GENERAL NEWS.

President Cleveland Goes on a Fishing Excursion.

THE EMPEROR OF MOROCCO.

He Proposes to Inaugurate a General Maritime Convention.

THE HERALD SPECIAL DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Cleveland has gone on a three days' fishing trip in the vicinity of Clifton Forge in the Blue Ridge mountains. He has been confined closely to official duties for many months, and does not expect to be able to get any recreation except as he clears off his desk in advance of congress and takes a day or two at a time, as congress lingers and promises to stay until after election.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS.

A State Convention—Kingsley Speech by Chairman Tracy.

SARATOGA, Aug. 28.—The republican state convention met this afternoon. Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy was elected temporary chairman and addressed the convention at considerable length. General Tracy said, "Not even the period in 1864, when the democrats in their national convention solemnly declared in its platform that war for the union was foolish and demanded that it should be brought to a speedy end, has a more important political issue been presented to the American people than that presented by President Cleveland's free trade message and the Mills bill. The issue of 1864 involved the existence of the nation. The issue of 1888 involves the continued existence of our manufacturing industries and our commercial prosperity."

WAR TO THE KNIFE.

The Emperor of Morocco Proposes to Inaugurate a General Maritime Convention.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—A dispatch from Tangier says: The emperor of Morocco has declared to wreak quick and fierce vengeance on the rebels who massacred Prince Mouley and his 200 followers recently. The troops sent against the insurgents have been given free license to butcher, ravage and burn. Neither children nor aged are spared. Women are being outraged and enslaved. The emperor has penetrated the disaffected districts, and it is reported that he is surrounding the besieged insurgents. The European powers are being urged to send ships to Morocco to protect the Christians and Jews in coast towns.

A POLITICAL FIRST READER.

How Cleveland's Letters Are Always Written.

KANSAS CITY JOURNAL.

"See the big man. He is Grover Cleveland. Why does he look so tired?"

"He has had to wait so long."

"What does he wait for?"

"He is waiting for Daniel to write his letter of acceptance for him."

"Will Daniel write it?"

"Yes; when he can think what to put in it."

"Is it hard to write?"

"Well, under the circumstances it is very hard."

"Can not the big man write?"

"He can write some things, my child, but not this letter. He can write votes."

"What will the big man do while Daniel writes?"

"He will go out and fish, so he will not be in Daniel's way."

"Learn from this, my child, not to get in the way, or you will be put to one side like this big man. He is in the way. He will be put out of the way in less than a year. Folks do not want him in their way. He will play with things that hurt him."

DOCTORS IN OLIVE GREEN.

Proposition That Medical Men Wear a Mark of Distinction.

New York Times.

An olive-colored button adorned the lapel of Dr. James E. Briggs' coat as he started out yesterday from his office, 111 West Thirty-third street, to visit patients. He had worn the button for three months, to the discontent of many of his patients, who could not imagine whether he was a Knight of Labor or belonged to some secret political organization.

The olive button signified that he was a physician. He is a believer in doctors wearing some distinctive style of dress or insignia. Some time ago the Philadelphia Medical World started a discussion upon the advisability of a doctors' uniform. A physician at Lynn, Mass., has received 10,000 letters from doctors in favor of the idea. It has not been much agitated in this city, though the question will probably come up in some of the medical societies this fall.

Dr. Briggs said last night that often there were accidents on boats and trains, and even in the street, when a few moments' time meant a great deal to the patient. A doctor might be near, and the olive button or hatband would designate him and he could be called to the injured man at once. In a country town, the doctor said, a physician twenty miles away was sent for when there was another boarding for a part of the summer not a quarter of a mile away, though no one knew he was a physician. On excursion and passenger boats the doctor was often heard, "Is there a doctor on board?" A mark of designation would be noticed and the physician or surgeon found quickly. Clergymen were distinguished by their dress, why should not the physicians be?

The doctors who have discussed the matter in the Medical World favor olive as the color to fittingly represent medical lore. A hatband or button or clothing of that color could be easily worn and readily distinguished. Dr. Briggs does not know of another physician in the city who wears the olive button, but believes soon they will be almost as abundant as campaign buttons.

SCIENTIFIC SCRAPS.

Whiting, dry or wet, will give to glass a fine polish.

Two houses are being erected in Parkersburg, Pa., which will have paper walls, paper partitions and paper roofs.

Analysis of natural gas shows the proportion of each constituent in 100 parts of the gas to be as follows: Carbonic acid and carbonic oxide, 6 each; oxygen, 8; olefiant gas, 1; ethylic hydride, 5; marsh gas, 67; hydrogen, 22; nitrogen, 3.

Mr. Edison intends to utilize the pond of water which now separates his laboratory from his new phonograph factory. He will build a small ferryboat to be run by electricity, and it will be run back and forth from the laboratory to the factory every half hour.

To make a cherry-stain, mix together by stirring 1 quart of spirits of turpentine, 1 pint of japan, 1 pound of Venetian red ground in oil and 2 ounces of dry burnt umber. Apply with a brush, and wipe off with a cloth. Finish with one coat of shellac and two coats of varnish.

Dr. Thorne has called attention to the gradual decline of smallpox in England during the past fifty years. In the years from 1838 to 1842 the deaths from this disease amounted to 57.2 per 100,000 living, while in 1880-84 the death rate had sunk to 6.5 per 100,000. It is believed that vaccination had not only had a direct influence in causing this marvelous reduction in the number of victims to smallpox, but had also had a tendency to make the children of vaccinated parents less liable to the disease.

AT WASHINGTON:

The 'Awful Surplus' Shrunken to a Mere Nothing.

WHERE THIS SPECTRE HAS GONE.

Gossip About James G. Blaine—How Postal Law—Campaigns Oratory The Mills Bill.

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—A bomb shell exploded among the democrats could not have created more consternation than the discovery, just made, that there would be no Treasury surplus for the present fiscal year. The democrats to whom the "awful surplus" has been a continual nightmare, are the hardest hit; they are completely bewildered, and know not which way to turn for a new grievance. The reason why there is, or rather there will be no surplus this year, is very simple. Congress has, or will have before it adjourns appropriated for the present fiscal year an amount about equal to the estimated income of the Government for the same period. This state of affairs will tend to simplify the work of the Senate committee now engaged in perfecting a substitute for the Mills bill.

Representative Lyman, of Iowa, is determined to get a vote on the Independent Pension bill in the House, or to block all business that requires a quorum. He says he proposes to put the democratic members on record on this pension business.

A proposition has been made here for speaker Carlisle to challenge Mr. Blaine for twelve joint discussions of the tariff in as many cities. Republicans are in hopes that the arrangement can be made to have the discussion. They would make thousands of votes for Harrison and Morton and protection.

Representative McKinley left last night for Atlanta Georgia, where he goes by invitation to deliver an address before the Chattanooga assembly on the tariff. It is believed that a majority of the voters of Georgia are believers in a protective tariff, nevertheless, owing to their inability to sink their prejudice, they will vote for Cleveland the free trader.

The Senate has passed a bill amending the act of June 18, relating to postal crimes. The bill declares unailable all envelopes, postal cards, or newspapers upon which shall be written or printed any denunciations, epithets or language of an indecent, lewd, obscene, libelous, scurrilous, defamatory or threatening character, or calculated by the terms or manner or style of display and obviously intended to reflect injuriously upon the character or conduct of another. The penalty for each such offense, upon conviction thereof, is a fine of $5,000 or imprisonment at hard labor for not more than five years, or both at the discretion of the court. The working of the act is very comprehensive, and covers every possible case and condition.

There is one country in the world of which this administration is not afraid. It is little Hayti. The man-of-war Galena has been ordered there with instructions to protect American interests. As this is the first and only move that the present administration has taken for the protection of American interests, at home or abroad, it is a pleasure to chronicle it.

The democrats in Congress are much disturbed over the excellent prospect that exists of the acceptance by the House of the Senate substitute for the Mills bill. At least twenty democratic representatives, who voted for the Mills measure under compulsion, are understood to be in favor of accepting the Senate substitute, if it shall be a good measure, which it is certain to be; and if the substitute is accepted by the House, it will become a law, for Cleveland dare not veto it.

Senator Allison thinks that Congress will not adjourn before the middle of October, if so early.

It is generally believed here that the democratic representatives are deliberately absenting themselves from the House, leaving that body without a quorum about four fifths of the time, in order to prevent any action on the Independent Pension bill, and some other measures they are afraid of.

General Mahone says that now the National committee has succeeded in the dispute between the party factions in Virginia, he has not a single doubt of Harrison and Morton carrying the state by a least twenty thousand majority.
