THE SANTIAM MINES AGAIN.

A Criticism Upon Mr. Hornett's Article Regarding the Mineral Veins. Mr. G. A. Dyson, of Brownsville, in a recent article in the Oregonian says: In your paper of the 6th inst., I notice quite a lengthy article by Mr. Hornett on the subject of the above mines, and I am glad that at last Portland is waking up to the fact that there are mines within our own state, as well as in Alaska and Idaho.

While not calling myself an expert, yet a residence on this coast of over twenty-five years and acquaintance with different mining camps in Nevada, California and Southern Idaho ought to give a person some knowledge of ledges, and having read Mr. Hornett's letter carefully, I fully agree with him in reference to mineral veins always running north and south, or nearly so—properly speaking, a little east of south and west of north. We find this to be the case wherever veins are found on the Pacific coast. He then proceeds to show that good mines of galena are found in Kootenay, Coeur d'Alene and other points, and then, following a nearly south course finds the same belt extending into the Willamette valley in Eastern Oregon, and then proceeds to prove that the Santiam mines are on the same belt, because they are "precisely southeast of Wallowa county, on the other side of the plains of the Inland Empire, and directly in position to make an integral portion as the great belt so prominent far away to the north."

The above is his own words. Now, when we come to examine the map, we find that the headwaters of the Santiam are nearly due west, or a little south of west, some 120 miles or more from Wallowa, so if our mineral veins all run in a northerly and southerly, or northwesterly and southeasterly direction I cannot see how we can call Santiam and Wallowa on the same belt. I have been on the Santiam, (some ten years ago), and if my memory serves me right, the ledges run nearly north and south. For two summers past I have been prospecting on the Calipooia and Blue rivers between the Santiam and McKenzie. It is considered by everybody here that we have good prospects, and that the Blue is a continuation of the same lead as the Santiam, although we find more gold and less galena than on the Santiam. The leads on Blue river all run nearly north and south. When on the Blue we can see far south of us the tall mountains of the Bohemia mining district, a camp as old as the Santiam and then further south comes the Umpqua, also containing gold, and so on clear to the Sierra Nevada in California showing one continuous ore belt on the south, and then running north, we find metal-bearing veins again on the head of the Clackamas and cross the Columbia in the neighborhood of Mount St. Helens, and so on till we get into British Columbia. The Sierra Nevada, for the whole length of California are mineral bearing, principally gold, and in the northern part of that state, the Cascade range is a continuation of the same mountain chain, and why should they not contain metal-bearing veins as well? I will venture to say that gold can be found in every stream that rises on the western slope of the Cascades, from the Sandy in Northern Oregon, to the California line on the south, thus proving beyond a doubt that gold veins extend the whole length of our state in the Cascade mountains and in my humble opinion it is only a question of time, and not a very long one either, when we shall have as good quartz mines in this part of Oregon as can be found anywhere, and with such abundance of wood and water, and close proximity to the Willamette valley where all kinds of supplies can be easily procured, that it is very difficult now to estimate the future of Western Oregon.

LARGE WAREHOUSE BURNED.

An Early Morning Fire at McMinnville Crossing—Loss, $4500.

At 2:30 o'clock Thursday morning the large warehouse at McMinnville crossing, on the West Side narrow gauge railroad, was discovered to be in flames. The fire spread with great rapidity, and within a few minutes reduced the warehouse to ashes. The warehouse had a capacity of 80,000 bushels and was owned by Barnekoff, Thomason & Swanson. In the warehouse was an engine, cleaner and feed cutter. The loss is $4500, while the insurance is about $3000. It is the intention of the firm to rebuild the warehouse in time to handle the present season's crop. It is intimated that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

Given Twenty Days in Jail.

One Miller, an old man who has been a county charge for a long time, was arrested yesterday on a charge of vagrancy and given 20 days in the county jail. He had run away from the poor farm, and being very repulsive in appearance was annoying men and frightening women by begging through the country. He was arrested on a charge preferred by Alex. Brandon, and was arraigned before Justice Brink, convicted, and sentenced as stated.

Indians as Ball Players.

A match game of base ball was played at Yaquina on Tuesday between a Newport nine and a nine composed entirely of Indians from the Siletz reservation, resulting in a tie. It is said that the way the Indians batted and managed the ball was a caution to even professionals.

CHANGES IN THE CLERGY.

Official Letter Just Issued by Archbishop Gross of the Catholic Church.

An official letter just issued by Archbishop W. H. Gross announces the following changes in the clergy in the archdiocese of Oregon: Rev. A. Hillerand, of Canyon City, is removed to Oregon City. Rev. I. Rauw, of Oregon City, will resume charge as chaplain of St. Mary's chapel, at the Academy of the Sisters of the Holy Names, Portland.

J. F. Leouillard goes from Umatilla reservation to La Grande and its missions. Rev. B. W. Ahne, of La Grande, is removed to Gervais, Oregon. Father Anselm Wachter, O. S. B., who acted as pastor for Gervais for several years, goes to Mt. Angel college to act as professor of church history and Latin and Greek.

The Rosburg mission has been divided, and that section including Coose bay, Marsfield and Ellensburg, and all the coast sections has been made a separate mission district, and Rev. P. Beutgen placed in charge.

Albina has been erected into a separate parish, of which Rev. G. B. Van Lin, of Corvallis, is to be pastor; Rev. P. Lynch of the Cathedral has been assigned to Corvallis.

The parish of East Portland also includes Sellwood and Powell's valley.

Winter on the summit.

A Statesman reporter a day or two since fell in with a young man—Chas. Hunt—who had just come down from beyond the summit of the Cascades on the line of the proposed Oregon Pacific railroad, where he had been since last October in charge of Contractor G. W. Hunt's supply camp. The camp is located about twelve miles east and four miles north of Fish Lake, in the vicinity of Black Butte and Three-Fingered Jack, with Mt. Washington and the Three Sisters not far away. He found it a dreary, lonely hermitage, and says money could not hire him to again imprison himself away from mankind for such a long time. The snow did not fall in such profusion as on the previous winter, the greatest depth being eleven feet, while in 1886-7 it reached the depth of nearly thirty feet in the same neighborhood. The roads through the mountains this year were passable at the middle of May, much earlier than is common, and were in good order when he came down, July 21. The temperature on the mountain was not as disagreeable as might be expected, being quite mild, with the exception of a few weeks when it snowed. Contractor Hunt has moved out the last of his property by team to Albany, where he is shipping to Wallula. Contractor Bennett has a large amount of stuff on the mountain yet, a few miles from Hunt's camp, which it will take him two months or so to get out. Mr. Hunt, who is a candid, reliable young man, told the reporter that about the beginning of December three men, who were working with one of Bennett's sub-contractors, started down the mountain on the Minto trail with one pack horse, and he is afraid they perished. It had commenced snowing before they started and continued until there were four feet of snow in the mountains. He made a diligent inquiry of persons living along the trail, and can find no one who saw them passing through. They were young men from British Columbia, and he thinks they owned some property near the city of Westminster, but does not remember their names.—Salem Statesman.

COAST NOTES.

Corvallis is to have electric lights. Immense quantities of hay is out in the rain.

The grain crop never looked better in the Willamette Valley.

The Corvallis Water Works Company are contemplating some substantial improvements.

The cement mill at Oregon City has begun actual operations and is now turning out a fine quality of cement.

The Corvallis Times complains that Mongolian pheasants are getting alarmingly thick in that section. It is said that one covey will eat and destroy more grain than a hog.

Astorian: Large loads of stone go daily by the jetty at the mouth of the river which is slowly extending seaward. It will extend seaward faster after the government appropriation becomes an assured fact.

Times-Mountaineer: There is a rumor that The Dalles will soon have two roller mills in successful operation. The machinery has been ordered from the East, and may be expected to be in position in a short time.

Citizens of LaGrande have raised funds for a building to be used as a public reading room. The railroad company has agreed to lease conditionally a suitable lot for a period of ninety-nine years at a rental of one dollar per year.

Eldensburg (Or.) Recorder: There has been an enormous run of salmon in Rogue river during the past week or ten days. The cannery is said to have forced into service every man and child about Eldensburg who would lend a hand to care for a fish.

Benton county farmers have generally posted trespass notices on their premises. This has been made necessary by the action of a few careless hunters who seemed to have no respect for the growing grain. The crops are very heavy and the damage done by hunters and their dogs is almost incalculable.

Astoria Pioneer: The little hump-backed salmon known as the July run are beginning to arrive. They are rather tame looking compared with the royal 50-pound Chinook which comes along earlier in the season, but are said to be fully as profitable even if they are not so profitable as the big fellows.

Severely Injured. It is learned that on Sunday last a Jesse Smith, of Tallman, was driving in a buggy he met with a severe accident. His horse became frightened at a covered wagon, and tried to run; he jumped from the buggy and caught the animal by the bit to prevent it from upsetting it, when the horse ran over him, leaving him prostrate in the road with several ribs broken, until assistance came.

A Warning. The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight itching sensation in the throat, and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Bosche's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

EYE AND EAR DEFORMITIES.

Dr. T. J. Eaton, formerly of the Surgical Infirmary of Indianapolis, will visit Albany Friday to Wednesday noon, July 13th to 15th rooms at the Revere House. Corvallis Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 19th, 20th, and 21st, at Hotel.

Dr. Eaton has for the past twenty-five years made a specialty of the eye, ear and deformities, and has straightened more than one thousand cross eyes. All inflamed and sore eyes can be cured unless disorganization has taken place. Artificial eyes inserted and the most efficient braces for the cure of crooked limbs, club feet, spinal diseases, etc., furnished.

CROSS EYES CURED. The following reference to Dr. Eaton is taken from the Merced Argus of the 21st inst: "On Saturday last we witnessed an operation upon a cross-eye by Dr. Eaton at his rooms in the El Capitan Hotel. The subject was a twelve-year old daughter of Mr. Hunsaker, a resident of this town who has been from her birth afflicted with cross eyes. It was done without pain to the little girl, who during the operation on the eyes, smilingly answered several questions asked her by the Doctor and ourselves. Minnie Hunsaker, the subject in this case, after the operation, appeared a bright pretty little girl and smiled gratefully while thanking the Doctor for treating her so tenderly and subjecting her to so little pain."

The following account of a remarkable surgical operation performed by Dr. Eaton is taken from the El Paso Times of the 10th ultimo: "In company with Captain S. D. Slocum we called to see Miss Jennie Slocum the youngest daughter of the Captain, who has been in El Paso under the treatment of Dr. Eaton. We remember to have seen this young lady months ago at the ranch, with her foot twisted until it was at right angles with the other foot. To-day the left foot is as straight and natural as the right. We congratulate the young lady and rejoice with her father in this successful performance of Dr. Eaton. We were skeptical until we witnessed the result. We are now satisfied of the promises of the doctor. In these instances they were verified."

A remarkable case was brought to our notice yesterday, being that of a 15-year old daughter of Mr. E. P. Gilpin, a substantial farmer, formerly of Columbia, Missouri, now living near Collinsburg, in this county, who had been totally blind from scrofula in the eye for fifteen months. She was treated by Dr. Eaton, who is now in this city, after one personal examination, by mail with the gratifying result of restoring sight completely. The Doctor and his young patients are both receiving congratulations.—Gainesville Hesperian.
