THE ALBANY COLLEGE.

Preparation for the Annual Commencement Exercises to be held June 11, 12 and 13

The twenty-first annual commencement exercises of the Albany collegiate institute will be held in the college chapel, beginning on Monday, June 11, and continuing three days, closing on Wednesday, June 13, on which day will occur the graduating exercises proper.

The graduating class this year consists of two members, John Geisendorfer and Collins Elkins. The enrollment of students this year has been over 100 students, and the coming commencement will close a successful school year. The present faculty of the college consists of the following corps of instructors: Rev. Elbert N. Condit, A. M., president, Wallace H. Lee, A. M., Rev. J. B. Braun, A. M., Mrs. O. S. Pollock.

On Sunday, June 10, the regular baccalaureate sermon will be preached, and an address before the literary societies will be delivered during the week. The complete programme will be arranged and published in a short time.

Two successful debating societies are maintained by the students, the Erodolaphian society, composed of young ladies, and the A. C. S. L., conducted by the young gentlemen. Both are well sustained, and are important factors in the practical work of college instruction.

The following prominent citizens of Albany are in the board of trustees and among its supporters: Rev. S. G. Irvine, D. D., pastor of the United Presbyterian church, Rev. E. R. Prichard, pastor of the Presbyterian church, J. L. Cowan, of Linn county bank and mayor of the city, Judge L. Flinn, president of the First National bank, J. P. Galbraith, clerk of Linn county, Geo. E. Chamberlain, cashier of First National bank, Samuel E. Young, J. C. Powell, F. M. Redfield, A. Wheeler, L. E. Blain, D. P. Mason.

AN OBSCURE LETTER WRITER.

The Brownsville Affair on Trial in Judge Deady's Court—Plaster's Defense.

The Herald's dispatches recently contained an account of the arrest of Geo. W. Plaster for sending obscene matter through the mails to Otho Cooper, of Brownsville. The case is now before Judge Deady in Portland as the following from the News will show:

Geo. W. Plaster was registered at the Holton house yesterday, together with his attorney, Geo. S. Washburne, county judge of Lane county. Plaster was brought down from Salem by Deputy Marshal Borendick, of that place, and escorted to a lodging in the county jail by putting up $1000 as bail. The charge is sending obscene matter through the mails. Plaster upon being interviewed, did not deny writing an obscene letter to his brother-in-law, Otho Cooper, of Brownsville, but said in justification that it was in answer to a letter from Cooper which was a great deal worse than the one he himself wrote. He will be arraigned before Judge Deady this morning.

LATER.—A dispatch received last night says: James Plaster, of Eugene, pleaded guilty to-day of sending an obscene letter through the mails to his mother-in-law, and was fined $100.

A Remarkable Machine.

Several citizens of this city have nearly completed a machine which is said to be as near perpetual motion as anything yet invented. It consists of heavy balls so fastened upon a disc that they roll down hill all the time, the position of the disc being shifted by means of a crank. It is only claimed to be a multiplier of power, and the owners disclaim any attempt at perpetual motion, but say that the heaviest machinery can be run by no greater power than a boy turning the crank. Its success, of which those engaged in the undertaking are sanguine, is soon to be tested by attaching the machine to a circular saw.

The New Steamer.

From Henry Susens, foreman of Albany Engine Co. No. 1, it is learned that the new steamer recently ordered for the company is now being constructed at the factory according to order, and will be completed within twenty days, and will be received here about June 20th. It is the first fourth class engine made on the double acting plan, and will be a fine one. The hand engine, which has done service in the hands of No. Ones for many years, will probably be turned over to a new company.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

At a citizens' meeting held on May 3, 1888, for the purpose of organizing a board of trade, a committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws and report to an adjourned meeting at the G. A. P. hall on Wednesday, the 9th day of May at 8 p. m., at which time a permanent organization will be effected. All are invited to attend and assist in this enterprise.

J. C. POWELL, Chairman. JAY W. BLAIN, Secretary.

Chinese Pheasants.

The crop of Chinese pheasants promises to be enormous in Linn county this year. They have begun nesting, and farmers say they are already numerous enough to be a great nuisance. One farmer states that in counting a seven acre field over a dozen of their nests were found. They contained from a dozen to 25 eggs each. Gamekeepers and grain raisers say that these birds are becoming very destructive.

Just received, the celebrated Escholtz Key West cigar, the lines. Key West cigar in the market at M. Baumgart's cigar store.

OUR INDUSTRIES.

Albany's Water Power, and Improvements for Interprises.

ACTIVE REAL ESTATE BUSINESS.

Advantages Offered for New Manufacturing Establishments—Grain and Flour Output—A Growing City.

The West Shore.

In the central part of the Willamette valley, in Linn county, the seat of government of which is Albany, a rapidly growing city, situated on the bank of the Willamette river, at the mouth of the Calippoo. The town site is a plain about forty feet higher than the Willamette at that point. The plat is regularly laid out so that the street crossings form right angles, and the buildings have room enough not to give the city a crowded appearance. The first settlers located there in 1845, and about three years later the town plat was surveyed. It now occupies an area of more than a mile square, and is a lively business town.

Like most cities relying largely upon agricultural resources for support, Albany's growth has been gradual. It has been free from epidemics, and has not been hampered by the development of the territory surrounding it, leading improvements that aid advancement, and contributing its influence as a county seat and the most important city of that region, to build up the surrounding country. The most notable improvement, and really the one on which most of the manufacturing interests of the city depend, is the Albany water power. This power is created by diverting a portion of the Santian river, at Lebanon, and conducting it, in a canal nearly fourteen miles long, to Albany, where it is divided, one branch leading to the Calippoo, with a head of twenty-six feet, and the other to the Willamette, where a head of thirty-two feet is obtained. The canal is twenty feet wide at the bottom, and the fall is four feet to the mile, and water to the depth of three feet flows through it. This furnishes an immense power, which is under perfect control, and may be utilized all along the fronts on the Willamette and Calippoo rivers. It is available the entire year as it does not freeze in winter nor run at low ebb in summer.

There are now located at Albany four flouring mills, two foundries and machine shops, a saw mill; a planing mill, wire weaving works, three furniture factories, two grain warehouses and two breweries. The motive power for running all the manufacturing institutions is furnished by the canal. The annual output of flour, furniture and manufactured iron articles is large, and gives Albany considerable importance as a manufacturing center. The grain warehouse of the Albany Farmers' Company handled over two hundred thousand bushels of grain last year, and is notable as an institution owned and managed by farmers that is a complete success. The Willamette Packing Company has a fruit canning establishment at Albany, and this is found so successful in an institution that its capacity is being largely increased for this year's work. The manufacture of brick, tiling, sewer pipe, cement and artificial stone furnishes a steady employment for many hands, and although these are comparatively new branches of industry, they have already been demonstrated successful, and their facilities for work are receiving additions, so that an increased production will be the result. The Farmers' and Merchants' Insurance Company is a local organization which is doing a flourishing business. The city has an excellent system of public schools. The Albany Collegiate Institute is an educational institution managed under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, and an academy under Roman Catholic control is maintained. There are ten churches in the city. One daily and two weekly papers are published. The city has a system of water works, is lighted by electricity, the streets are improved and sidewalks are in good condition.

The completion of the Oregon Pacific railway, from Yaquina bay as far as Albany, last year, was an important accession to the shipping advantages of the city. Previously the Oregon & California railroad and river steamers on the Willamette have furnished the chief means of transportation from and to that region. Its shipping facilities are now the best of any point in the Willamette valley, and its importance as a shipping and manufacturing point will be continually increased, as the O. P. R. R. is extended eastward, and the city's advantages become more widely known. Albany occupies a site that is peculiarly adapted to manufacturing enterprises. To secure cheap and reliable power is one of the prime conditions in locating factories advantageously, and this is amply provided for at Albany, as mentioned above. The water power, which never fails, is sufficient for any form of manufacturing. Those industries already located do not exhaust the field of operation. The larger portion of the power now goes to waste.

Albany is a primary market for a large section of country. The grain, which is the principal product in the entire tributary of Albany, finds a market in that city, and buyers from various large markets enter into active competition to secure it. The manufacture of flour is one of the leading industries of the city, and gives promise of expanding in the near future. The manufacture of furniture has many hands employed, and the product is shipped to various parts of the country.

The power that is so cheap and abundant at Albany could be utilized with profit in the operation of an extensive woolen mills plant. Such an institution would experience no trouble in obtaining its supply of materials in the county, for the wool crop is important, or of disposing of the finished goods in any market.

Two important industries, for which exceptional advantages are offered at Albany, are paper mills and creameries. There is an abundance of materials from which news and wrapping paper could be made, and the facilities for every feature of the work are so advantageous that it is claimed to be one of the best points on the Pacific slope for such an enterprise. The materials for the best pulp exist in abundance, and there is no question that there would be an active demand for the manufactured article in the markets of the West. It seems only a question of a little time when such an institution will be established at this point. The superior facilities can not long remain unimproved when capital is seeking for safe and profitable investment, and the advantages of location are so pronounced as those of Albany.

In the heart of a section of such permanent and reliable resources as Linn and adjoining counties possess, there is a promising field for building up various lines of manufacturing. The recently constructed transportation lines centering at Albany, largely increase the necessity for hotel accommodations to keep pace with the demands of travel. The citizens are progressive and public spirited, and welcome the location of legitimate business institutions in their midst. As an indication of general enterprise, the many large structures now being erected would be mentioned some of which—namely the First National Bank building, just being completed—would be ornaments to any city in the country. Real estate business is active and has an encouraging aspect. The three banks of the city do a prosperous business in their line, and the community at large is alive to the advantages that accrue from diversified industries in the building up of a prosperous commonwealth from its own resources and influencing the location of desirable factors of development from abroad.

RARE CHANCE FOR SHOPPERS.

Mr. A. B. McIlwain, who has frequently agreeably surprised his customers by his custom of cutting prices to the lowest margin, is now making the best offer yet given. To begin with is his GREAT SALE OF CARPETS.

For 30 days he will discount all sales of carpets 20 per cent. His stock is large and embraces the best patterns of all kinds of carpets. He also offers Standard white shirts, with all linen bosoms, for 75 cents. In His stock of boots and shoes is newly received from Eastern factories and is complete.

THE LADIES WILL BE PLEASSED To know that his line of spring dress goods is one of the best yet opened. His patterns are new and fashionable. A call will prove the truth of this assertion.

Who is Your Best Friend? Your stomach of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living.

Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will harm you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right,—if you are troubled with heartburn, dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, biliousness, indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.

The Great Highway of Nations.

The broad Atlantic is ever a stormy thoroughfare. Yet blow the winds ever so fiercely, and ride the waves ever so loftily, seamen must man the good ships, tourists will brave the passage, and commercial travelers and buyers must visit the great centers of foreign trade and manufacture. That atrocious malady, seasickness, together with colicky pains and much inward uneasiness is often endured when "the hostler's" stomach Bitters would have fortified the voyagers against them. Sea captains, and in fact all old salts and veteran travelers are acquainted with the protective value of this estimable preventive and remedy, and are rarely unprovided with it. Emigrants to the far West should use it as a safeguard against malaria. Seek the aid of the Bitters for dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, kidney troubles, and all ailments that impair the harmonious and vigorous action of the vital power.

STATE CONVENTION.

Of the W. C. T. U. to be held Eugene this week—Flag for Linn County.

The state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Oregon convenes at Eugene May 8th, and continues to the evening of the 11th. All friends of the cause are cordially invited to be present. The reports of Superintendents of Departments will be followed by discussions, and give promise of much interest and profit. An excellent program is promised for each evening.

Tuesday evening gives special attraction by the presentation of a flag by the State W. C. T. U. in the person of Mrs. T. F. Graham of Corvallis, to Linn county in honor of the large majority vote given by Linn county for constitutional prohibition.

Rev. A. C. Kummer will deliver an address before the convention Wednesday evening, and on Thursday evening there will be a special programme of State workers. Friday evening closes with a meeting of the Young Women's Christian Temperance Union of the state. This branch of our work is growing in importance as well as members, and promises to be one of great influence along the social side of the W. C. T. U. work.

A Proprietary Fraud.

The Herald is in receipt of a warning from Rev. Prof. E. James, the prophet, a blustering impostor who gives his address as 608 Market street San Francisco. The "warning" consist of a folder of eight pages upon which is printed a great string of senseless stuff which the "professor" calls predictions. He says there is going to be another war in two years or four at the longest, which is likely. The "professor" got his information from a series of visions, in which he saw two horses that represented death, fire, water, war, pestilence, and a little of everything else, upon which he bases his prediction of war and ultimate destruction. The "professor" winds up with the modest request that his whole warning dose be published. Such transparent bilks as "Rev. Prof. James the Prophet," have a tendency to make ordinary people sick.

O & C. Freight Rates.

A dispatch from San Francisco in the Oregonian says: "The statement is made here that although there is a rate sheet for Oregon points on the California & Oregon railroad, but little business is being done over it yet. No effort is being made by the company to canvass for freight on account of the fact that rates are so excessively low that there is no profit on the haul. The competition of the steamship company is too severe just at present. Some time in the near future, however, arrangements will doubtless be made with the Southern, Perkins & Co., which a more remunerative rate will be put into effect."
