GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

To the Honorable Circuit Court: We, the grand jury for the county of Linn and state of Oregon for the regular term of the circuit court of the state of Oregon, for Linn county, respectfully submit the following report of our examination of the public prisons and offices pertaining to the courts of justice in said county, to wit: First, we visited the county clerk's, county recorder's, sheriff's and treasurer's offices, in said county and find the same well kept and the books and records properly kept and in good condition. We have also visited the county jail and find the same well kept and the prisoners properly cared for. We would respectfully recommend that the floor in the hall near the stove in said jail be repaired. We further recommend that a new set of township maps in book form for the clerk's office be purchased, as the old maps are out of date, badly worn and unfit for use. We further recommend that a new carpet be purchased for the clerk's office and vault, and that a new table, suitable for the use of the treasurer's office of said county, be purchased and placed in the treasurer's office.

Respectfully submitted this 25th day of October, 1888. J. H. CAMPBELL, FRANCES BELLSGER, E. C. HANNA, E. N. McCAW, F. M. SMITH, JOHN DOXACA, HENRY BLAKELY.

LEBANON N. T. S.

LEBANON, Oct. 23. The new Methodist church is nearing completion. It will be dedicated, if nothing happens, some time next month.

Both rooms of the public school are full, and from present appearances it will not be long till a larger building will be necessary.

Quite a number of Eastern people have settled in and around Lebanon during the last six months. There is almost constant inquiry for houses and farms to rent.

The funeral sermon of the late G. B. McKinny was preached last Sabbath by Rev. Walton Skipworth. The attendance of the relatives and friends was large and the discourse very instructive.

The Exchange hotel has been leased by the owners of the St. Charles, and from now on Lebanon will have one hotel composed of two. If the good things of both also combine, it will be good news to the jolly drummer and the hungry traveler.

Some 50,000 bushels of grain has been stored in the Lebanon warehouse this season, the largest amount ever received except the year. About half the wheat has been shipped. The oats so far has found no buyers, and but little has been shipped.

Sixty thousand pounds of hops are now stored here, waiting to be received and inspected. They were contracted some time ago at 12 1/2 cents per pound. The crop was produced within a radius of five miles. The santiam bottom offers a fine opportunity to all desiring to go into the hop business.

National Surgeon (Institute).

Two or more surgeons representing this institute will be at the Revue House, Albany Nov. 6th, or at the St. Charles hotel Lebanon Nov. 7th, 1888. They come fully prepared with all the apparatus necessary for the successful treatment of their specialties, curvature of the spine, disease of the hip and knee joint, crooked limbs, club feet and all bodily deformities. Their success in treating these troubles as well as all chronic and sexual diseases has made for the institute a national reputation. Upon application, references will be furnished from patients in all parts of the United States. All persons who are suffering from any of these complaints, should not fail to take advantage of this opportunity for relief.

ON THE OREGON PACIFIC.

ROCK CREEK, Linn Co., Oct. 23. After examining his supplies and finding they might be a little short before spring, your Walton correspondent thought it would be necessary for him to look for a job, and hearing, or rather reading in the Herald, that the O. P. R. Co. was paying $2.25 per day for laborers and hands scarce, he concluded that it would be his last layout, hence on the morning of Oct. 20 he bade farewell to his wife and little ones, and with his oldest son started for the front. As we got around by Neighbor Lyons' we found two of his boys ready to accompany us, so we four proceeded on our journey as high-toned tramps, arriving in Eugene just at dark, we crossed the bridge and pitched camp. After examining our blisters we concluded the tramp system was N. G., so we boarded the 4:45 through train the next morning for Albany, where we arrived at 7 a. m., Oct. 21. The first man we met was the senior editor of the Herald, who recommended that we should hunt up Mr. Barr, who would tell us all about railroad work. Acting upon his advice we proceeded to hunt and find Mr. Barr, whom we approached and stated the case, and received this answer: "Oh, yes, plenty of work at the front, $2.25 per day, $4 per week for board, $1 per month hospital fee. If you get sick or hurt it will cost you nothing for board or medicine. You need no pass; just get on the first train going out and tell the conductor you are going to the front to work and they will take you to the end of the track without a word."

I also met a lady from the front who told us the same story, but for fear they might not know what they were talking about, we asked the operator at the O. P. depot where we could procure a ticket for the front. "Oh," said he, "you don't need any or any pass; just get on and tell the conductor that you are going to the front to work, and there will be no trouble."

Acting on this advice we got on board at three o'clock p. m. and steamed out of Albany in good shape. Just as we got out of the city a man approached us with a voice of thunder and fury in his eyes, said, "Have you got a pass?" With great meekness we told him we had not; that we were going to the front to work. "Who are you going to work for?" "Barr and O'Connor, we think."

"Have you an order from them for work?" "No, sir; we were told that we needed nothing of the kind."

"Who told you?" "Mr. Barr, the operator and others."

"Well, by G—d, they are not running this train; I'm running it, and, by G—d, you have got to get off the first time the train stops."

After giving him time to reflect on the matter, we told him we were no bammers; that we would pay our way, and asked the fare. "Oh, by G—d, I am not authorized to sell passes. You will have to get off."

Some others went to him to intercede for us. He informed them that we were a set of d—d dirty scamps, and that we would have to get off.

The train made about an hour's run and two stops before he said anything more to us, but in the meantime he passed a pint flask filled with some dark fluid that we supposed to be poor whisky to his brakemen and to other men that we supposed to be trainmen, until the contents disappeared down their capacious throats. As the train slowed down the third time the conductor took off his coat and hung it up and kindly told us we must get off. Not being much of a pugilist we quietly did so and footed it to this place. I am sorry that I did not learn the distinguished man's name, but will say he acted as conductor of a train driven by No. 6 that left Albany Sunday evening, Oct. 21, and if he is a specimen of the courteous officials that the managers of the O. P. railroad proposes to entrust the welfare of its patrons, my earnest prayer would be, God help the unfortunate traveler that should ever be compelled to travel over this road. And to Mr. Barr and others I would say, if you have no authority for saying that the laborers on this road do not need a pass do not say so and expose men to insult and ignominy from which they have no mode of redress. E. A. W.
