DEATH OF CLARK.

The Victim of the Recent Stabbing Affray Dies of His Wounds.

A. T. THOMPSON IS RE-ARRESTED.

He is Held in $5000 Bonds on a Charge of Manslaughter—His True Name is Springer.

Jesse Clark, who was stabbed by A. T. Thompson in a recent row over a horse trade, died yesterday afternoon from the effects of his wounds.

Thompson was re-arrested last evening and was held in $5000 bonds to answer to a charge of manslaughter.

A coroner's inquest was held last evening, Justice Humphrey acting, ex officio, as coroner.

The trouble, which grew out of a trivial row over a horse trade, has resulted in a serious affair.

The true name of the deceased, who was aged 19, is A. D. Springer.

His parents reside at Dodge City, Kansas. They have been notified of his death.

For a Reform School.

The bill for a reform school should pass the legislature and become a law.

Such a school, under good management and conducted so as to gain the confidence of the young who shall be sent there, can do much to mold the characters of young people.

Who may otherwise grow up to wickedness and fill no place but evil in the community.

THE CITY CHARTER.

A Satisfactory Adjustment With the Oregon Pacific Will be Made.

In no question has the people of Albany recently taken a more lively interest than on the proposed amendments to the city charter.

Following is the substance of the amendments, it being the report of the special committee and the committee of the whole, which was adopted by the city council:

That section (1) one of the charter describing and fixing the present city limits be extended east from the present eastern boundary so as to include Hackleman's third addition to the city of Albany, and the property of H. Bryant, and south to include the Oregon Pacific property (and round house), adjoining the present southern boundary of the city.

To amend section 122, chapter 12, so as to allow an indebtedness of $5000 to be incurred.

To amend section 34, sub section 34, of section 3, so as to provide for purchasing ground and improving the same for a public park.

Section 34, sub-section 2, to amend so as to permit a tax levy not to exceed eight mills.

To amend sub-section 20, of section 34, so as to include obscene, abusive and profane language.

To amend sub-section 23, section 34, so as to provide for the sale or disposal of cows and all animals taken up.

To amend sub-section 36, section 34, so as to provide for the punishment of cruelty to animals.

To amend sub-section 9, of section 3, so that in case any person having a liquor license violates the ordinance regulating the sale of liquors, that on conviction before the recorder's court or by a jury of such violation, the council shall revoke such license.

To provide that all property within three blocks of any main sewer shall be connected with such main sewer.

A spirited opposition is being made to some portions of the amendments, viz those increasing the limit of the tax levy to eight mills, increasing the limit of the city's indebtedness from $2000 to $5000, and the extension of the corporate limits to include the ground of the Oregon Pacific Railroad company.

Concerning the two objections first named there can be little doubt as to the course to be pursued.

Albany has outgrown her country town period and should take on more metropolitan ways.

An indebtedness of $5000 is nothing to a city with the public improvements to show for it, that Albany has, and in view of the further improvements desired, an eight mill tax is not excessive.

During some years it might not be needed, in which event it is not likely that the city council would abuse its prerogative.

If the matter was submitted to a vote of the people now there is little doubt but that an eight mill tax would be voted for the ensuing year.

Concerning the matter of including the Oregon Pacific Company's land in the extension of the corporate limits there has been so much feeling and diversity of opinion that a special meeting of the city council was held last night, at which vice-presidents Wm. M. Hoag and Wallis Nash were, by invitation, present.

In the absence of the recorder F. M. French was elected recorder pro tem.

Mayor Cowan stated the object of the meeting, and after explaining the status of the proposed amendments, and especially the matter of the extension of the corporate limits, invited Mr. Hoag to express his views of the matter touching the Oregon Pacific Company's interest in the proposed amendments.

Mr. Hoag said that the company did not desire station grounds, but room for terminal works of a through transcontinental line, which would require extensive terminal works here, and he hoped the city council would give them an opportunity to do this without restricting them too much.

A resolution was introduced that the legislature be asked to so amend the bill now pending that the grounds of the Oregon Pacific company be left out of the corporate limits.

The council adjourned to consider the matter this evening. It seems now that the matter will be amicably and satisfactorily adjusted.

Caution to Mothers.

Every mother is cautioned against giving her child laudanum or paregoric, it creates an unnatural craving for stimulants which kills the mind or the child.
