TARIFF VS. TAX.

Free traders who are using the tariff discussion as a supposed Archimedian lever to lift themselves into place and power, artfully appeal to the voters of the country with the cry of taxing necessities, and claim that the tariff adds to the cost of manufactured articles to the amount of its levy on imported manufactured goods. John P. Irish pathetically hawked about the country, before the June election, the old worn out saw about the poor taxed farmers, and the democratic leaders are sending out the same heartrending story in circulars at present. It commences like this: "Under this Tariff the farmer rises in the morning, puts on his common flannel shirt taxed 95 per cent.;

his coat taxed 57 per cent.; shoes 35 per cent., and hat taxed 92 per cent.; takes the water from a buckets taxed 35 per cent.; and washes his face and hands in a tin bowl taxed 35 per cent.; dries them on a cheap cotton towel taxed 45 per cent. "He sits down to his humble meal and eats from a plate taxed 50 per cent., with a knife and fork taxed 35 per cent.; drinks his coffee with sugar taxed 68 per cent.; seasons his food with salt taxed 69 per cent.; pepper taxed 61 per cent.

"He looks around on his wife and children, all taxed in the same way; takes a chew of tobacco taxed 199 per cent.; or lights a cigar taxed 118 per cent. And, sir, even the sunlight from heaven that pours into his humble dwelling must come through window glass taxed 59 per cent., and yet he thinks he lives in the freest government under heaven."

In the same pathetic strain it goes on until it lands to poor afflicted mortal in a taxed grave. The New York Press has been asked by some of its subscribers to explain the matter, and collates these facts: "A common flannel shirt costs in England 3s. 6d., or 84 cents. The cost here would, therefore, be nearly double, or $1.68. The actual price is $1. A common suit of clothes costs in England 30s., or $7.50. The cost here, therefore, would be $12.50. The actual cost is $7.50, same as in England. An all-wool $10 suit such as that exhibited by Major McKinley costs just $2, or $10, in London.

In England common boots cost 6s. ($1.50) and fair ones 10s. ($2.50). Instead of costing one-third more here the price is $1.25 for well-made brogans and $2.50 for fair boots. A 3s. 6d. (84 cents) hat in England can be got here for $1, and it does not cost nearly $2, as asserted. All knit goods are cheaper here than in England, especially jerseys such as women wear. So are the commoner grades of stockings and socks.

American farming implements of all kinds are exported and sold in competition with English. They are better, more ingeniously made, more durable and cheaper than the farming implements of any country in the world. American cutlery is imported by and sold in England. Does not improve that the price is not higher than England cutlery? Pottery and window glass cost one-third what they did when we depended on England to manufacture these articles for us. The difference in the price to-day is not the duty.

Sugar is a Democratic industry, and rice "taxed" 102 per cent. is currently ignored. The Republicans, repeated half the internal tax on tobacco in 1888, and would have repealed the balance last session only Speaker Carlisle refused to recognize Judge Kelley for this purpose. What folly, therefore, to talk about 199 per cent. on chewing tobacco. In Free-Trade England the workman pays 1200 per cent. on his tobacco.

Blankets vary in cost here from $1 to $5 a pair. The retail price in England is practically the same, and the blankets compare favorably; that is, a pair of $5 blankets here would cost about £1, its equivalent, in England. The Government, in a recent purchase of blankets made abroad, discovered that the difference in the price was only 30 cents a pair.

A calico dress can be bought in this country as low as 6 cents per yard, a sum equivalent to the duty. If the price is increased by the amount of the duty, calico dresses cost nothing in England. And yet the people go ragged. The fact is they cost more in England than here. And this is true of all staple cotton goods. A stuff dress can be brought here as low as 10 cents, and the duty is 17 cents. Thus on the theory that the duty is a "tax," in England these dresses are given away and 7 cents a yard bonus for taking them."

These and numerous other items of like character, which we have not room to quote some of them showing even larger margins in favor of prices of articles here, are the true statement of prices under the tariff as it exists at present, and totally destroy the agonizing picture of taxation that Irish and his compeers have and are raving so much about. They also show the total untruthfulness of the vaunted figures to establish the wonderful results predicted for the Mills bill.
