NOTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Adèle Payn Saturday night. Burr Sloan was robbed of $30 at Seattle yesterday. Ralph Jankin of Yaquina left last night for Medford. Delays are dangerous. Ask Winn for a policy in the Travelers. The salary of the Albany post-office has been raised from $1500 to $1600. Brick work was commenced yesterday on Foshay & Mason and Tweedale & Hopkins' new building. Rev. H. V. Rominger has been attending the Willamette association of churches in Portland this week. Milton Davis, Oregon's cadet at West Point, passed through the city yesterday on his way to Eugene to visit friends. Nightwatchmen McClain and Jones extinguished an incipient blaze started by tramps in the rear of Watt Monteith's saloon Wednesday evening. No damage was done. Albany is to have a first-class play Saturday night in the appearance of Miss Adèle Payn and her excellent company in "Wages of Sin." Reserved seats are on sale at Blackman's. The U.S. signal service reports received at this city will hereafter give weather indications from 12 noon until 12 the following day, instead of from 7 p. m. to 7 p. m. the next day as heretofore. Keep out the flies by using screen doors and windows, manufactured and put in your house complete at a reasonable price, by R. B. Yunk, Sign on corner of Second and Ellsworth streets. E. & C. Howard are actually selling millinery cheaper than any one else in the city, especially flowers and white hats, which go at cost till all are sold. They never carry old goods, but keep a clean, fresh stock constantly on hand. The Oregon Pacific Co. sold on July 4th 618 tickets for Corvallis and 69 for Yaquina. About 300 members of militia companies and brass bands were transported free, making the number which left this city that day nearly 1000. A small party of ladies and gentlemen kept a vigil Wednesday night until 11:30 from the top of the court house in hopes of being able to see the Mt. Hood illumination, but were not rewarded by the faintest light in the direction of the gray-headed old mountain peak. J. B. Cornett of Shedd was in the city yesterday. He informed us that he has been investing in blooded short horn cattle, having concluded that it costs no more to raise blooded stock than ordinary cattle. The leading farmers of the country are fast investing in improved stock, and Linn county will soon stand at the head in that department of farming. Mr. W. L. Coon, while coming in with a load of wood from his place near Peoria Monday, drove upon a bridge near Judge McCoy's, which gave way, letting the hind wheels of the wagon down with the load. The only damage done was two broken traces in attempting to pull the load out, and the trouble of having to borrow a harness to finish the trip to town. A Narrow Escape. Mr. Abe Hackleman has returned from Eastern Oregon. In coming across the mountains his horses became frightened at a grouse, causing them to run off the high grade on Seven-Mile hill. Mr. Hackleman was thrown nearly 50 feet down the mountain side, but luckily escaped with no serious injuries. Mrs. Frank Hackleman, who was riding with him, was hurt but not seriously. Mr. Hackleman states that it was no fault of the road, which is in good condition. He says he proposes now to settle right down in Albany and assist in the city's growth. Probably Fatal Accident. On Tuesday a 11 year old son of John Minance, living on the San Juan near Sweet Home, was out shooting with his brother, when a getting over a log his gun was discharged, shooting himself in the head. The ball, a 44 calibre, entered near the ear and came out on the top of the head. At last accounts he was still alive, but not likely to recover. Messrs. Will & Stark have received a fine lot of gold-headed cases, fine silver ware, gold watches and chains, etc., which they are offering at very low prices. Call and see them. Magic yeast Brownell & Stanard's.

THE DAY AT CORVALLIS.

The Sham Battle—Military Parade—Hose Race, Etc.—A Successful Celebration.

By Our War Correspondent. The O. P. special from Albany on the evening of July 3d arrived at the Corvallis depot about 8:30, bearing A and I companies, 2d Reg't O. N. G., as well as quite a number of other visitors from Salem and other points along the line of the O. & C. They were met by E. Co. and a line of march taken up through the principal thoroughfares where an address of welcome was delivered, after which the visiting militia were provided with quarters for the night. At an early hour next morning the streets began to present a holiday appearance and active preparations began being made for the reception of the many visitors.

At 8:45 the train from Albany bearing about 600 people from Albany, Eugene and adjacent points besides F and C Co.'s O. N. G., was met at the depot and the procession formed for the parade, during which the troops were reviewed by Col. T. C. Smith. The line of march was halted at the court house square about half an hour, while the ceremonies incidental to the laying of the corner stone of the new court house took place, after which the soldier boys were marched to their barracks and dismissed for lunch. The 1 o'clock train from Albany swelled the number present to at least 7,000 people. At one o'clock the various companies fell into line and were marched out on the common south of the city, where for two hours they drilled as a battalion. By this time an immense crowd had assembled to witness the various maneuvers and be ready for the event of the day, the sham battle.

At 3 p. m. A. Co. under regimental colors was sent across a ravine which divided the parade ground and with the assistance of a detail of skirmishers from F Co. and a nine pound cannon were to defend the bluff from the combined attack of the remainder of the regiment who were going to march to battle under the beautiful flag of F Co. The attacking party threw out a cloud of skirmishers who advanced across the field were repulsed and driven back by their opponents. Then the attacking forces made a grand charge but again were forced to retire, although in good order. A council of war was held, I company sent across a bridge to flank the army on the bluff and capture their artillery, meanwhile a warm contest was kept up in front to conceal the flank movement.

The appearance of the company in the rear of the bluff was the signal for the commencement of the struggle, and after a short, but sharp fight, and the cannon, the garrison was forced to surrender. The boys in blue did very well and received many compliments, especially from the ladies, on their fine and soldierly appearance. Several militiamen met with slight mishaps during the engagement, but no serious injuries were reported. The crowd then moved up on Main street, and good naturedly pushed and jostled each other for available places to see the hose race. After numerous delays the teams ran; Corvallis winning first prize in 37 seconds, and Salem second in 42 1/2.

Cameron won the foot race by ten feet over Leaper, of Halsey, for a purse of $10. In the evening a ball was given in Pope's hall, where those who attended report having had a good time. About 11 p. m. the first train left for this city, followed about two hours later by another, bearing all away who did not care to stay for the ball. All of the excursionists speak highly of the kind and courteous treatment received from the Corvallis people, and the officials and train men of the Oregon Pacific. NOTES.

In the engagement Capt. M. H. Ellis was conspicuously mounted on a magnificent white charger. Three-fourths of the crowd present came from Linn county. The cruelty of the captain was noticeably exhibited in not allowing Lake Dorris and Merrill Phillips to drive over in a carriage with their girls, but requiring them to go with their company. The grand skirmish of the day occurred on the return of the train to this city at night, and it was for beds and something to eat. In one of the coaches returning to this city the lights had been put out, and it was amusing to see gentlemen who were accompanied by ladies make a grand rush for this particular car. Gen. Siglin was expected to review the troops assembled, but he was not present. There was a lamentable lack of hotel accommodations at Corvallis for so large a crowd. The best drilled company in the field was said to have been "F" company, of Albany, in command of Capt. O. H. Irvine. The Eugene band was the best on the grounds, and by the way it is second to none in the state.

At Ketchum was the only soldier who fell on the field, and his worst injury was in getting his uniform muddy in the gallant charge across the ravine. The drummer boy of "F" company collapsed from the smell of gunpowder and fell prostrate on the field where he remained until the action was over. Robert Murphy and Thomas Rhodes, of "F" company, received a severe bayonet thrust in the hand, which was the only blood drawn in the fight. The gallant ten who went as skirmishers from "F" company won the most distinction on the field as well as the biggest bouquets from the ladies.

Will Contest the Judgeship. The Redoubt Grounds Upon Which Judge Whitney Will Contest It. Judge J. J. Whitney has filed a notice of contest against Judge D. R. N. Blackburn for the office of county judge, the same to be heard at the October term of circuit court. His grounds are as follows: 1st. That twenty-five or more illegal votes were cast and counted for Mr. Blackburn in each of the precincts of Linn county. 2nd. That twenty-five or more votes were offered for the contestant in each of the precincts, and were refused by the judges. 3rd. That twenty-five or more votes were counted for Mr. Blackburn in each of the precincts, which were not actually cast. 4th. That twenty or more minors in each of the precincts voted for Mr. Blackburn. 5th. That ten or more persons who have been convicted of felonies in this state voted for Mr. Blackburn. 6th. That twenty or more voters in each precinct who voted for Mr. Blackburn were non-residents of such precincts. 7th. That twenty or more voters in each of the precincts, who voted for Mr. Blackburn, were non-residents of Oregon. 8th. That ten or more voters in each precinct, who voted for Mr. Blackburn, were non-residents of Linn county. 9th. That ten or more voters, who voted for Mr. Blackburn, were aliens, never having become citizens of the United States. 10th. That ten or more votes were cast for the contestant and were counted for Mr. Blackburn. 11th. That twenty or more votes were cast for the contestant, which the judges refused to count for him. 12th. That twenty or more votes were cast and counted for Mr. Blackburn which were marked for the purpose of designation, and there were other irregularities whereby the will of the voters was thwarted and defrauded. 13th. That twenty or more men voted for Mr. Blackburn who had not been actual residents of Linn county for ninety days immediately preceding such election. 14th. That twenty-five or more men voted for Mr. Blackburn who had not resided in the state for six months immediately preceding such election. That the hearing of this contest will be had at the next regular meeting of the circuit court, convening on October 22, 1888. The above are substantially the grounds upon which Judge Whitney's contest is based. This would make 2525 illegal votes in Linn county. As there were but 3137 cast for county judge, it would be a little extravagant to even imagine that four-fifths of them were illegal.

Preparations for Landreth's Execution—He Eats and Sleeps Well. Landreth, the murderer, will be hung at Dallas to-day. During the past several weeks Sheriff Ira Smith has been making active preparations for the approaching execution. The scaffold has been erected adjoining the jail, and the doomed man will be led directly from the jail to his execution. The same hinges used on the scaffold upon which Drake was hung there in 1855 will be used. The rope that will be used to hang Landreth is historic. It is the same one that was used to execute Murray who killed his brother-in-law in Portland, less than four years ago; Joe Drake in Salem, in 1885; and Dick Marple, in Lafayette, in 1887. In these three instances it has done effective work, and will doubtless do as well for Landreth. Mr. Arlberg, the day guard, says Landreth talks to him freely about the crime. He denies very emphatically that his relations with his stepdaughter were improper.

The prizes are, first $200 and $150 trumpet, second $150, third $100. The election of officers of the firemen's association resulted as follows: President, Wendall Hall, Spokane Falls; first vice-president, Josiah Collins, Seattle; second vice-president, C. B.
