THE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

Every citizen of this state irrespective of party affiliation, is interested in the enactment of laws to control and regulate corporate bodies. The necessity is recognized and acknowledged by able men; even those who are wholly and entirely interested in and employed by the corporations. More especially is this the case with the rai. road companies, which form our transportation lines, and without which we cannot exist under the present order and development of affairs. We are completely in legal restraint and control, that of state in Harrison's cabinet. power, as has been shown in numerous and constant cases, is used in an unjust and unfair man-

THE CONVICT LABOR QUE:-TION.

Much has been said and written upon this subject and still the solution of the question seems to be as far off as ever. Its importance however, does not lessen in the least. CONGRESSMAN MORBOW of California has been trying to make out that his state is in the center of these great United States, by taking the extreme eastern point of land in Maine and the extreme western point in Alaska and striking the paralleli midway between the two. Rather a far drawn conclusion, but then Morrow is not the first man that has imagined he was the center of attraction in the universe. He will get over it after awhile.

THOSE voting against the railroad commission bill in the house, were Hahn, Layman, McCoy, Miller of Linn. Morelock, Myers, Moss, Napton, Parker, Pope, Short, Stafford and Waldo. The Oregonian says the bill increases the commissioners pay to $2500 per annum. This statement is incorrect for it is not an increase as that amount was the emolument namded in the old law for the commissioners.

LAYMAN's high license bill is now ready for the governor's signature, or veto. He will probably sign it, which will give Oregon a high license law. Senator J. W. Watts was the champion of the bill.

The modes of death's approach are arious, and statistics show coffcinsively that more persons die from diseases of the threat and lungs than suy other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives yast rumbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head causing catarrh.
