FLAG PRESENTATION.

Company "F" O. N. G. Made the Recipients of a Beautiful Banner.

One of the most unique and pleasant social events that has transpired in this city during the season occurred at the Opera house last evening.

It is not necessary to give utterance to sentiments of esteem and regard in order that our friends may know that such feelings exist in our thoughts.

Line of march: Up Ferry street to Seventh street, up Seventh street to the south gate of the cemetery and assemble for the service at Conrade Hand's grave.

THE NEW BAPTIST CHURCH will be dedicated next Sunday. Rev. F. R. Meadbury, of Portland, will preach the dedicatory sermon.

Flag of the brave! Thy folds shall fly, Thy sign of hope and triumph high; When speaks the signal trumpet tone, And the long line comes slowly on.

And when the cannon's muzzling loud Heave in wild wreaths a battle shroud, And grey banners rise and fall, Like sheets of flame on midnight pall.

W. F. Read and A. D. Barker have been elected delegates to the A. O. U. W. Grand Lodge, which meets in Seattle on July 11.

DEATH IN EASTERN OREGON.

Crops a Failure in Crook County—A Very Gloomy Outlook.

Mr. W. M. Allen, of Prineville, is in the city, having just come over from that place. He says that owing to continued dry weather the grain crop of Crook county will be a total failure.

The flouring mills at Prineville are lying idle, and will remain so during the season. Even bread and seed wheat, Mr. Allen states, will have to be shipped into the country.

The hay crop is also almost a failure, and altogether the business men and farmers over there are very gloomy. Stock is suffering from the want of water, and it is feared unless they get rain soon the stockmen will experience much loss from this source.
