THE OREGON PACIFIC.

Work to be resumed on the Eastward Extension at Once.

It is authoritatively stated that the Oregon Pacific railroad company will at once resume the work of construction on the line eastward from this city. It has been generally believed for some time that the company was about to resume work, and now it is officially announced that construction will begin without further delay.

Mr. Abe Hackleman, one of the directors of the road, was seen by a HERALD reporter, to whom he replied, in answer to an interrogation as to the matter: "Yes, the report is true. The company will resume work on the road eastward, and you can say, without any fear of leaving to correct the statement, that it will be commenced at once, probably within two weeks."

A gentleman who conversed with the general managers of the road also confirms this statement as to the immediate resumption of work. Just how large a force of men will be employed is not definitely announced, but as the work is begun somewhat late in the season it is expected that a large number of men and teams will be employed and the work rushed forward. It is stated that construction will be actively pushed during the summer and autumn until the rainy season, and resumed again early in the spring, to be pushed with renewed vigor, without any further cessation until Boise City is reached.

That the company has funds with which to operate is shown by the fact that the pay train arrived in this city yesterday and the employees were paid for two months. Whether the deal between the Chicago & Northwestern and the Oregon Pacific companies has been consummated, or whether the latter company is building the road with its own funds is not known, nor does it make material difference, as long as the work of construction goes forward.

Mr. Wm. M. Hoag, vice-president and general manager of the road, has returned from San Francisco, and is now at Corvallis, arranging for the commencement of the work. The road is completed to a point beyond Mukers, about sixteen miles east of this city. There is about thirty miles of grading and a few miles of track laid between there and the summit. The heavy grading is principally done, leaving the construction of the road to the summit an easy task. This resumption of work will be hailed with delight by the people of this city, and it will be a factor tending to make livelier times than ever in Albany this fall.

HOW IT IS DONE.

The Astorian tells how they make foundations down by the sounding sea: "Visitors unfamiliar with our odd ways, stop in front of the foundation for the Kinney-Fulton-Dement building, and want to know "what are those men dumping all that rock into the river for?" When told that there is $3000 worth of piling there, and that a stately brick will ere long rise out of the rippling waves, they look incredulous, and ask to be shown the exact site of the fort erected by the Astor party."

It also relates the discovery of a substitute for dynamite: "Wednesday morning Dr. A. E. Shaw, while at work in his laboratory, placed a rubber plate in the vulcanizer, adjusted it and turning down the flame, as usual, went into his operating room. In a few seconds there was a deafening explosion, and hastening back he found that the vulcanizer had burst, ripped a hole through the roof, smashed a window and knocked things around generally. He has cause for congratulation that he wasn't there when the celebration began. A vulcanizer that is loaded and feeling good is as bad as a celluloid billiard ball when it gets going."

Residence Burned at Scio.

Late last night information was received in this city that the fine residence of Dr. J. L. Martin at Scio was burned to the ground the night previous. The origin of the fire is not known. It broke out shortly before midnight, and burned so rapidly that little of the contents were saved. There had not been any fire in the stove during the evening, which makes the cause of the fire unexplainable. The building was the finest residence in Scio, and the loss will probably reach $5000. As near as could be ascertained there was no insurance.

Committee Meeting.

The members of the committee of fifteen, appointed by the Board of Trade to investigate the subject of granting a franchise for a gas company, met last evening at Ex-Mayor Weatherford's office and took the subject under consideration. The proposition was discussed and Mr. Weatherford was instructed to correspond with cities, seeking further information upon the subject, and the committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

Getting Ready for the Fray.

The democratic state central committee met in Portland Wednesday and organized for the autumn campaign. An executive committee was appointed consisting of Benton Killie, A. Noitner, C. B. Bellinger, A. Bush, J. K. Weatherford and J. W. Shelton and will have charge of the campaign.

Republican Headquarters.

Secretary J. F. Gregg, of the republican state central committee, says that the headquarters of the committee in Portland will be re-opened for the presidential campaign about August 15.

THE POSTOFFICE BUILDING BILL.

A Measure in Which Albany is Directly Interested Likely to Pass.

The fate of what is known as the postoffice building bill, which has heretofore been referred to by the HERALD, in connection with the prospects of Albany getting a $15,000 postoffice building is still in doubt, the dispatches tell us. The bill provides for the building of postoffice buildings throughout all the states, and carries a great deal of money with it. The opposition to it is owing to the failure to provide for buildings in large cities, no town of more than 20,000 coming within its provisions. The classes are named: Towns whose postoffice receipts during the last three years amounted to $3000 or more a year are, under the provisions of this bill, entitled to a building to cost not more than $15,000; towns whose receipts have been $15,000 and not more than $20,000 are to have buildings to not cost more than $20,000 and towns where receipts have amounted to more than $20,000 less than $25,000 are to have buildings at a cost of $25,000. Here, however, the bill stops, failing to make any provision for large cities, many of which are still without much needed buildings. It is in large cities where the item of rent really amounts to a sum worth saving.

Congressman Cannon of Illinois, whose state gets a large amount of the money appropriated, says the bill will never pass, because the members from all the cities would oppose it. He has prepared an amendment which he will offer when the bill next comes up for consideration, which will bring the larger towns in. If that is accepted by the friends of the bill, there is a good chance for its passage. Should the bill pass, Albany, being in the list of towns in the first class mentioned will be entitled to a postoffice building to cost not more than $15,000. This city's growth has made this a public need and it is to be sincerely hoped the measure will pass, and a little of the surplus about which the country is complaining be reduced by giving cities like Albany a respectable postoffice building.

From the Santiam.

Mr. E. Duncan, of East Portland, has just returned from the Santiam mines, where he has been for the past two months. He has the finest and most complete cabinet of specimens of the various ores of Galena mountain, in the Santiam mines, that has ever been collected and indicates the character of the deposit. The specimens were collected by Mr. Duncan from the outcroppings and not from the ledge direct. A tunnel is being cut into the mountain which will penetrate them transversely and will show just what they contain. Mr. Duncan, who is an old California miner and is confident that the ledges will be found rich. He remarked: "If I were a younger man I would be willing to stake my all in the Santiam mines. I should have remained in the mines longer, but the air was too light for me. Our cabin was at the bottom of a canyon whose sides rose fully 1500 feet above us, and yet we were many thousand feet above the level of the sea." The specimens show that the Santiam auriferous district is very similar to that at the headwaters of the Clackamas, where A. W. Lambert and K. C. Payne have interests.

Carp in the River.

A German carp weighing four pounds and two ounces was caught in the Willamette at Portland on Wednesday, by a hook baited with an earthworm. The fish was very fat and fine. Many ponds in the Willamette valley, which were stocked by pairs of carp received from the United States fish commissioner's car, have at various times since been washed out during the spring freshets, and their funny inhabitants have found their way into the Willamette, so that now the river is fairly well stocked with the fish from the Fatherland. Carp are a great deal better than suckers and as they in no way interfere with salmon or trout, their presence in the river is not to be mourned.

The Teachers.

It is stated that the 200 teachers who were expected to pass through this city this morning, will not all be on board, the party having been divided into small parties. Each morning's train this week has borne numbers of the teachers through the Willamette valley en route home over the Northern Pacific.

A Warning. The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.
