THE DEMOCRATS.

Arrival of the Delegates—Wire-Pulling Preparatory to To-Day's Convention.

The delegates from nearly all of the precincts to the democratic convention which meets in this city to-day had arrived last night, and the remainder will be here this morning. More than usual interest is manifested in the nominations, and much wire-pulling and caucusing was done last evening.

The convention promises to bring a warm contest, as the number of offices is inadequate to the wants of the candidates. The most numerous are for clerk and school superintendent. For the former the names of N. Payne, E. E. Montague, J. P. Galbraith and Jeff Myers stand most prominent. For sheriff it is difficult to tell who has the inside track, though the Forks of the Santiam claim the privilege of naming the candidate. The contest for county judge is an interesting one, and seems to rest between J. J. Whitney and Hub Bryant. Mr. Galbraith, who was mentioned for this office, says positively that he is not a candidate for it. For recorder E. E. Davis, of Harrisburg, is thought to be in the lead, with Geo. E. Southerland, of Scio, a good second. Among the candidates for school superintendent Rev. P. A. Moses, of Tangent, heads the list, followed by some half dozen others. Prof. L. V. Lonsway is probably the strongest man on the list. Candidates for the other offices are not so prominently mentioned. These of course are only conjectures, and the most carefully prepared slate is likely to be obliterated by an opposing wing at the convention to-day.

THE WRECKED BENTLEY.

Her Boiler and Engines Raised and Taken to Portland.

The steamer Three Sisters yesterday brought down the boiler, engines and all the machinery of the ill-fated steamer N. S. Bentley, which was wrecked a few weeks ago on her way down from Salem.

An attempt was made by Joseph Paquet, the well-known ship builder, to raise the sunken steamer, but the heavy machinery was too much for him, so he had to take it out. Another attempt will be made to raise the steamer which ought not to be a very hard task, as she rests in only about six feet of water.

Mr. Paquet expects with the aid of a couple of scows to lift the steamer sufficiently to enable men with gum boots to get aboard and stop up the worst breaks, after which she will be brought down here if the hull is worth the trouble.

From what can be learned of the disaster, Captain Smith is free from all blame. It seems that he was in mid-channel when the accident occurred. The Bentley had aboard about 140 tons of freight, which lowered her in the water just enough to a catch a sunken snag. The snag being firmly imbedded in the river, the damage done can well be imagined. Captain Smith did the best thing that could have been done under the circumstances—turned about and beached the boat. The upper works are as good as the day she was built, and the hull, it is thought, is not damaged so badly but that it can be repaired at a trifling cost.—Portland News, March 23.

The Agricultural College.

The Agricultural college building, half a mile west of Corvallis, will be completed about May 1. The building is of brick, 75x150 feet, and three stories in height and contains fourteen class rooms, a chapel and furnace room. About the only things now remaining to be done are putting in the stair cases and plastering. It is being built by subscription, in accordance with the act of the legislature of 1885. On its completion it will be received by the governor on behalf of the state, and by him turned over to a board of regents already appointed. This college has been designated as the recipient of the $15,000 appropriation per annum, made by congress for agricultural experimental schools. As an instance of the good likely to be derived from this, four bushels of seeds were received from Washington a few days since. Among them were many varieties of trees, forage plants, etc., not known here, and some of which will doubtless prove of great value to the state. Land in the vicinity of the college has advanced in price and is now selling from $150 to $200 per acre. As to whether the M. E. Church South will renew the struggle for the control of the college there is much doubt.

Buried at Silverton.

The Salem Statesman says: The body of Wm. Desart, the unfortunate young man who was run over by a freight train at Albina Tuesday afternoon, was brought up to Gervais Wednesday night, and thence conveyed to Silverton for burial yesterday. Desart was a carpenter, 26 years of age, and his wife's maiden name was Bowen, she being a daughter of Thos. Bowen, of Silverton. Desart had just moved his family down to Albina, where he had completed a comfortable home. Mrs. Desart, who has a young babe, takes her husband's death very hard.

Mr. Hogue's Entertainment.

The artistic entertainment given at the opera house last night by Mr. C. C. Hogue, of Corvallis, was attended by a fair-sized audience, and was a most interesting and enjoyable affair. The entertainment was a la the great cartoonist Thos. Nast, and Mr. Hogue both surprised and amused his audience. He certainly has remarkable ability as a caricaturist and artist, and his free hand drawing in the presence of the audience, interspersed with humorous remarks, formed a most pleasing entertainment. The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of this city. The most striking picture, perhaps, was the portrait of Judge J. J. Whitney, who was represented as the patron saint of the Ladies' Aid Society, which brought down the house. Excellent music was furnished by the Juvenile Band.

New Methodist Church South.

The new church edifice erected by the southern Methodists at Spicer is completed excepting the inside finish. Its tall spire points out the location of the little village, which is improving and is destined to become one of the busy points on the Oregonian railroad. The building is 32x48, 16 feet between the floor and the ceiling. The bell tower is 77 feet in hight. This is all very well, but if that church would just drop the now meaningless term "south," it would be better suited to the age in which we live. The war is over and men and institutions alike ought to respect this fact.

Wants the World.

Charles Nickell, of the Jacksonville Times, democratic, has assorted his republican opponent, the Sentinel and is now asking the democracy of that county to make him county clerk. Evidently Charley wants the entire world—of Jacksonville—and judging from his absorbing qualities will get it.

Another invoice of Kenton's Baking Powder has arrived at Julius Gradwohl's. Only 25 cents in one pound cans. It sells on its own merits. Julius Gradwohl warrants every can. If not satisfactory the money will be refunded. The reason he was out of this popular baking powder for a few days was due to the unprecedeated sale created by the constantly increasing demand for it.

Who Is Your Best Friend?

Your stomach of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will tell on you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right,—if you are troubled with Heartburn, Dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, Biliousness, Indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.
