The Calapooia Mines. A Brownsville correspondent of the Oregonian writes concerning the Lucky Boy mine: Messrs. Dyson, Standish & Moore intend to start for their claim the middle of this week, and are going to cut a trail up Quartz creek to their mine, and put in supplies so as to work their main tunnel this winter. The low tunnel is in now 129 feet and is about ninety feet deep below the croppings of the ledge, and as the casing has been struck they look for the lead soon, but the rock is so hard that only six inches per day of twenty-four hours, with six men can be made, and the progress is very slow. Several seams of quartz have been found showing free gold in abundance and lots of water is coming in at the face of the tunnel, and all these things are very favorable to expect a rich ledge not far away.

Sowing Fall Grain. The rains that have fallen in the Willamette valley of late have rendered seeding operations not only possible but really in the finest condition possible, and the sowing of fall grain upon the fallowed land has been pushed forward with commendable energy and rapidity. If the weather continues fine this week will probably see nearly the entire acreage in, and the prospects of a crop next year as fine as ever dawned upon the valley. With prices and crops good prosperity and peace reign.

WIDOW O'BRIEN.

It Will Be Here Saturday—Synopsis of Scenery and Incidents.

Act I.—Scene, the home of Widow O'Brien, Madison Square, New York City. Mrs. O'Brien, a widow and mother of two daughters, Dora McAllister, a daughter by her first husband, Peter McAllister, and Nora O'Brien, a daughter by her second husband, Dennis O'Brien, who is killed by an accident. Mrs. O'Brien sues the railroad company and receives $75,000 damages. The Count Menaggio appears upon the scene, as the music teacher of the two sisters. He learns that the widow is worth $75,000, and lays siege to her heart. The widow, being susceptible to flattery, soon falls in love with him. Just at this moment Captain Cranberry of the Steamer Bristol, plying between New York and Fall River, puts in an appearance, accompanied by his son Thomas, who is very much in love with Nora, but is too bashful to propose for her hand. The old captain is determined that Thomas shall marry Dora, who is in love with Richard Sparks. Dora and Richard elope, and board the steamer Bristol for Newport. The widow, Nora and the count follow them on board, and while searching for them the boat starts, and they are compelled to take the journey, much against their will.

Act II.—Scene on board the steamer Bristol. During this act a concert is given by the passengers for the benefit of the Irish Land League.

Grand musical olio, introducing the entire company, in the latest songs, dances and topical hits. Also Mr. Rochester's funny burlesque, entitled: "Ill Treated II Traveller."

Act III.—Salon of the steamer "Bristol." Night on the sound. The poor, sea-sick widow. The count finds a child in one of the state-rooms, and makes the widow believe that the child belongs to Nora. He is about to throw it overboard, but is prevented by Jerry Thompson, the steward, who discovers that it is his own child. The count is accused of his perfidy and proves to be a certain John Waffles, and no count at all. The captain gives his consent to the marriage of his son to Nora, the widow gives her consent to the union of Richard Sparks and Dora, and all are consequently happy.

Directions for Making Good Coffee. Use no old grounds. Have your coffee ground fine and thus secure the full strength of the same. For each person use one tablespoonful of coffee and put in one tablespoonful extra. First place this in the coffee pot, then pour on boiling water and allow it to stand five minutes before serving. In serving same it is well to use a small strainer. The best coffee to use is Chase & Sanborn's Standard Mocha and Java or Scilling & Co's fancy Java, both for sale at F. L. Kenton's. He keeps a good assortment of roast coffee, also a good assortment of fine tea, to which he invites the attention of the public.

What It Requires. To run a session of the legislature of Oregon it requires 144 knights, 120 waste paper baskets, 252 ink and pencil erasers, 4320 steel pens, 48 inkstands, 180 ivory rollers, 132 mugilage cups, 2304 lead pencils and 24 gallons of ink, to say nothing of the 100 or more lady clerks and 90 legislators.

New Schooner. The Corvallis Times says that the steam schooner being built at Yaquina City for Paul Schwader is almost completed and we learn will be launched next Friday. She is a trim little vessel with a carrying capacity of about 140 tons and will do good service over at the bay. Her twin sister being built for W. T. Radir, is not so far advanced but the force now at work on Schwader's boat will soon complete the other schooner.

Chinese Pheasants Wanted. Messrs. Wills Bros. of this city, have received an order for a number of Chinese pheasants for breeding purposes from the citizens of Marshfield Oregon, and they will pay 75 cents each for all the Chinese pheasants delivered to them alive, and in good condition until their order is filled. There is no law against capturing or keeping these birds for breeding purposes, and the boys can trap them and bring them in without fear of arrest.

Flag Raising. A Harrison flag raising is to occur at Tangent to-day. P. W. Ryan, an enthusiastic republican, has raised a huge pole, and will ornament it with a handsome protection emblem, the stars and stripes, which he obtained from Portland. A number of republicans will assist in the flag raising.

New Canal to Be Cut. The water canal on Broadalbin street is to be disused, and the Blodgett flouring mills will instead be supplied by a new canal which will be cut from the branch at the foot of Lyon Street down Water street on the river front. This will give a greater volume of water for the mills on the lower end of the canal.

Window Shades. I have received a new line in sables and fancy colors and will in the future carry a much larger assortment than formerly and sell them cheaper.

THE MASON.

The Visit of Grand Master Mayers and the Supper Last Night.

Mr. Jacob Mayer, grand master of the Masonic order of Oregon, paid the lodges of this city an official visit last night. His visit was made the occasion of a supper given at the St. Charles hotel, which was participated in by the masons and their families and a few invited friends.

After the regular business meeting of St. John and Corinthian lodges, at which Grand Master Mayer was present and officially addressed the members, they adjourned and joined their families and invited guests at the hotel, where an elegant supper was served to about 100 people. The tables were beautifully spread and the affair was a brilliant social success, as well as a most pleasant gathering of Masonic brethren.

Ex-Governor Chadwick and Chas. Hughes, of Josephine county, were present and participated in the proceedings. The address of Grand Master Mayer to the lodges was read after supper and was followed by short speeches by several prominent citizens of this city.

ILLEGAL WHISKY VENDING.

Geo. Mahley Arrested for Selling Liqueur Without License.

Deputy Sheriff Vanny Smith brought to this city yesterday Geo. Mahley, whom he had arrested for selling whisky without proper license at Rock Creek on the line of the Oregon Pacific railroad.

Mahley was running a saloon for Ad. Harmon, and by evading the license law, it is said, was doing a thriving business among the railroad men. His trial will occur before Justice Humphrey to-day.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.
