We Can and Do

It is a positive cure for syphilitic poisoning, ulcers, eruptions and pimples. It purifies the whole system and thoroughly builds up the constitution.

How Can Parents

allow their children to cough and strain and cough and calmly say, "Oh it's only a cold," and keep giving them cheap and dangerous medicines until they are down with lung fever or consumption, when they can be so easily relieved by BEGGS' CHERRY COUGH SYRUP? It has no superior, and few equals. Geo. L. Blackman, druggist.

Caution to Mothers.

Every mother is cautioned against giving her child laudanum or paregoric; it creates an unnatural craving for stimulants which kills the mind or the child. Acker's Baby Soother is specially prepared to benefit children and cure their pains. It is harmless and contains no opium or morphine. Sold by Foshay & Mason.

Nipped in the Bud.

Is it not better to nip Consumption the greatest scourge of humanity in the bud, than to try to stay its progress on the brink of the grave. ## WILLIAM NYE

Hunting Lions and Elephants near Winnipeg.

ALONG WITH H. RILEY HAGGARD.

Attacks a Ferocious Lion and Puts Him to Flight—He Sees Many Wonderful Sights.

Bill Nye in New York World.

The cold of Minnesota has been greatly exaggerated by rival states, and though at times the thermometer lowers itself in the estimation of society, the cold is of such a dry, bracing character as to seem almost oppressively hot to those who are not accustomed to it. The eye sparkles, the step is elastic and the rich blood mantles to the nose as the gayly caparisoned droska speeds blithely through the palmetto groves of the thrifty Occident.

Many southern people come to Minneapolis and St. Paul, it is said, in order to escape the rigors of their own winter. The banana belt extending from Duluth to Winnipeg, reminds one of tropical Africa. Last week Mr. Riley Haggard and I started out for a little quiet elephant shooting in the country. Bidding farewell to the concierge at the hotel, we packed our heavy express rifles and smooth bore elephant guns, penetrated as far as the sleeping-car could convey us, and, bidding farewell to our faithful Wan Wenga, who caressed us both with a whisk broom to the value of twenty ecudi, we hired an elephant apiece and began to permeate the jungle, preceded by our trusty bird dog.

At the kraal, or livery stable, where we engaged our elephants, we were told that game was very plenty about thirty miles across the dinglelow, and in that small forest of jingsang trees and hoola bushes quite a convey of quagga and elephants had been scared up by a Boer who had penetrated the jungle accompanied by his brakje or dog.

The first night we camped beneath the shade of a Vienna bread fruit tree on the borders of the Karroo, and, preventing the escape of our trusty elephants by attaching their trunks, we began to prepare our evening meal. I read the directions from a book of African travel, and my very faithful comrade, Mr. Riley Haggard, did the cooking.

First refreshing ourselves with a long draught from a gourd of spoopju from Peoria, marked 1842, so called because it is placed on the market eighteen hours and forty two minutes after it is made, our faithful gun bearer, Ylang Ylang, began to carve the biltong, meriboss, and jerked muskrat for the evening meal. Making a bright fire of karroo bushes and fresh train figs, a wad of mealies was simmering over the coals, while the odor of Cincinnati biltong pervaded the tropical forest.

Ylang Ylang, our faithful valet, who made his name a household word because of his search after Fred Schwatka and One-Night Stanley, said that according to the books on African exploration it was now time to bed down the elephants. After doing this he returned and proceded with the cuisine.

We had swallowed our supper, and Mr. Riley Haggard was about to climb a date palm to secure a few luscious lecture dates, when our ears were saluted by a most unearthly and ear-piercing roar from the heart of the jungle. At this moment our faithful Ylang Ylang came in with eyes sticking out like a sore thumb to announce that our bird dog had flushed a large Abyssinian lion.

Hurridly putting a little Mayonnaise dressing on our faithful Ylang Ylang, we sent him out to parley with the lion while we put on our telegraph climbers, and filled our pockets with biltong, we ascended a Duluth palm tree.

We had not long to wait! The wangwanga bushes parted and a low, heavy set performing lion crept softly into the open Karroo, preceded at a distance of about three-quarters of an inch by our faithful Ylang Ylang. As the poor fellow jumped a low kirdish bush, I heard a crunching sound such as I hope never to hear again, and turned away my head rather than see our trusty gun-bearer in the act of backing into a lion.

Suddenly remembering how I once seen a lion tamer make a lion quail, I descended from the tree and taking a small riding-whip with me, said, "Hi!" and whipping him across the forelegs, in the the mean time frequently making the remark "Hi!" I drove him away from there. Out of the kraal, down the sloot or water course and across the Karroo lands he sped and so on back to Winnipeg, where he joined his congress of rare wild beasts, as I afterwards learned.

Hastily saddling our elephants and sinching them tightly, so that the hawdah could not slip around under the stomach of the noble beast, we mounted by means of a freight car standing near by and returned across the transvaal, whatever that is, and hiring a diligence we packed our remaing supply of biltong, elephant tusks, spooju, pemmican, elephant blubber, sacred cow meat, dried yak, krootiejam, Milwaukee Heidsieck and a glossary of hard words from Rider Haggard, and took the cars at Stantley Pool, resolving to penetrate still further into the tropical depths of the Northwest.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

Contributed by the W. C. T. U.

Our piety needs a stiff breeze of common sense blowing through it. —Gail Hamilton.

"Come, let us go in and take a Crosby," was the recent remark of a young man to his companions when passing the Astor house.

Mr. C. A. Whitmore, vice-president of the California Viticultural Commission says: As to high license now in vogue, I see no reason why wine-makers should quarrel with it.

The people of South Dakota are aroused upon the question of constitutional prohibition and will spare no effort to engraft prohibition into her constitution. The new state of Washington will make a strong pull for the same provision. May they be successful.

Orders have been issued on the Pennsylvania railroad that no freight, except perishable matter shall be conveyed on Sabbath. The freight men will stop work at ten o'clock on Saturday night, and will not resume work until seven Sabbath evening. This will restore the Sabbath to 2,400 men.

Three large brewries, representing a capital of over $150,000 were recently seized by the authorities at Burlington, Iowa. Governor Larrabee is making it lively for law-breakers in that state. In a recent address he states that under prohibition the poor people are better fed, better clothed and better provided for than ever before, and that all reported damage to business, as a result of the enforcement of the prohibitory law, is a mistake.

Mrs. S. V. White, the wife of a republican congressman from Brooklin, gave a brilliant reception in Washington last month. It was said to be the most magnificent affair of the season. The peculiarity of the reception was the entire absence of wine. Long tables were set lladened with delicacies, for which "carte blanche" was given to the caterer, with the single stipulation, that no punch or wines were to be included. This conscientions women determined to set a much needed example, and demonstrated what can be done in fashionable circles.

HUMOROUS DRIFT.

It is the noble Kentuckian who never misses the water when the well runs dry.

A great many girls say "no" at first; but, like the photographer, they know how to retouch their negatives.

A little Joke from the French.—Teacher—In which of his battles was Gustavus Adolphus killed? Pupil(after reflection)—I think it was the last one.

A wit is a person of eminent sense
Whose sayings are bright and amusing:
And wit in itself would seem to be hence,
Nonsensical sense—'tis confusing.

"I am told that I resemble your wife a good deal." "You do in one particular, Mr. Quimby." "What's that?" "My wife is no gentleman.

"Letting down a drop-curtain between acts is suggestive," remarked Squildig. "So it is," said McSwilligen; "let's go out and take a drop ourselves."

Bangley(after a three years' absence from home)—Has Miss Lamson got that fellow Dacey on the string yet? Tooler—Yes, she married him. He's on the apron string now.

Mother(to 7-year-old daughter)—Carrie, what makes you look so sad? Carrie—I'm thinking what a bother that little brother of mine will be when I enter society and have a beau.

(As they say their last "good-by" a clock strikes 10! 11! 12!) George—How the hours fly when you are at my side dear!—Yes, George; but that's pa in the dining-room setting the clock.

She—No; it cannot be, but I will try to be a sister to you. He—You are the most sisterly girl I ever met. "Sisterly!" "You have taken all you could get out of me, and have never given me anything in return.

The immense sale of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been produced to a great extent by people who have been cured by it telling their friends and neighbors of its good qualities and urging them to try it. The most severe cold will soon yield to its soothing effects. For sale by Foshay & Mason.

Dr. Negus removes cancers without pain or the knife,

TRAIN ROBBERS.

The Governor of California Offers a Reward for Each of Them.

SACREMENTO, March 8.—The governor has offered a reward of $250 for the arrest of each man implicated in the killing of Chas. Gabert and Edward Bently February 2d, at the robbery of the Southern Pacific company's railroad near Pixley.

WIPED OUT.

The Town of Wabash, Nebraska, Destroyed by Fire.

OMAHA (Neb.), March 8.—A Bee special from Weeping Water says: The town of Wabash was almost totally wiped out by fire this morning. Loss, thirty thousand dollars, partially insured. While the fire was raging burglars tried to crack the safe of Geo. Towl in the other end of town, but they were discovered and escaped. It is thought they started the fire to conceal their operations. If caught they will probably be lynched.

YAQUINA NOTES.

Lively times are expected on the bay this summer.

The hull and fixtures of the wrecked Yaquina Bay will probably be sold soon.

One of the new scows for the government works is completed and was launched a few days ago.

The Yaquina Republican says that it is expected that from 26 to 28 feet of water will be obtained on Yaquina bar this fall from the effect of the north jetty.

The government work on the north jetty is progressing rapidly. On Monday three hoisting machines and three donkey engines were taken down from Yaquina to the government wharf at Newport.

The contract for furnishing steel rails and iron for the tramway, also for derricks and dump cars, has been awarded and the work will be vigorously prosecuted this summer.

New Counties.

The Oregonian thinks that before many years there will be a divorce between the valley and coast portions of Polk, Benton and probably Lane counties. There can be two new counties made south of Tillamook, extending to Coos county, that will be valuable and some time populous. Progress will be more rapid from now on than ever before and every section will require home privileges. We now have 31 counties, but we will increase to 40 within the next decade, or before 1900. The resources of that section are not known yet, but are rapidly becoming so, and development will soon begin.
