A band will accompany the excursionists, and plenty of music will be furnished for those who desire to dance. The steamer will leave the O. P. company's dock, near the ferry, at 7 o'clock, arriving in Salem at 10:30. Returning she will leave Salem about 5 o'clock p. m., thus affording a ride of 80 miles, and an all day's amusement for only one dollar, the price of a ticket for the round trip; children half price. As this is the first and may be the last excursion of the season it has been decided to run it on Saturday so that all pupils attending school can have an opportunity of going. Let all who can attend, and help the fire-boys.

The Found Money.

Many readers of this paper remember that about three years ago a son of S. M. Yoran and one of J. G. Gray, of Eugene, found buried in the lot belonging to Mr. Yoran two packages of money, one containing $1,000 in gold and the other lacking but a few dollars of the same amount, both being contained in tin cans. Mr. Yoran advertised the money as found, and after the proper time half of it was turned over to the county, and the other half to the boys. The heirs of Mrs. Goodchild, who formerly lived on the place, brought suit for the money, and after several trials the supreme court finally decided the case, Tuesday, in favor of Mr. Yoran. — 21220 G. 1131

HERMANN'S WORK.

A Letter in Which His Work Compares Favorably with Leading Members. Congressman Binger Hermann has made public the following letter: "Referring to the suggestion of many of my democratic friends that I have not passed any bills at this session, although I have secured the passage of four already—one a very important public bill (the new land district embracing nearly ten million acres), and hope to pass about six more before we close this session, not counting what is secured in the river and harbor bill and other general measures—I concluded to interview some of the leading and oldest members of this congress as to their records in the passage of bills and to-day each of the gentlemen expressed to me the difficulties he has experienced to get any measures through this house, and from their own lips I quote to you their answers to me: General Butterworth, of Ohio, says: 'I have passed one bill, and a close scratch for that.' Governor Dingley, of Maine, says: 'I have passed one, outside of a few pension cases.' S. S. Cox, of New York, says: 'I have passed one. I cannot get recognition.' General Cutcheon, of Michigan, says: 'I have passed one public bill and four private bills.' Judge Peters, of Kansas, says: 'I have passed four private bills.' Mr. Lanham, of Texas, says: 'I have passed two private bills.' Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, says: 'I have passed two private bills, and consider myself very lucky.' Mr. Townsend, of Illinois, says: 'I have passed one or two private bills.' Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, says: 'I have passed but one, and that a private pension bill.' General Weaver, of Iowa, says: 'I have passed but two private bills; the difficulty is great.' Col. T. B. Reed (republican leader) of Maine, says: 'I have passed three private bills.' Mr. Mills, (democratic leader) of Texas, says: 'I have passed one public bill and one private bill.' The gentlemen have not either the immense correspondence, nor the department work, nor the committee labors in the interests of their constituents which belongs to the member from Oregon. They have colleagues to aid them in a close vote. Mr. Cox, of New York can bring thirty-four votes where New York is locally effected, while Oregon is sure of but one. New York is thirty-four to 325; Oregon is one to 325. In the senate, however, Oregon is the equal of New York, or one to thirty-eight. With all these difficulties Oregon has more bills passed, and far more reported on the calendars, than any other state in proportion. Her repeated appropriations are larger than ever. The labors involved in direct legislation is to the Oregon member nothing in comparison to the innumerable details before the departments, which create an increasing correspondence that are both exacting and laborious. Yours truly, BINGER HERMANN.

THE NARROW GAUGE ACCIDENT.

The State Railroad Commissioners Make a Report Upon It. A meeting of the State Board of Railroad Commissioners was held at Salem, Tuesday and the following report made upon the accident which occurred on the narrow gauge railroad on March 22. It will be remembered that in this accident Conductor Colburn received injuries which resulted in his death and that several passengers were considerably injured. The report is as follows: "The board having visited the scene of the accident, and having made a careful examination of all available testimony, finds that the road and bridge where the accident occurred were properly constructed and in good condition, that the train was running at a low rate of speed, and that no blame attaches to the employees on board; but the managers of the road were not justified in jeopardizing the lives of passengers by attaching passenger coaches to cars loaded with live stock, as the sudden crowding of the cattle to one side of the cars was the probable cause of the accident in this case."

PRINCE WELLS.

Champion Cyclist of the World Accepts Fred Merrill's Challenge. TACOMA, W. T. May 10, 1888. Mr. Fred Merrill—Sir: In reply to your challenge of the 8th, I would say I accept your terms for five, ten and twenty mile races, although they are over my distances. Will run you for $250 a side, winner takes all gate receipts. The five mile race to come first, and winner of first to decide the distance of second race. The races to be run the latter part of June inside of one week, in case there is a deciding race run. Must be run inside of twenty-four hours. I mail Charles Suter $50 to cover your deposit. Respectfully, PRINCE WELLS.

Who is Your Best Friend?

Your stomach, or why? Because if it is out of order you are one of the most miserable creatures living. Give it a fair, honorable chance and see if it is not the best friend you have in the end. Don't smoke in the morning. Don't drink in the morning. If you must smoke and drink wait until your stomach is through with breakfast. You can drink more and smoke more in the evening and it will harm you less. If your food ferments and does not digest right—if you are troubled with heartburn, dizziness of the head, constipation of the bowels, or any other illness, indigestion, or any other trouble of the stomach, you had best use Green's August Flower, as no person can use it without immediate relief.
