that they were both done for.

"Could you save yourself if I were to loose you?" replied the little lad.

"I think I could," returned the older.

"Then good-bye, and God bless you!" replied the little fellow loosing his hold.

Another second and he was dashed to pieces on the stone below. His companion climbed to a place of safety.

Pere Fisher Maximilian's Friend.

I have not noticed a reference to the death of Father Fisher, a priest who died recently in a little village in Austrian Bohemia. And yet this "father" had been in his life associated with stirring and sensational scenes, for it was his lot to accompany the Archduke Maximilian on his illfated expedition to Mexico, and to minister to the unhappy Emperor in his last moments. During recent years Father Fisher lived in strict retirement and occupied himself in writing his memoirs of the incidents of which he had been an eye witness. These recollections of his include, it is said, some revelations concerning the tragic end of Maximilian, which have never yet been published. And there would seem to be some ground for this rumor, for the legal representative of Pere Fisher has found among his manuscripts a letter addressed to him directing him specifically to delay the publication of the "Memoirs" for ten years from the date of the father's death. The public must accordingly wait patiently until 1898 for the revelations in question.

The Six Trombones.

Youth's Companion.

A Russian orchestra was once rehearsing under the direction of Arban, a celebrated French musician. Among the instruments were six trombones, which were played in unison. Arban noticed that something seemed to be wrong with the trombone part, and made the six trombones play it over again. Then he observed that, where the trombones should have played do, every man of them played sol.

"Here, here!" exclaimed Arban, stopping them, "that note should be do!"

"We know it sir," said the headman of the trombones; but we dont play do at rehearsals."

"And why not, please?"

"Because in order to play do, we have to thrust our arms out as far as we can reach. And as it is so very cold, every time we do that it gives a cold.

No Ear, But a Warm Heart.

Providence Journal.

A bit of musical anecdote was told me the other day. On the first appearance of a famous pianist in Boston Mr A. found himself seated in front of his neighbor, Mr., whom he had always supposed entirely devoid of musical taste, but who proved especially demonstrative in his applause. In the intermission Mr A. turned in his seat and observed to the other.

"I am glad you enjoying the concert so much. I didn't know you cared for music to such a degree."

"Oh, I don't." Mr. B. responded with great frankness; "it's all Greek to me, but I think one ought to welcome a stranger."

All Easily Hit.

At a recent gathering of Unitarians one speaker recited an anecdote which admits of large and varied application. It was the story of a minister who, preaching on exchange said some strong things about fast horses. He was told after the sermon that he had touched one of their best members on a tender spot. "Well, said the preacher, "I cannot change my sermon for him." In the evening the man was introduced to the minister who said: "I understand that what I said this morning touched one of your weaknesses. I assure you that I was altogether unconscious of the weakness when I said it." Oh, do not trouble yourself," said the man. "It is a very poor sermon that does hit me somewhere."

OF INTEREST TO OREGON.

President Cleveland on Oregon Wagon Road Grants.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—The president to-day sent to the two houses of congress a communication from the secretary of the interior, with a great mass of testimony, relating to grants of land to the state of Oregon for the construction of wagon roads. The presentation of the facts by the secretary, the president says, is the result of an examination which has developed, as it seems to him (the president) the most unblushing frauds upon the government which, if remaining unchallenged, will divert several hundread thousand acres of land from the public domain and from the reach of honest settlers to those who have attempted to prevent and prostitute the beneficent designs of the government. The government sought, by the promise of generous donations of lands, to promote the building of wagon roads for public convenience, and for the purpose of encouraging settlement upon the public lands. The roads have not yet been built, and yet an attempt is made to claim the lands under a title which depends for its validity entirely upon the construction of these roads.

A bill accompanies the communication, which the president submits with a recommendation that it may become a law, and with an earnest hope that the opportunity thus presented to demonstrate a sincere desire to preserve the public domain for settlers, and to frustrate unlawful attempt to appropriate the same, may not be neglected.

AN OLD STORY.

It seems that the president has just discovered these great frauds, and rushed eagerly to the front, on the eve of an election in Oregon, to urge congress to pass a bill to forfeit these grants. Senator Dolph, in the Forty ninth congress, introduced a bill, which was referred to the committee on public lands. Senator Dolph submitted to the senate at that time an elaborate report for the committee, consisting of more than one hundred pages, containing all the information which the agents gathered in their recent visit to Oregon. Senator Dolph also urged the passage of his bill forfeiting these wagon road grants. The senate passed the bill in the Forty-ninth congress and sent it to the democratic house, where it was ignored by the committee on public land.

Among the first bills which Senator Dolph introduced in the 50th congress was one to forfeit these wagon roads grants. It has been favorable reported to the senate from the committee on public lands, and is now on the calendar, and may be reached in a week.

The great discovery which apparently has just now been made by the executive is an old story, and had the democratic house exercised half the zeal in the 49th congress which Cleveland now displayes, these wagon road grants would have been forfeited two years ago.

The Committee of Ways and Means in Congress has prepared a tariff bill, which, as had been foreshadowed, is largely a direct blow at the farmers of the country in its reduction of entire removals of tariffs on "raw materials." Upon the principle, of equality, upon which all the laws of our country are supposed to be founded, farmers should have more instead of less upon their products, which are mainly "raw materials." The Grange has always declared for "equally distributed burdens and equally distributed powers," and now is the opportunity for patrons to sustain the position taken by the National Grange for several years past. opposing free raw materials, when no corresponding reduction is made upon manufactured goods. All other interests that are in the slightest degree affected by this new tariff bill will be heard from at once in Congress, opposing any changes that will affect them. Let farmers be heard from, and promptly. Speak plainly, respectfully, yet firmly, strongly armed with justice and equality. The constitution of our country says, "All citizens shall be equal before the law." Let farmers see to it that they are equal before the tariff law.—Lecturer of National Grang.

He Has Licked Him.

"Talk 'bout dem Gen'l Washin'ton body servants! I'se licked Gen'l Washin'ton, gemmen—licked 'im!"

"Why, how's that, Uncle Dave?"

"On a pos'al stamp!" And the old man doubled over a hitching-rake and fairly laughed a hole in the ground.
