The origin of yesterday's fire is supposed to have been from matches thrown by a tramp into a lot of packing which had been removed from a warehouse. A large assortment of glassware and crockery just opened at Wallace & Thompson's, which they are selling so low that a citizen remarked they were almost giving them away.

Mr. B. F. Wood, who resigned his candidacy for sheriff on the prohibition ticket, has closed up his fish market and gone to the country, where he is said to be quite sick. A barrel or two of spoiled fish which was left in the market had become a great nuisance, which those living near insisted on having removed. Yesterday afternoon City Marshal Hays broke open the door and the fishmonger's foul merchandise was carted off. This might be taken as an evil omen for the third party people.

Fire Alarm. Early yesterday morning an alarm of fire was sounded, and the department quickly responded. It proved to be a lot of straw burning among some dry boxes and barrels in the rear of Finn's new brick. It was a dangerous little blaze but was extinguished before any adjoining property caught fire, although several windows were broken and the door of Wallace & Thompson's grocery store was somewhat burned. The damage is probably $25; fully insured.

Every merchant should be aware of the wants of the public. We can do this in view when we decided to give a discount of 5 per cent. for cash. Brownell & Stannard.

THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Officials and Others to the Front—Indication of Resumption of Work.

Business men of this city, who know that they are talking about, state that work is likely to be resumed on the Oregon Pacific railroad eastward from this city within a month. Vice President Wm. M. Hoag and other officials of the road in company with some gentlemen from New York and San Francisco, went to the front on a special car.

John Schaefer has received orders to furnish teams to take supplies to the front for surveyors. The people of the Willamette Valley, and especially Albany, will be glad to see this work go forward.

Sauquaguet at Salem.

Even the quietest capital city, where all the criminals are supposed to be locked up in the penitentiary, has seen some rough and tumble. The Salem Statesman on the 19th inst. says: Last night about 11:30, as Dr. C. W. Jeffrey, veterinary surgeon, was passing along the south side of state street, near Front, he was assaulted by two unknown men, knocked down and robbed. Dr. Jeffrey, although the night was not particularly dark and the electric lights were still burning brightly, did not notice the two men until they were within a few feet of him, in front of Darr & Glover's blacksmith shop.

Passing on each side they suddenly attacked him, one of them with a club or sand bag, and the other, Dr. Jeffrey is quite sure, with a knife. He was struck a stunning blow on his head and rendered unconscious, and while in that condition his pockets were ransacked, and several hundred dollars abstracted therefrom.

Upon coming to his senses, his groans and cries attracted the mate of one of the river boats, and he was taken to Gibson & Singleton's drug store, where the wound in his head, from which the blood flowed profusely, was dressed. Meanwhile the police were notified, but could find no trace of the foot pads. Doctor Jeffrey has no idea who his assailants were, and is not sure he would recognize them if he were to meet them. He had just returned from Eastern Oregon, and had an unusually large amount of money on his person.

She will leave to-day for Eugene.

G. A. R. Encampment at Seattle.

The sixth annual encampment of the G. A. R. of Washington territory and Alaska opened at Seattle Wednesday. Many delegates from all parts of the territory are present. There was an imposing parade of veterans and three companies of militia. A camp fire was held in the evening at the opera house, at which the members of several visiting posts were welcomed to the city by the mayor.

They Will Attend.

A number of the teachers of this city have in contemplation a trip to San Francisco next July, when there will be held in that city the annual session of the national teachers' convention. As there are 275,000 teachers in the United States, there will be quite a gathering. It is anticipated that at least 10,000 will attend from the Eastern states.

Glove Contest.

The veteran of many contests, that always comes out victorious, is the Centaur Kid glove. As a fitter it has no rival, its finish has no equal, and for nicety of style, excellence of quality and satisfactory endurance it tramples upon everything in the glove market.

Grand Ball To-Night.

The juvenile band will give a grand ball at the opera house this evening. Good music has been engaged for the occasion and a pleasant time is promised. Tickets will be sold at $1.50 and the price for spectators will be 25 cents. Lady dancers free.
