

HARRY BURTON.

always treated him in a free, and easy manner, much as she would had he been her brother or uncle, in fact she was entirely unconscious that he regarded her otherwise than as an amusing companion and the daughter of his old friend.

Is it not lovely this morning Mr. Warren?" said Pearl looking out of the window at the surrounding landscape, which was indeed worth looking at. The smooth shining river in front. The distant shadowy mountains, the play of light, and shadow, when a cloud passed beneath the sun, and which is so difficult to imitate on canvas, and which accounts for in a measure the fact that all pictures are more or less a failure when compared to nature herself.

He put aside the balls and cues which he had been aimlessly knocking about and came and stood by her side.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

Overpowering Dignity Which Prevails in That Distinguished Body.

New York Graphic.

The opening of the Supreme Court is one of the stage accessories to official life at Washington. Any one who has ever been present will never forget the scene. The room is a stuffy one at best, and is rather an owl-like looking place. One placid-faced negro sits at the door with a string in his hand to help him open it without trouble. Another, but a white-haired, son of Africa sits inside to aid him. Neither one of them would demean himself by pulling the string for any one less than a Senator or a member of the house. Ordinary citizens must push their way inside unaided. No one must carry a newspaper openly within the sacred precincts, for the rule is absolute that no reading of journals is allowed in the court. Nor must any notes of the proceedings be taken—the official reporter is to do all that.

Once inside, suppose the clock over the door is striking noon. If it is striking at all that is the hour one hears, for it never sounds save to call the court together. Behind the long curtains that hang in the rear of the bench the Judges are formed, dressed in their silken robes. The grave-faced old crier stands at one end of the court and then looks sternly around to note if all are in proper style to receive their honors. Then, with an elevated chin and a loud voice, he announces, "The Honorable the Chief Justice and the Associated Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States." The audience rises, the curtain parts, the Judges step forward, and, bowing low, stand up an instant, facing those present, who return the salutation, "Oyez, oyez," says the modulated voice of the crier, "all persons having any business with the Honorable the Supreme Court of the United States are admonished to draw near, for the court is now in session." And, with a quick, sharp glance around to see that no unregenerate citizen has yet dared to be seated, the official adds impressively, "God save the United States and this honorable court." The business has begun.

Just For Variety.

Little Kate Helmer and Col. Caldwell faced each other at the dinner table. Kate is about four years old and very sympathetic. The colonel is considerably older and less sympathetic.

"I see Gen. Greedy says it is going to be hotter to-morrow," says Kate's papa.

"I do wish it may be hotter," said Kate with an intensity of expression which showed that it really was the wish of her sympathetic heart.

"Why do you perverse little thing," exclaimed the colonel, dropping knife and fork and staring at the child. "What was that you said? You wish it may be hotter, what do you mean by that? Isn't this hot enough for you?"

"Yes," was the only answer that Kate could utter. The colonel had frightened her almost into speechlessness.

"And why do you say you wish it may be hotter to-morrow? pursued the colonel.

"So that Mr. Greedy may be right for once," said Kate.

The best on the table was then at Kate's disposal.

Absent Minded.

Managing editor: "How do you find the political feeling in the countries you traveled through?"

New correspondent: "Everybody enthusiastic for Harrison and Morton and protection. They'll carry the state by 60,000."

"What's that? You don't mean it?"

"Of course I do mean it. I said 60,000, and I'll bet on it."

"But not while you are engaged on an administration organ."

"Oo thunder! I thought I was with my old paper. Why, there is the biggest stampee to Cleveland you ever saw, especially among farmers. It'll make the republicans rustle to carry this state, and don't you forget it!"—Nebraska Journal.

Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luthie Lutz. Thus write W. H. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Give a free trial bottle at Foshay & Mason's."

Their Business Booming.

Probably one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at Foshay & Mason's drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Group, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free, large size $1. Every bottle warranted.

"Some years ago Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me of asthma, after the best medical skill had failed to give me relief. A few weeks since, being again troubled with the disease, I was promptly relieved by the same remedy."—F. S. Hassler, Editor Ames, Tipton Rock, Neb.

The child recovered. My little daughter, aged seven years, was afflicted with a severe cough and cold. She could not sleep but coughed almost incessantly. I was induced by a friend to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was astonished at the immediate relief it gave her and the cure produced. I would not be without it in my house for any price. I have tried many remedies for coughs and colds, but this is superior to anything I have ever tried. Prof. J. M. Melian, Capital City Commercial College, Des Moines, Iowa. Sold by Foshay & Mason.
