A LIVELY SCENE.

A Drunken Midnight Intruder Causes a Woman's Cry of Murder.

Shortly after midnight yesterday morning the excited voice of a woman crying, "Murder, help!" rang out on the frosty air near the corner of Third and Calapooia streets. The neighbors were aroused, and it was discovered that the trouble was at the residence of Edward Robinson, and was occasioned by James Pitsford, who had been stopping at the house, and had come home drunk and wanted to raise a row. He began by assaulting Ad. Harmon, who was stopping with his wife at the house. Pitsford became so bloodthirsty that an officer was sent for, and Policeman Miller led him off to the city jail. He was discharged yesterday, the officers not caring to prosecute the case, as no warrant was sworn out by the parties disturbed. Pitsford ran a saloon for Ad. Harmon on Kock Creek above Seaside.

Captain Mullan's Claim.

The state of Oregon is likely to get into a controversy with the reputable Captain John Mullan, who recently had a bout with Governor Waterman of California, relative to his claim for services as state attorney at Washington. At the beginning of the session Mullan sent a printed communication to a member, setting forth why he should be paid $9022 13 for his services. The senate committee on claims, to which the matter was referred, showing that Mullan was appointed by Governor Thayer and then by Governor Moody, with the understanding that if the legislature saw fit it could compensate him, and further that the legislature never ratified the action of Governors Thayer and Moody. The committee further reported that Mullan has already been paid $6282 by the state, and recommends that the enormous claim be reduced to the munificent sum of $118.

Utilizing Power.

The immense water power at Oregon City is to be used in generating electric light electricity for Portland. The Oregonian says that the work of clearing the right of way and distributing the poles along the line from Oregon City to this city is progressing rapidly. Poles are now being delivered this side of Oswego, and as soon as they are strung all along the line the work of digging the holes will be commenced. A large force will put up and an effort will be made to raise the poles by means of pikes, and thus avoid the trouble of transporting a derrick. The poles are forty feet high, and some which are set in low places will be higher, for the purpose of keeping the wires as nearly level as possible. There will be two cross arms on each pole for the present, but there will be provision made for six. A carload of No. 4 copper wire, insulated, has arrived here and another is soon due, and as soon as the poles are up the work of stringing wires will be begun.

A Big Purchase.

The Oregonian says that Messrs. Van B. DeLashmutt and George B. Markle have purchased a farm of something over 1000 acres near Reedville from Mr. Robert Labrie, of Washington county paying therefore $50,000. Mr. DeLashmutt has also purchased the Brandt place of 500 acres for $30,000 and the Lousignot place for $500. It is not supposed that either the Mayor or Mr. Markle have any intention of turning farmer. These lands will, it is understood, be utilized as stock farms, where the future Maud S's, Jay Eye Cees and Jane L's, will be raised.

A Pleasant Gathering.

Thus lay the Knights of Pythias held an enjoyable meeting, at which several new members were initiated, and a number of visitors from abroad were present. From Corvallis there were, Messrs. D. A. Osborne, Chas. House, E. B. Bier, Thaddeus Dupney, Robt. Johnson, Jesse Spencer, Jas. O. Wilson, Zephiah Job, J. W. Dunn, W. E. Paul, David Link and A. L. Massinger. After the session a supper was served at the St. Charles hotel. The affair was a most pleasant one.

The commission appointed by the government to select a site for a naval station, report that near the bar at the mouth of Yaquina bay they discovered a steamer bay loaded with Emperor Mixed Tea for the Willamette Packing Co. This is the finest tea on the market. Don't fail to give it a trial.

Another New Brick.

Wm. Vance has let the contract to W. C. Cassell for the construction of a brick building 4x100 feet on Second street below the Willamette Packing Company's store. It has been leased to the Mitchell & Lewis Co., of Portland for an agricultural implement house.

Another Plat Filled.

The Salem Statesman says: A plat was filed Thursday in the county recorder's office by Henry J. Hadley, of an addition to the town of Mill City. The addition embraces a handsome, elevated strip 600 feet long on the Santiam river front and is laid off in lots of 50x100 feet, which will make very desirable residence sites.

Street Railways.

Has not been built yet, but the first comb honey of the season has just been received at the Willamette Packing Co's.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Salem has raised half of the $20,000 bonus required for the establishment of woolen mills there. Salem is alive to all matters of public improvement, and the capital city is steadily growing.

The new high license law passed by the legislature is similar in its provisions to the present license law of Albany. The annual license for spiritous and vinous liquors is placed at $400 and for malt liquors $200, which is just the provisions of the law in effect in this city.

Less than a week remains of the forty days allotted to the work of the legislature, and the business of the session is drawing to a close. It has on the whole been an uneventful session. It has been characterized from first to last by a deluge of bills, scores of which will never reach their third reading, while many, perhaps too many, will become laws. An amount of money has been appropriated for wagon roads which might be considered alarming for a state supposed to be moderately advanced civilization and already pretty generally traversed by public thoroughfares of all kinds. The members have perhaps felt the ozone of the present sunny winter, and have been somewhat reckless in the matter of making appropriations, many of which will probably be declared unconstitutional.

Recently Mr. Wm. M. Hoag, vice president of the Oregon Pacific railroad, in conversation with a representative of the HERALD, stated that he expected by the last of February or the first of March to receive orders from the president of the company, T. Edgerton Hogg, in New York, to resume work on the line eastward from this city. He said the company proposes to push the work vigorously early in the spring, in order to connect with the great wool producing country of Eastern Oregon, and bring the heavy shipments of wool which has heretofore been freighted by wagons to The Dalles to Albany. The company will also remove their offices from Corvallis to this city, and will proceed to establish their machine and car shops here. Mr. Hoag says also that the company contemplates some extensive building in this city, including a fine depot, and perhaps a big brick hotel in connection with the same. All this points to lively times among the mechanics and builders of this city.

The Multnomah delegation have a grip on the Bull Run water project, which, it seems, they are determined not to let go. In the house Thursday evening one of their members slyly called up Earhart's bill, which is identical with Carson's bill vetoed by the Governor, but which had been read twice and then almost forgotten. While the house had sustained the governor's veto of the old bill, which required a two-third vote, there was not sufficient opposition to it to prevent the new bill from passing on a straight vote and it was passed by a vote of 37 to 19, five being absent. This is exactly the same measure as the bill allowing the Portland water committee to issue $1,500,000 of non-taxable bonds for the introduction of Bull Run water, which was defeated, and by the strategy of the Portland delegation it has again bobbed up serenely. As it has passed the senate it is now ready for the governor's veto again. The senate will undoubtedly favor the bill, as it did before, but the house, if it is wise, will prevent this unrighteous exemption of capital from taxation by sustaining the governor's veto.

Copies of the New York issue of the HERALD can still be had at this office at 10 cents per copy.

Go and see the new silverware at Will & Stark's.

A MERITFUL TRIBUTE.

What Mr. and Madam Heine Think of the Sterling Pianos.

Mr. Josef Heine in his entertainment Wednesday evening took occasion to speak in terms of warm praise of the beautiful Sterling piano, which had been placed in the opera house for the use of Mrs. Heine.

He said that they had been able to play some of their most brilliant numbers because they had a good piano, which at several places they did not have, and were compelled to omit some of the passages on that account.

Mrs. Heine was so delighted with the instrument that she wrote the following note at the close of the performance to Mr. G. L. Blackman, who furnished the piano:

ALBANY, Feb. 13, 1889.

MR. G. L. BLACKMAN: Dear Sir:—Having thoroughly examined the beautiful Sterling piano furnished for use at our entertainment at the opera house this evening, it affords me much pleasure to say that I consider it one of the best pianos upon which I have ever played. The purity of tone and excellence of finish makes it, in my estimation, a superior instrument, not excelled by any of the best pianos in use in this country.

Yours truly, ADA HEINE.

Heine company. This voluntary recommendation coming from such distinguished musicians as Mr. and Madam Heine speaks volumes for the popular Sterling pianos.
