GENERAL NEWS.

Judge Thurman Argues the Bell Telephone Case.

HIS BANDANA AND SNUFF BOX.

German Men of War After Matives Were Are on the War Path—Fierce Battle Between Ships.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In the supreme court today Judge Thurman opened the argument on behalf of the United States against the Bell telephone company. Thurman placed his case on a table and drawing from his pocket the familiar old bandana and snuff box placed them on the table in front of him and began his argument. His voice was low and husky at first, but it soon gathered strength and remained clear and strong to the close of his forty minute speech. His manner of speaking was plain, simple and direct and was free from any words used by other than Anglo-Saxon as readily understood by every one present as to the learned justices themselves. Standing erect, facing the court, his right hand holding his eyeglasses, his left hand in the pocket of his trousers, he slowly and distinctly, with all absence of oratorical flourish, closed his argument at 10 minutes past 1 o'clock and left the court room. Ten minutes later Jeff Chandler then began his speech.

THE END NOT YET.

The Chicago Street Car Strike Growing in Magnitude.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Two great street car systems of the west and north sides are now tied up. The strike of the west side began this morning apparently, as last night's cars were run into the barns. Nearly three-fourths of the population of the city are left without other means of transportation than footing it or riding on extemporized carriages and express wagons. No attempt will be made to run cars on the west division today. Everything is quiet in all directions. No trouble has been attempted.

FOUR MEN-OF-WAR

Will Go to Protect German Residents from Hostile Natives.

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—Four German frigates lying in the bay of Naples for the purpose of forcing the power of Emperor William upon his arrival there, have received orders to proceed instantly to Seansabar, to protect the German residents, whose lives and property are endangered by the uprising among the natives. They carry 1620 men and sixty-six guns. It has been decided to greatly increase the strength of the expedition.

A DEPERATE BATTLE.

Two Slave Vessels Captured—Several Particulars Killed.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The British man-of-war Asprieh was captured, off Mocha, two slave vessels, having on board 200 slaves. The captain and four slaves were killed before the slaves surrendered.

Would Not Arrest Him—of.

The Oregonian says that an Indian named Wachener, who has been acting as chief of police at the Grand Ronde reservation, was brought in yesterday by Deputy Marshal Roberts and examined before United States Commissioner Paul R. Deady, on a charge of selling liquor to Indians. Wachener has been drawing the immense salary of $8 per month, yet his expenses were too great to be met by this sum, and he went into the firewater business on a large scale among the members of his tribe. He naturally supposed that he would be exempt from punishment, as he was the only officer to make an arrest, and he certainly would not be foolish enough to take himself into custody. He was held in answer, and in default of bail committed to the county jail to await trial.

AGAINST THE MORMON CHURCH.

A Decree That Strips It of Its Powerful Financial Influence.

SALT LAKE, Utah, Oct. 8.—The supreme court of Utah today entered a final judgement and decree in the case of the United States against the Mormon church, which was pending to dissolve the church corporation and to have its property declared escheated to the government. The suit was brought in the supreme court of the territory under an act of congress of February 10, 1887. In that suit a receiver was appointed for the church corporation. He has succeeded in collecting over a million dollars worth of property, real and personal. The decree entered today is a complete triumph for the government. It declares the corporation of the church dissolved; that the voluntary religious sect now in existence has no right to the corporate property except the block and buildings, which are set aside to it. It denies the intervention of a large number of individuals claiming the property, and orders the real estate of the corporation to be held by the receiver until the information for the forfeiture of the same brought by the government can be brought to a conclusion; and it declares all of the personal property of the late corporation to have come escheated to the government. This point was the one most bitterly fought, as the property of the church was claimed on behalf of incorporated Mormon people a successor in interest to the late corporation, and by individuals who were members of the corporation. Under the evidence, the court decided that neither the present church nor individual had any legal claims; that all the property had been held upon trusts the objects of which was principally to uphold polygamy, and at these trusts were the only ones existing to which said property could be devoted. It further more decrees that the present church still upholds, teaches and maintains polygamy, and any dedication of property to it would be for the purpose of upholding polygamy and would be unlawful.

OREGON CORN.

The last thing the Willamette valley was expecting to be able to blow in is corn, but T. J. Davis, of Howell Prairie, made passers by look rather amazed yesterday when he brought in some corn-stalks measuring 12 feet 11 1/2 inches high, with ears as high as eight feet from the ground. As it stood outside of the office door, voices could be heard all day: "Hello! That reminds me of Iowa; another fellow: 'Well, that looks like Kansas;' still another: 'When did you get those in from Illinois?'" and so on, all being surprised to hear they were grown within a few miles of Salem. They are of the "King" variety, a very heavy stalk, and ought to make excellent fodder, even if the ears cannot be fully developed. The theory has been advanced that corn can be "climated" here, as the term is, so as to mature quite well, but what success has attended efforts in that direction the writer is not competent to state. Certain it is, if the "King" could be brought to perfection it would be an immense crop.—Salem Statesman.

John Bright Makes P's Boys Work.

Chicago Herald.

Of John Bright's sons, John Albert was always the "good" boy; Leatham, now an M. P., was the mischievous one. Not long ago Phillip was employed in the fitting shed in the Bright mills, having an aptitude for making and mending machinery. When he had gone through the grades in that shop he put in a year or two at Pettie's iron foundry in that town. He carried his breakfast "can," and shared the company and work of all the other men, every one of whom he seemed to think as good as himself. His brother Leatham was put through the drills at the mills, and so was John Albert. John Bright himself learned how to work before he began to speak for and represent workingmen.

The World We Live In.

What kind of an idiotic world is this, anyhow? Claims are not clamorous. Oysters are not boisterous. Jean d'Arc was a blonde. Pompey wasn't pompous. Cassius had no money to speak of. Bank tellers never tell anything. The sign "Cashier" in a bank often indicates the place where cash isn't. Ham was the freshest man in the ark. The earth never goes off, although it is a revolver and has been loaded for centuries. Paradox never gambled. Eve was not dusk. Altogether things are out of joint, or as Hamlet said: "The world's all wrong! 'Tis tough to think that I must get her out of joint."

At the Head of the Class.

Teacher—"Please state the easiest way to be prosperous and happy."

Pupil—"Buy groceries and confectionery at F. L. Kenton's, always pay cash for same, and thus secure the lowest prices."

Teacher—"Correct. Take your place at the head of the class."

ABRUPT SPECULATION.

A Possibility That the U. S. May Import Wheat From Europe.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Philadelphia Record says: "The idea of importing wheat to America," said a prominent commission merchant, "seems funny, does it not? Well, the possibility that such a thing may happen has been seriously entertained, notwithstanding the fact of 30 cents per bushel. The price has advanced to such a point that it has been stated it may pay to buy wheat in Antwerp and bring it to the United States. The possibility of wheat selling in this country at $1.50 is not ridiculous by any means. Russia is supplying Liverpool with wheat now, and exportation from this country has ceased. If the Russian supply should be sufficient to keep Liverpool wheat at $1.17, and the price in this country should go to $1.50, it would pay to import it to this country and pay the tariff, freight and insurance."

BAKERS FORM A TRUST.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Bread now comes high in the capital of the nation. Owing to the wheat corner in Chicago, the bakers here formed a trust and beginning with today bread was advanced 20 per cent, with promises of further advances should wheat go up further. The citizens are indignant and many will buy flour and bake their own bread.

SHORT ON WHEAT.

Failure in St. Louis of One of the Best Known Operators.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—Joe Ewald, one of the best known operators in wheat on exchange, is reported to be seriously embarrassed. He was short on wheat, but claims that he will come out all right when able to realize.

SWEEP BY THE SEA.

A Passenger Drowned Last Wednesday on Gray's Harbor Bar.

The Gen. Miles arrived in yesterday morning with freight and passengers from Gray's harbor. She had a rough trip part of the way, the sea being unusually stormy to the northward. While crossing out from the harbor last Wednesday morning one of the passengers, a young man named Ike Newman, was swept off by a wave and drowned. The steamer was in the worst of waves at the time. Newman was aboard of the engine. The fireman told him he had better go up on deck; that it was dangerous where he was. Newman replied that he could take care of himself; he was all right. Shortly after an unusual wave struck the vessel, scattering spray over the deck and smoke-stack and carrying the unfortunate Newman off over the side. He was seen struggling in the settling foam, but to attempt to stop or turn around would but result in disaster to the vessel and all aboard. Under the circumstances as related by passengers no blame can attach to the captain or crew, and the Astorian's informants compliment Capt. Whitcomb on his efficiency and presence of mind in handling his vessel.

Newman was recently from Michigan. He had secured a patent to some timber land there and was about to take a trip east and bring out some of his folks.—Astorian.

Sheridan's Anecdote of Bismarck.

Our route led through the village of Gorze, and here we found the streets so obstructed with wagons that I feared it would take us the rest of the day to get through, for the teamsters would not pay the slightest heed to the cries of our postillions. The Count was equal to the emergency, however, for, taking a pistol from behind his cushion and bidding me to keep my seat, he jumped out and quickly began to clear the street effectively, ordering the wagons to the right and left, marching in front of the carriage and making way for us till we were well through the blockade he then resumed his seat, remarking: "This is not a very dignified business for the Chancellor of the German Confederation, but it's the only way to get through."

An Eccentric Idea.

A Chicago gentleman of wealth and eccentricity has four fine children, the eldest ten years old, and he has named them One, Two, Three and Four. His explanation of this curious nomenclature is that he had so often seen the great dissatisfaction of children with names bestowed upon them that he resolved to simply number his offspring until they were twelve years old, and then let them select their own names. The children are pleased with the idea, and are great students of names.
