HAVE YOU A COLD in the head which does not get better? Have you an excessive secretion of mucus or matter in the nasal passages which either must be blown from the nose or drop back behind the palate, or hawked or snuffed backward to the throat? Are you troubled with hawking, spitting, weak and inflamed eyes, frequent soreness of the throat, ringing or roaring in the ears, more or less impairment of the hearing, loss of smell, memory impaired, dullness or dizziness of the head, dryness or heat of nose? Have you lost all sense of smell? Have you a hacking cough? Have you dyspepsia? Is your breath foul? If so YOU HAVE THE CATARRH. Some have all these symptoms, others only a part. The leading symptom of ordinary catarrh is increased secretion of mucus of yellow or greenish colored matter.

Foul breath is caused by the decomposing secretions exuded from festering ulcers far back in the head; sometimes the membrane covering the bones is eaten away and the bones themselves gradually decay. Such cases are indeed objects of pity, as stench from corroding sores reveals the corruption within.

As every breath drawn into the lungs must pass over and become polluted by the secretions in the nasal passages, it must necessarily follow that poisoning of the whole system gradually takes place, while the morbid matter that is swallowed during the sleep passes into the stomach, enfeebles digestion, and often produces dyspepsia, and finally great debility, nervousness and consumption.

DO NOT PROCRASTINATE.

If you have experienced any of the above symptoms do not delay, but procure CALIFORNIA CAT-R-CURE at once. We positively guarantee a few applications to relieve, and a thorough treatment to cure. Six months treatment for $1.00; sent by mail $1.10.

A Woman Dies from an Overdose of Morphine.

FAILURE OF A PORTLAND FIRM

Appointments by the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. at Colfax—Ex-Mayor of San Francisco Drowned.

The HERALD's Special Dispatches.]

SALEM, May 11.—The wife of J. E. Sorbin, formerly of Albany, saloon keeper at Gatesville, on the line of the O. P. above Mehama, died Wednesday night from the effects of an overdose of morphine. She was a habitual user of the drug. Sorbin had a good deal of trouble with her on that account, and tried every means to prevent her from obtaining morphine for use.

I. O. O. F. Appointments.

COLFAX, W. T., May 11.—The Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., adjourned yesterday, after making the following appointments: L. F. A. Shaw, grand secretary; Geo. W. Hall, grand treasurer; H. McBride, grand marshal; Will B. Jenkins, grand conductor; W. P. Hill, grand chaplain; J. H. Yates, grand guardian; James Percy, grand herald. Fifty-three lodges were represented. Increase of lodges during the past year, 6; increase of membership, 259; membership at the present time, 2150. Receipts during the past year, $6328. California members are asking for a sovereign lodge legislation permitting this jurisdiction to create a levy for the widow and orphan fund, and to admit to membership at 18 years of age. The Odd Fellows were royally entertained by Colfax lodge and citizens.

Failure at Portland.

PORTLAND, May 11.—To-day the large dry goods firm of Collinson & Ahpel failed. Suit was brought by L. & I. White for $10800, and by the First National Bank for $5500. Total liabilities and assets not yet known.

Yaquina Post: Since our last issue the men have been at work, apparently trying to cut a new channel south of the jetty, and have succeeded in washing out quite a length of the jetty. At last accounts the ground had been washed out to within a few feet of the government boarding house, and it was feared that the building would be undermined and washed away. The ground was being washed away at the rate of eight or ten feet per day, according to our informant

Johnny Booth, the Salem bad boy, was sent to sea on board the British ship Aigsburth, bound for Queenstown.

Who Is Your Best Friend?

Your stomach of course. Why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will harm you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right,—If you are troubled with heartburn, dizziness of the head, coming up of the food after eating, Biliousness, Indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.

The Application of Photograpy to Medicine.

Read before the Camera Club Conference by Dr. G. Thomson.

Although photography has been in use for fifty years, it is only within the last ten that men have seen the many valuable uses the younger art-science may be put to, to aid the much more ancient art science of medicine, this being probably due to the great advances made in our knowledge of photo-mechanical printing methods and the introduction of gelatino-bromide dry plates.

First in the study of anatomy, the basis of all medical study, photography renders valuable help by the accurate representations it can give of the organs of the body and their relative position to one another. Drawings vary in truthful delineation according to the skill of the artist and his knowledge of medicine, are further handicapped by having to be done hurriedly; not so in photography. The modern methods of freezing whole or parts of bodies, making sections through them and photographing with orthochromatic precautions, those sections give absolutely correct views of those obtainable in no other way. Freezing is resorted to as certain of the viscera are flaccid, and cannot be examined without altering their shape and position. This is notably the case in frozen sections of women dying enceinte, photographs of which illustrate modern text-books on obstetrics.

Quite recently Dr. Arthur Thomson has been employing photography very successfully in delineating the facial angle and contours of the skull of various races; and he has done this not merely by photographing the skull in profile of one race, and comparing it with the skull in another race, but he has ransacked museums, and with great skill and labor produced a valuable typical "composite" of very many skulls of each race, and thus arrived at much more correct and average types of the crania of the various ethnological varieties of man.

The function and mechanism of the eye, from a photographic point of view, have been brought before the notice of many of you by a fellow member of the Camera Club (Dr. Lindsay Johnstone), in an article published in the "Club Proceedings," at the end of which he goes so far as to say: "The perception of form and color is a vast subject, and although we are only on the threshold of the problem, yet daily facts are pouring in, and we look to the teachings of photography more than any other science to find an answer to those two mighty problems—What is sight? What is perception of color?"

Then, in giving us accurate drawings of the vocal cords in the larynx or voice-box, photography has rendered aid to the physiologists who investigate and describe the mechanism of that wonderful musical instrument, the human larynx. This has been done by Brown and Behnke who photographed the images thrown on the laryngoscopic mirror produced by the various movements of the vocal cords or strings:

Similarly, the fundus, or back of the eye has been photographed through the pupil, and reliable pictures taken of normal and abnormal conditions of the retina.

In physiology, however, the greatest practical use photography has been put to is in the study of locomotion. The various movements performed in the acts of walking, running, and leaping, both in man and in the horse, and, also, more recently in the flight of birds, have been studied by means of instantaneous photographs, taken at the rate of ten per second.

Marey, in France, and Muybridge, in England, who are in the van of this method of research, obtain photo-chronographic pictures which show not only the limb of a mammal, or the wing of a bird in the various positions it assumes during flight, but also its positions in space and time. The images thus obtained can be placed in the zoetrope, and by thus recomposing them the impression of a mammal running or a bird flying is obtained.

Marey goes so far as to hope that by photo-chronography we may arrive at a true knowledge of the physical condition of flight, and that possibly then, and then only, will flying-machines be constructed with some probability of success. This would, indeed, be a triumph for Photography.

"My Name is Haines."

The wit or catch word born of conditions sometimes survives the memory of its origin. Probably our readers have at some time heard the phrase "My name is Haines." It indicates the intention of him who speaks it suddenly to depart But why should the name of Haines be borrowed rather than that of Smith or Jones? Thereby hangs a tale which explains, though the tale itself can claim high antiquity. Thomas Jefferson President of the United States, 1801-9, chanced to overtake a traveler on the road near his Virginia home, and the two horsemen rode along together. One perennial topic of conversation—politics—came up. The strange gentleman happened to be a Federalist and the President's course, conduct and character suffered no little, for the Federalist "pitched in" strong. Presently they reached the Jefferson estate and the President invited his companion to come into dinner. "But this is where Jefferson lives," said the stranger. "Yes," answered the President, with a smile; my name is Jefferson." "My name is Haines—and I'm off" said the other, as he stuck his spurs into his horses flanks and dashed away!

GENERAL NEWS.

A Big Meeting of Railroad Men at Chicago.

NEWS FROM THE OLD WORLD.

Another Emperor Ill—Dillon Gets Six Months in Prison—News East of the Rockies.

The HERALD's Special Dispatches.

TORONTO, Ont., May 11.—At last night's session of railway conductors the subject of the engineers' strike on the Chicago & Burlington and Quincy railroads was fully discussed in all its bearing on interstate conductors. The report of the grand officers, condemning the strike and expressing approval of the action of the courts, was adopted by the members and ordered endorsed by a vote of 184 to 69. Great interest was taken, owing to the presence of forty conductors from the "Q" road. A strong effort was made, principally by men from New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, to prevent the adoption of the clause favoring the strike.

A BIG MEETING.

Two Thousand Railroad Men Assembled in a Meeting in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Two thousand railroad men attended the meeting last night, called by the Burlington strikers, to consider a statement to the effect that crews on various roads transferring Burlington cars had been attacked by non unionists. A committee was appointed to wait on the general managers of the various roads and request protection. If this protection is not granted the men say they will not handle the Burlington's business. The committee will try and have the revolvers of the "Q" men confiscated.

Dillon Convicted.

DUBLIN, May 11.—The trial of John Dillon, charged with inciting tenants not to pay rent, was concluded to-day. Dillon was convicted and sentenced to six months imprisonment without hard labor.

Another Emperor Sick.

MILAN, May 10.—The emperor of Brazil has had a relapse. He shows symptoms of neuralgic cerebral congestion. Drs. Chariott, of Paris, and Grovanni, of Padua, have been summoned to attend his majesty.

The Six Day Race.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Guerrero, if he continues his present gait until to-morrow night, will win the six day race and beat his record. He covered 106 miles yesterday, and at midnight was only four miles behind Littlewood. Noremac passed Hughes during the night. At 9 A. M. the score stood as follows: Littlewood, 472; Guerrero, 452; Herty, 438; Golden, 415; Noremac, 410; Hughes, 396; Dillon, 388; Campana, 290.

"Boodlers" En Route to the "Pen."

CHICAGO, May 10.—Ex-Warden Varnel and ex-county commissioners Wasserman, Van Pelt, Heyden and Ochs, county "boodlers," started at 9 o'clock to begin their terms of two year's imprisonment.

Noted Horse Sold!

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 11.—The noted stallion Leonatus, by Longfellow, has been sold to Clay & Wood, of the Runnymede stud, for $5,300.

Reduction of Insurance for Electric Lighting.

It is important and interesting to note that at the meeting of the New England Insurance Exchange, held at Boston on March 31, a vote was passed giving a reduction in the Exchange tariff for the use of electric lights, under the required conditions. A reduction of 10 cents is made for incandescent lights used in establishment enumerated in the ordinary schedule or list, and of 5 cents for arc lights. With regard to this significant action, Mr. S. E. Barton, who is the chairman of the electric light committee, and is well known to electric light men in connection with this special branch of insurance work, says: "This is the action referred to in my Pittsburgh paper, which seems to strike the electric heart in a tender spot. I think it cannot now be said that we do not believe in our own position, nor that we are unwilling to acknowledge, in a substantial way, the benefits and improvements which we claim are the result of our enforced inspection. If the electric light interests could secure similar inspection throughout the country and pay for it, they would most surely reap, in time, benefits such as we believe they will reap in New England from our present action." It is the only way to effectually drive from the public mind that mysterious fear of the electric wire that seems to possess them to such an extent; even the mind of the newspaper reporter, who certainly ought to be more enlightened."

Oregon's death rate is the lowest of any state in the Union. Statistics prove this.
