WOOLEN MILLS.

The $25,000 Subsidy will be Forthcoming.

THE RESULT OF FOUR DAYS WORK

An Exhibition of Albany's Enterprise—The Brownsville Mills Will Now be Removed to Albany.

The committee appointed to raise the $25,000 subsidy for the removal of the Brownsville woolen mills to this city met at the office of Curran & Monteith last evening.

Their subscription lists were footed up when it was found that there will no longer be any doubt as to the securing of the mills.

The lists aggregate $22,500, and the committee, which is composed of about a dozen of the solid citizens of the city, agreed to see that the remainder is raised. They have all donated liberally and have been laboring hard for the past four days, and those who are not on the list should come forward freely Monday and help the committee close up the subscription, as on that date they desire to collect all the subscription papers and will positively complete the $25,000 subsidy as they have guaranteed to do.

This will insure the removal of the Brownsville mills to Albany and their enlargement to twice their present capacity, which will be in operation in about six months. It will be one of the most important enterprises brought about in this city for many a day, and will add more than can be estimated to the material growth and progress of the city. As soon as the subscription list is completed it will be published in HERALD.

RAILROAD BUILDING.

The Southern Pacific's Projected Branches—The Sodaville Extension.

C. P. Huntington, vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company was recently interviewed concerning the question of the construction of branch lines in Oregon and California. He said that the reason he gave up the management of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad was that he desired to devote more time to his Pacific coast roads.

Speaking of the report that the Southern Pacific had obtained control of the Santa Fe system, he said: "We have got all the main roads we want, and are not buying up anything of that sort."

When asked about the finances of the Southern Pacific, he spoke assuredly of them.

In passing over the company's line, he was much pleased at its condition.

Regarding the existence of the line north of Seattle, he said: "We won't build north of the Columbia river for the present; as for other construction, we have several branch lines projected, which will be built when needed." This latter remark is thought applies among other lines to the proposed extension of the Lebanon branch to Sodaville. This place is growing in importance as a summer and health resort, and a railroad to it has become a necessity.

THE CLEANING BINK.

A Vendor of Old Clothes Attempts to Steal J. E. Rainey—To be Tried Monday

Yesterday morning John Erkson, a Swede, attempted to steal J. H. Rainey, book-keeper in the hardware store of Deyoe & Robson. Erkson came along in front of the store where Mr. Rainey was standing, and wanted to sell him some old clothes. The clothes were freshly washed but unlaundried and looked very much as if they had been stolen from some one's clothes line. Erkson was told to move on, as no one wished to buy his second hand clothes. He refused to go and began to use abusive language, when Mr. Rainey pitched him off of the sidewalk into the street. He got up, pulled himself together and drew from his pocket a sharp pointed, blade-shaped instrument used by upholsterers in stuffing mattresses, and attempted to stab Mr. Rainey. The weapon was taken away from him and he was placed under arrest. He was subsequently arraigned before Justice Humphrey and was held for examination at 10 A. M. Monday.

SIGNIFICANT POINTERS.

Some of the Enterprises Which Will Contribute to Albany's Growth this Season.

It is now definitely settled that the Brownsville Woolen Mills will be removed to Albany this summer. The Albany Street Railway Company has perfected arrangements for the immediate commencement of work. The cars will be running within a few months.

Work on the Oregon Pacific railroad eastward of this city will be resumed before many weeks, and will be vigorously prosecuted, the line being extended into eastern Oregon in time to give that great wool growing district connection with Albany for this season's trade.

About 100 new residences are now going up in this city and work on two or three big buildings has already been commenced, with several others to follow this season. It is now considered reasonably certain that the Lebanon branch of the Southern Pacific will be extended to Sodaville this year.

The Albany Building and Loan Association is now thoroughly organized and will be instrumental in causing many new buildings to be erected in the city. The first loans made last month will be used for this purpose.

It is probable that the Narrow Gauge railroad will be built to Albany this year. It is rumored that the Oregon Pacific company is considering the question of purchasing the Narrow Gauge system, and using it as a feeder to their own line, making the junction at Albany.

Embezzling School Fund.

A Clerk in Waterloo School District Arrested For a Defalcation of $105.

Isaac Saltmarsh of Waterloo, clerk of the school district at that place, was arraigned in Justice Humphrey's court in this city yesterday morning, having been arrested on a charge of embezzling public money belonging to the school district. He waived examination and was held in $400 bonds which he furnished.

He was arrested a year ago on a similar charge, but was released on payment of the amount of the defalcation and costs. The directors state that he paid this out of the school funds, having been re-elected clerk of the district. This year he was not elected and he refused to turn over $105.05 to the new clerk, when the directors caused his arrest.

Logging Camp Disbanded.

The logging camp on the upper Calapooia, where a force of men have been waiting for many months in hope of rain enough to afford water to float a drive of about two million feet of logs to this city, have at last given up the job and disbanded. This will leave the logs in the mountains another year, and will probably put an end to the hope of supplying the saw mill at this city with logs this summer. There will be no security of lumber, however, for building purposes, as large shipments of fine lumber are daily being made from the saw mills at Mill City on the eastward line of the Oregon Pacific and from other mills in that timber district.

The Chemawa Indian School.

General Beadle, the new superintendent, has taken complete charge of the Chemawa Indian school near Salem, and in a few weeks will have everything arranged for the permanent management of the institution. Col. Lee is still making up his final accounts, which will consume a week or ten days yet, after which he will take his departure, probably returning to Indiana. The school now contains 175 pupils, a loss of 23 in the past eight weeks, the loss being mostly of young men past 21 years old.

Five Horses.

A large crowd of horsemen were attracted to Ans Marshall's stables yesterday by an arrival of five horses. There were eight yearling Clydesdales shipped from Canada by Hiram Miller, and two Clydesdale and one Englishshire stallions shipped from Hastings, Nebraska, by Hopley & Bragg. The latter were in charge of Chas. Cawse. They are a fine lot of horses.

Tuesday, March 19th, the stock of the company was assessed for sufficient amount to survey and locate the line from the present terminus at Airle to Newport. The survey will be commenced at an early day.

School Statistics.

Oregon has 1518 school districts, 86,574 school children, 2091 teachers, 1,284 school houses, $1,295,217.50 invested in school property. Average salary paid male teachers, $46.20; female, $36.97. Amount paid for teachers' salaries in 1888, $424,936.50.

STATE NEWS.

A Safe Blown Open by Burglars in Portland.

THE CRACKERS SECURE NO MONEY

Intense Excitement in Polk County Over the Examination of Beardsley, the Murderer—Justice Frink Severely Criticized.

Special to the HERALD.] PORTLAND, March 23.—Shortly before five o'clock this morning the safe in Ed. Morgan's saloon on the corner of Washington and 6th streets, was blown open by burglars. The explosion made a great noise and the safe crackers stepped out of doors to see whether it had attracted attention. Noticing three officers, policemen Holsapple, Wing and Day, were hastening toward the scene, the burglars dashed up sixth street to Alder, keeping about a block ahead of the policemen. On Alder between 6th and 7th one of the fellows stopped, whirled about and discharged a six shooter at the officers, which met with a ready response, but nobody was hit. During the firing one of the men vanished from sight and the other it is believed sought temporary refuge in the new hotel building and was not again seen. To cut a long story short, the burglars are still at large. Returning to the saloon, the safe was found to be a total wreck. A small hole had been drilled into the outer and only door, and must have been filled with dynamite, blowing the filling, weighing about 135 pounds, clean out. The burglars made their entrance on the Washington street side of the saloon, and then broke open two doors before reaching the room where they performed their destructive work. The police were on their heels so rapidly after the explosion that the criminals had no time to rifle the safe of its contents. They are unquestionably the same men who robbed the safe in the office of the Portland soda works a few nights since, because the work on both safes is identically the same. It is also certain that they are not novices at the business.

THE POLK COUNTY MURDERER.

Intense Excitement Prevails over the Matter.

SALEM, March 23.—Great excitement still prevails throughout Polk county over the killing of Perryman and the action of Justice Frink in admitting Beardsley to bail in such a small amount. A petition has been signed by a large number of solid citizens and printed, asking Frink to resign as justice. Neither Beardsley nor Frink could be seen to-day and a rumor is among Beardsley's enemies that both have left the county, but others do not believe this. Many Polk county people were in Salem to-day and the case was the whole talk of street all day. It would be unsafe for any man to speak a good word for Beardsley in Polk county just now. The feeling against the justice is almost as bitter as against the criminal.
