NOTICES ABOUT TOWN. May day.

Board of trade meeting Thursday evening.

M. W. Avery, merchant of Cottage Grove, is in the city.

Mr. Geo. Davis, the next clerk of Linn county, was in the city yesterday.

Try a bucket of Sapon for house cleaning, it has no equal. Wallace & Thompson.

Mr. O. S. May, of Scio, republican nominee for county recorder, was in the city Monday.

Hewitt & Bryant have removed their law office into their elegant rooms in Flinn's new brick.

The average town cow still roams at night about the streets in violation of the cow ordinance.

Miss Nellie Riley and Miss Vera Good, of Salem, spent Sunday in this city, the guests of Mrs. T. Hopkins.

Wire cloth for door and window screens at 2 1/2 cents per square foot at C. L. Brush's, at the foot of Lyon street.

Albany is to have a cigar factory. Beginning to-day Julius Joseph will begin the manufacture of cigars at his establishment.

Wm. Simpson has added to his store a bankrupt stock of ladies' and men's fine shoes. These with his other goods, will go at cost.

W. W. Richardson, of Scio, and W. R. Kirk, of Brownsville, whose names, with that of O. H. Irvine, head the republican ticket as representatives in Linn county, were in the city Monday.

The sight of Jos. Webber's barber shop, which is being removed, on rollers in the middle of the street all lit up and business going on as usual, with a man being shaved in each chair was a novel sight last evening.

A very pleasant entertainment was given at the opera house last evening by the ladies of the Congregational church. The programme, which has already been published, consisted of songs and literary exercises and was very interesting. The May pole dance by the little folks was a most pleasing feature. Lunch was served and a pleasant evening was spent.

The building used by Jos. Webber as a barber shop was placed upon rollers yesterday and started down First street toward its destination opposite the Russ House. This is to make room for the new brick of Foshy & Mason and Tweedale & Hopkins. One by one the old wooden buildings, landmarks of the early days in Albany, are removed to make room for new bricks.

Singular and Unsuccessful Show. A short time since a fellow turned up in Ashland, from no one knew where, calling himself Dr. Sealey, and opened an exhibition, the chief and only attraction of which was the alleged remains of the notorious desperado, Jesse James. The show did not prove a grand success, and the few who visited it were apparently unable to tell whether the exhibit was the real carcass of the defunct desperado or not. Wax figure, or whatever it was, looked like Jesse James, and it bore all the bullet holes which marked the genuine remains of the departed celebrity. The doctor had a companion who was supposed by some to be Frank James, but who did not seem inclined to exhibit himself. After doing Ashland the whatever-it-was was boxed up and taken to Grant's Pass, where its exhibition did not pay expenses, so it was again boxed up and sent by express to Roseburg, where at latest accounts it remained uncalled for, the proprietor not having been seen or heard of. From the present indications it seems likely that the next appearance of this Jesse James "what-is-it" will be at an old horse sale.

A Card. Having been appointed assistant commissioner to the Australian exhibition, I should like to see the state of Oregon, in which I have resided nineteen years, properly represented there. Our goods, our woods, and the furniture of our native woods should certainly be exhibited. Anything confided to my care will be properly placed to good advantage. And now that advertising to gain immigration is in vogue, I know of no better place to make a showing for Oregon than in the great south continent. Country papers please copy and oblige their old fellow laborer, Thos. B. Merry.

Runaway Accident. The veterinary surgeons of Salem seem to be unlicked. Dr. Jefferys was recently sandbagged and robbed of $1,000 at that place, and Sunday Dr. Shackelford, of Salem, came to grief in this city. He was driving from Corvallis in a buggy with Bishop R. Dubbs when his team ran away and broke the hind axle oil. Neither of the occupants were seriously hurt, but the buggy was badly wrecked. Dr. Shackelford was reported at first to be badly hurt, but he was all right yesterday morning, except the damages to his exterior occasioned by the broken buggy.

Gold Prize Shirt. The best white shirt in the market at W. F. Read's; and don't forget that he proposes to give away a fine gold watch with them. Call and investigate, if you need a good shirt.

AN OPEN LETTER.

ALBANY, April 28, 1888.

To the Editor of the Herald: We wish to propound some questions, or wish to ask Mr. John Smallman, democratic nominee for sheriff, the following on your voting two years ago:

How did you vote?

Did you vote for Mr. J. C. Johnson and Mr. Van Dawson?

Have you been in the habit of voting the straight democratic ticket?

Did you vote for Mr. D. P. Mason several years ago when N. Baum was elected?

Did you vote for or against Mr. J. P. Galbraith four years ago?

Did you vote for Uncle Jim Charlton?

It is reported all over the county that you have been voting part democratic and part republican tickets for several years. As honest, straight voting democrats we wish you to answer these questions direct. Also did you not go to anti prohibitionists and beg them for support, saying you was sorry you voted for the prohibition amendment, and that you would never do so again, if certain men would come out and aid you to get the nomination this time? We are respectfully, SOLD DEMOCRATS.

Served Him Right.

For some time past G. E. Thompson and J. S. Mitchell, of Syracuse, Polk county, have been having trouble, and have not been living in the brotherly unity of spirit which the Sunday school teacher would have. Their grievances have been aired in the justice's court of that place, and become the property of the street. On last Saturday Mrs. Mitchell, an estimable lady whom all respect, was met in the highway by Mr. Thompson, who insulted her. Mrs. M. did not burst into tears, as the generality of her sex would have done, but proceeded in first-class style to horsewhip Thompson, which she did most effectually.

PROHIBITION IN POLITICS.

Rev. I. D. Driver Addresses a Large Audience in East Portland.

A large audience assembled at Hall & Scott's hall in Portland on Saturday evening to listen to an address by Rev. I. D. Driver on the issues of the campaign. Following is a synopsis:

A Christian is required to give a reason for his faith. I am an enemy to no living man; am a friend to all humanity and am subject to the power of Almighty God. It took many thousands of years to form any government. The most important events in the history of the world was the establishment of the English form of government—which produced the mind of Newton and Shakespeare. But American government was a step higher—no foreigner singly could have evolved it, but out of the mixed conditions came the Yankee. Going westward a higher and better government has been evolved and that explains the existence of this broad and beautiful country. Passed through the crucible of civil war the government stands the monument of human freedom—and will stand as long as an American lives. I know there is a prejudice against a minister standing on this platform, but I have as much interest in the government as you have, and I claim the same right to express myself. I have made it a practice to vote for only honest men—sober, temperance men—all through my life. I formed my early convictions along the line of republicanism. Have voted for men who were not republicans, but now the question comes: Shall I vote to perpetuate sectional hate—can I on Decoration day put flowers on the graves of heroes who gave their sacrificed lives for the country and then vote for those men who put these dead heroes in the graves which I have just honored?

What would Grant and Lincoln say if they see the supreme court and the entire government in the hands of those who at one time sought to destroy it in battle? There may be no danger of this being repeated, but I would make it impossible by keeping them out of power. The republican party saved the government, but the South has no love for the republican party, notwithstanding the South has been treated with great magnanimity. I believe it the duty of every true American to stamp out all consolidation of one section against the other—North or South, East or West. I would break down and disperse sectionalism. What has the republican party done? The country is full of prosperity; the national debt is being paid off.

Now about the third party. I have opposed it on the grounds that moral reform and moral reformation can never be accomplished through political action. Party betrays party. It is impossible that politics should produce anything moral. Politics is corrupt and produces corruption. I would keep temperance out of politics, because politics drags temperance into the dust. I have studied these questions in all their terms. Let moral reform depend on politics, and what would the result be? The democrats would vote Utah and polygamy into the sisterhood of states if they could. Now, if a man will not vote for moral reform in either of the old parties, when he comes to vote in a third party he will do any better? Not much. Oregon is about evenly divided in politics. A third party simply swings one or other of the old parties into power, and that's all. Because of political action prohibition was defeated. If the third party had not been started, prohibition would have received a much larger vote in Oregon.

How The Northwest Was Saved.

Oregon and Washington Territory are bound to the Union by iron bands. More than forty years ago a statesman came near trading them off to Great Britain. The foresight of a home missionary, Dr. Marcus Whitman, saved them to the nation.

Dr. Whitman had crossed the plains and the mountains to Oregon, and knew, from a few years' residence, the value of the country. He also knew that the Hudson Bay company were anxious to obtain possession of the whole northwest, and had circulated the report that it was impossible for emigrants to cross the mountains in wagons.

At a dinner given in 1842, where the doctor and several of the company's chief officers were present, news was received that a band of British emigrants had crossed the mountains. Toasts were drunk in honor of the event. "Now the Americans may whistle; the country is ours," said one of the Englishmen boastfully.

"God helping me the country is not yours," said the doctor to himself as he left the table. The next day he started for Washington on horseback. He made the journey in winter, and with frozen limbs called on Daniel Webster, the secretary of the state. On presenting his case, he was bluffed only by Mr. Webster that the country was worthless.

"Wagons cannot cross the mountains," said the secretary. "Sir George Simpson, who is here, affirms that I am about trading that worthless region for some valuable coconuts in relation to the New Foundland fisheries." Finding that a treaty had been approved by the senate, and was awaiting formal ratification and the signature of President Tyler, Dr. Whitman sought the president. After listening to his story, Mr. Tyler said:

"Mr. Whitman, your frozen limbs and leather breeches attest your sincerity. Can you take emigrants across the mountains in wagons?"

"Give me six months and I will take 1000 emigrants across," answered the doctor.

"Well replied the president. 'If you take them across, the treaty shall not be ratified.'"

"In 1843 a band of emigrants under the guidance of the doctor started from Missouri to Oregon. A deputation from the Hudson Bay company met them on the plains, who affirmed that it was impossible to cross the mountains with the wagons. The immigrants almost decided to leave their wagons and finish the journey on horseback.

And this course would have ruined Dr. Whitman's plan of saving Oregon to the United States. He labored with the leaders of the band until they consented to follow the doctor's advice and guidance.

The band did cross the mountains in their wagons; the treaty was not ratified, and the fertile northwest was saved to the nation.
