Dynamiters Still Continue Their Work in Chicago.

BLAINE CREATES ENTHUSIASM.

Fleeing From Yellow Jack—A Fierce Battle—Schofield in Command—Burned to Death.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—

A large dynamite bomb containing enough explosive material to demolish the entire train was found on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad track at Sixteenth and Halstead streets this morning. The police suspect the Burlington strikers or their sympathizers. They have no clue, however.

POSTON, Aug. 14.—

The Blaine party was not astir until late this morning. Several callers were derided admission. Addresses of congratulation from the republican club at Lyons and from the League of workingmen at East Cambridge were presented to him at a late hour. At 11:30 delegations from the Home M. A. K. club were admitted to a conference. At 12 the party left for the railroad station. There was no demonstration en route. When the carriage reached the station there was a large crowd present, and it was with difficulty a passage was cleared by the police. Blaine, on entering the car, was cheered by the crowd. As the train stopped he appeared on the platform in response to calls from the multitude, and thanked the people for their kind reception. The train then moved on its way to Augusta.

THE MURDER OF PRATT.

Edwin G. King Held for Trial at Downsville.

Downsville, Aug. 14.—Edwin G. King, charged with the murder of Perry H. Pratt, solicitor for Rosenthal, Fisher & Co., who was murdered at Nigger Tent, has been held without bonds for trial by the Superior Court. King was hunting in the vicinity with a Winchester rifle, but claims to have remained at a house where he took dinner so late that it would have been impossible for him to have reached the scene of the murder at the time of the crime was committed. On the other hand a traveling sewing machine agent identified King in the courtroom as a man he had seen with a rifle near where the murder was committed at about the time of the crime.

FELL NINE HUNDRED FEET.

The Tragic Fate of an Employee of a Coal Company.

WILKESBARRE, (Pa.) Aug. 14.—At Nantucket to-day John B. Thomas, a company hand 30 years of age, was at work lining the airway at the head of shaft 1 of the Susquehanna Coal Company. In some way, as yet unexplained, he slipped from the platform upon which he was standing and fell headlong down the shaft a distance of over 900 feet, to the bottom. In the fall through the shaft, which is lined with planks and rough boards, the body was completely stripped of all its clothing except here and there a band about the ankle or wrist and one shoe still clinging to a foot. Every bone in his body was broken and the entire body was mutilated beyond all human semblance. A sad circumstance in connection with the tragic death of Thomas was the fact that on Sunday next he was to be married to a most estimable young lady of Nantucket.

THE 'TRUST' BANDIT.

Pacific Rural Press.

We have published a good deal, first and last, with regard to the "trust" abuses; but the subject must be agitated a good deal more before the abuses can be righted. A preacher here in San Francisco is reported to have said in his sermon last Sunday:

We have in our land what are called "trusts"—the Wheat Trust, the Sugar Trust, the Coal Trust, the Oil Trust and a host of others. They are becoming very numerous. They are without soul or conscience, and nothing can stand before them; they absorb everything. They remind me of a great sea monster called the devil fish. There is no greater danger threatening the life of our great nation to-day than this accursed trust system. There is no good reason why coal should cost $18 and $20 per ton when it can be purchased at the mines and at Seattle for $1 and $5 per ton. Coal should never go above $10 per ton in San Francisco markets. Why is it that it costs twice as much to build a frame house in San Francisco as it does in the East? The only answer to this is because of the Lumber Trust. When up in Puget Sound a few days ago a gentleman told me of a lumber mill in that place with a large capacity which was not sawing up a single stick of timber, and gave as the reason that the proprietors were paid $7000 per year by a Lumber Trust of San Francisco not to work their mill, and they had bound themselves to take this amount for seven years for lying die. This is highway robbery on a large scale, and the men who enter into such trusts ought to be treated as we treat highway robbers.

Upon which the Call remarks: These trusts are nothing but schemes to swindle the public. We have been ready to form incorporated companies. We have an incorporation for nearly every thing. A company is organized and then it is given the privilege to swindle the people. No act of incorporation should be permitted to exist where the company engages in combinations to control or advance the price of any commodity. And then it should be made a criminal offense to engage in schemes against the public interest, either by companies or by individuals.

GOULD'S MILLIONS.

A Rumor That He Intends to Divide His Money.

New York Correspondence Chicago Tribune.

A gentleman who is intimately acquainted with Jay Gould and frequently visits the great magnate said recently: "I have no doubt of the truth of the report that he is to divide his property, and I expect to see Mr. Gould himself announce it in a day or two. It is a fact that cannot be questioned that Mr. Gould has made up his mind that his days of usefulness in business are over, and he is going to throw up the sponge and leave the field to other men. Since his ill health Mr. Gould frequently refers to the sudden death of William H. Vanderbilt, and in his conversation betrays a fear that his own life might be cut off quite suddenly. To his friends Mr. Gould has often said that Mr. Vanderbilt's plan of dividing his property before death met with his hearty approbation and he believed every rich man should do the same."

"Is Mr. Gould in imminent fear of death?" asked the reporter.

"O, no," answered the broker, "but he is too much of a business man to take any chances. He has the utmost confidence in his son George and knows that the young man is quite capable of caring for the bulk of the Gould fortune, which he will receive. Hereafter the Gould family will not figure as daring speculators or projectors of new railroads and great schemes. Their efforts will be devoted to holding the immense fortune which is now theirs. I understand that Mr. Gould will make a formal announcement of his intentions in a short time."

Wall-street brokers are figuring up the extent of Mr. Gould's wealth. It was recalled that in July, 1882, when the air was filled with rumors adverse to Mr. Gould's financial standing, he had called into his office three well-known gentlemen of this city and had exhibited bonds, stocks and other securities standing in his own name, the face value of which was $2,500,000. Mr. Gould's fortune has enormously increased since six years ago, and the general opinion places his resources at $100,000,000. As nearly as can be estimated the amount is distributed about as follows:

Missouri Pacific securities	$20,000,000
Western Union Telegraph Co.	30,000,000
Manhattan Elevated Railroad Co.	25,000,000
Union Pacific Railroad Co.	5,000,000
Iowa Mountain Railroad Co.	3,000,000
Texas Pacific Railroad Co.	1,000,000
Government bonds	10,000,000
Miscellaneous and cash	6,000,000
Total	$100,000,000

It was conjectured among those who are best acquainted with Mr. Gould that he will retain $5,000,000 in cash for himself, in case of necessity, while George will get the bulk of the fortune. Just how the money will be distributed was figured out as follows:

Miss Helen Gould	$10,000,000
Miss Jay Gould	5,000,000
George Gould	50,000,000
John Gould	10,000,000
Howell Gould	5,000,000
Is. George Gould	1,000,000
Is. Alice Gould	5,000,000
Jay Gould	5,000,000
Baby Kingdon Gould	5,000,000
Relative and public expenses	7,000,000
Total	$100,000,000

When this division is made Miss Helen Gould, who is a charming girl, will be, in her own right, the wealthiest young unmarried girl in the world. Jay Gould does not repose the confidence in his second son, Eddie, that he honors George with, but Eddie is a smart youth who can be expected to double the amount his father gives him in a few years. Wall street is anxiously waiting for Mr. Gould to make public his intention, when the lucky sharers in his bounty will be warmly congratulated.

How to Eat a Watermelon.

A watermelon though it be sixty pounds, is not intended to be devoured in public, nor is one watermelon, no matter what its weight may be, more than enough for one healthy person. This fact is probably well known to every country schoolboy. The art of eating a watermelon and keeping cool is as simple now as it was in the days of long ago. The rind should be slit with a short-bladed knife, so that when the melon is divided the heart of it shall rest in one of the halves in one of those luscious, juicy lumps. The knife should then be carefully wiped and put in the pocket. Then the coat should be taken off and the seeds rolled up. Plunge the right hand under one end of the heart and the left hand under the other, lift the dripping mass to the mouth, and fall to. The juice will tickle down your arms and saturate your face, but what of it! There is plenty and to spare, though the feast is the rarest to be found on the earth.

Two Billion Cigarettes a Year.

According to statistics compiled from the records of the Internal Revenue Department, more than 2,000,000 cigarettes were sold in the United States during the year 1887. If the remainder of the present year fulfills the promise of the first six months the record of the year 1888 will exceed that of the previous twelvemonth.
