GENERAL NEWS.

Great Damage by Floods In the East.

A Mother Kills Her Child and Herself—A Colored Brute Hanged at Chicago—His Awful Crime.

EASTERN TOWNS ARE FLOODED.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The dispatches from various sources along the Missouri and Mississippi river report almost unprecedented high waters. At Fort Benton the flood reached the highest point that it has for twelve years.

At Dubuque, Iowa, the water is within six inches of the high water mark. A hundred thousand dollars worth of damage has been done to property situated on the low lands in this city and vicinity. The mills have shut down, and many people have been forced to leave their houses. At Davenport much the same condition of affairs exist. The damage done by the giving way of the government water power dam yesterday is estimated at $500,000. Much anxiety is felt both here and at Rock Island.

AT NEW YORK.

At New York manufacturing is almost entirely suspended.

TRAINS ABANDONED.

Trains on the Keokuk & Northwestern have been abandoned.

AT ALEXANDRIA.

At Alexandria, five miles below Keokuk, there is danger of the town being submerged. The citizens are working on the levees, which are already giving way in places. A vast area of farming land along the river is covered with water, and the farmers will suffer great damage.

INHABITANTS PANIC STRICKEN.

Telegrams from Canton, Missouri, say the railroads there are under water and the inhabitants there are panic stricken. Farmers on the American bottom, between Alton and Cairo, are greatly agitated and fear a repetition of the great inundation of '82.

A TOWN SUBMERGED.

CHICAGO, May 12.—The levee at Alexandria broke shortly after noon to-day, flooding the town and doing great damage.

A NEGRO HANGED.

His Crime Was Murdering a Pretty Girl of Fifteen.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Zeph Davis, colored, was hanged in the county jail this morning. The crime for which Davis suffered was committed about 7 o'clock on the morning of February 27, in Greene Bros. factory, his victim being Maggie Gaighan, a pretty little girl about fifteen years old. Zeph was employed in a factory where Maggie also worked, as foreman. The body of his victim was found on the afternoon of that day in a closet in one of the rear buildings, under a pile of rags and horribly mutilated. Davis confessed to killing the girl, because she refused to obey his orders. He is the first colored man ever hung in Cook county.

AFTER THE MURDERER.

A Possé Urged by a Reward After a Red-Banded Criminal.

GLOBE (Arizona), May 12.—The coroner's jury in the case of M. Wahlen, the merchant who was murdered in a cowardly manner near here Tuesday, rendered a verdict to the effect that Moses Workmen was supposed to be the man that fired the first shot, and the officers are now in pursuit of him. The citizens have subscribed $150 to pay their expenses. Gila county officers offer a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of the murderer, and the governor has been requested to offer an additional $500.

A SAD TRAGEDY.

A Mother Demented Over Religion Kills Herself and Child.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 12.—Mrs. Ida Jordan, wife of Thos. Jordan, a grain dealer of this city, administered a fatal dose of poison to her child this morning and then cut her own throat. The woman was partially demented and her infirmity was intensified by her excitement over christian science, of which she was an ardent student. Both mother and child are dead.

WILLIAM NYE.

He Goes Out West and Writes up the Country.

HIS EXPERIENCE WITH BANKS.

How the Commercial Tourist Gets the Bridal Chamber and the Lowly Minister a Dinky Bedroom.

When I was out West, writes Bill in the New York World, I was calling at First National Bank of Chicago, the greatest bank, if I am not mistaken, in America. I saw the bonds securing its issue of national currency the other day in Washington, and I am quite sure the custodian told me it was the greatest of any bank in the Union. Anyway, it was sufficient, so that I felt like doing my banking business there whenever it became handy to do so.

I asked for a certificate of deposit for $2,000, and had the money to pay for it, but I had to be identified. "Why," I said to a receiving teller, "surely you don't require a man to be identified when he deposits money?"

"Yes, that's the idea."

"Well, isn't that a new twist on the crippled industries of this country?"

"No; that's our rule. Hurry up, please, and don't keep men waiting who have money and know how to do business."

"Well, I don't want to obstruct business, of course; but, suppose, for instance, I get myself identified by a man I know and a man you know and a man who can leave his business and come here for the delectable joy of identifying me, and you admit that I am the man I claim to be, corresponding as to description, age, sex, etc., with the man I advertise myself to be, how would it be about your ability to identify yourself as the man you claim to be? I go all over Chicago, visiting all the pork-packing houses in search of a man I know, and who is intimate with literary people like me, and finally, we will say, I find one who knows me and who knows you, and whom you know, and who can leave his head long enough to come here and identify me all right. Can you identify yourself in such a way that when I put in my $2,000 you will not loan it upon insufficient security, as they did in Cincinnati the other day, as soon as I go out of town?"

"Oh, we don't care especially whether you trade here or not, so that you hurry up and let other people have a chance. Where you make a mistake is in trying to re-raise a piece here instead of going out to Lincoln Park or somewhere in a quiet part of the city. Our rules are that a man, who makes a deposit here must be identified."

"All right. Do you know Queen Victoria?"

"No sir; I do not."

"Well, then, there is no use in disturbing her. Do you know any of the other crowned heads?"

"No, sir."

"Well, then, do you know President Cleveland, or any of the Cabinet, or Senate, or members of the house?"

"No."

"That's it, you see. I move in one set and you in another. What respectable people do you know?"

"I'll have to ask you to stand aside, I guess, and give that string of people a chance. You have no right to take up my time in this way. The rules of the bank are inflexible. We must know who you are, even before we accept your deposit."

I then drew from my pocket a copy of the New York World, which contained a voluptuous picture of myself. Removing my hat and asking a court salaam by letting out four additional joints in my lithe and versatile limbs, I asked if any further identification would be necessary.

Hastily closing the door to the vault and jerking the combination, he said that would be satisfactory. I was then permitted to deposit in the bank.

I do not know why I should always be regarded with suspicion wherever I go. I do not present the appearance of a man who is steeped in crime, and yet when I put my trivial two-gallon jug on the seat of a depot waiting-room, a big man with a red mustache comes to me, and hisses through his clenched teeth: "Take yer baggage off the seat!" It is so every where. I apologize for disturbing a ticket agent long enough to sell me a ticket, and he tries to jump through a little brass wicket and throttle me. Other men come in and say: "Give me a ticket for Bandain, Ohio, and be dam sudden about it, too," and they get their ticket and go aboard the car and get the best seat, while I am begging for the opportunity to buy a seat at full rates, and then ride in the wood-box. I believe that common courtesy and decency in America needs protection. Go into an hotel or a hotel, whichever suits

SPRING.

The grocery man is labeling new, His sweetest sugar at 40¢. The screaming boy across the field The lively ball doth sock. With creaking wheels the whitewash man About the street doth wander. With shining titles the sales prance forth. In checks and stripes arrayed. In sweetest dreams the happy maids Their new spring bonnets plan; And in the alley and doth lie. Two ciphers and a can.

HUMOROUS DRIFT.

The amended fishery treaty will call for a new school of fish.

A Chicago journal used to rhyme Gendie with teeth, until the Renaissance set in, since when it rhymes it with dirty.

Impudicious and embarrassed bridegroom (to wealthy bride). "With this ring I thee wed, and— and—with all worldly goods. Fine endow—"

Somebody asked Mrs. O'Brallaghan the meaning of "posthumous works." "Sure, tuin, an it's meself that knows; sure, they're the books a man writes after he's dead."

Judge (to prisoner)—It seems to me that I have seen your face before, Prisoner—I shouldn't be surprised, Judge: I used to tend bar down at the Bald Eagle.

Rejected manuscripts are cast into the fire, and don't return; We find though they're not "thoughts that breathe," They nevertheless are "words that burn."

He Did His Best.

(Scene first, country school-room.) Young lady teacher—Tommy, you had better go and wash your face.

(Scene second, the room two minutes and a half later.) Young lady teacher—Tommy, you've washed your face pretty well, but you've not wiped it very nicely; your forehead is all wet.

Tommy (loudly, being aggrieved at unappreciated efforts)—Wiped it as high as my shirt-tail reach!

Young lady teacher's attention is suddenly demanded elsewhere.
