AT OKLAHOMA

Rapid Improvements In the New Towns.

NO MORE CLAIM JUMPING.

Troops Sent to the Cherokee Strips to Eject Squatters—All Is Quiet.

GUTHRIE (Ind. T.), May 4.—Surveyors engaged in laying out a new Guthrie town site succeeded to-day in locating the exterior corners of the business quarter, and Mayor Dyer at once issued an order to all property owners to make their lots conform to the lines laid down. The official survey will not be completed for several days, and in the mean time representative men of Guthrie will do their utmost to make the crisis of short duration when it does come.

The past two days have wrought many changes in both Guthrie and Oklahoma City. At least fifty buildings have been erected in each place. Two banks are doing business in Guthrie and a third will be in operation this week. Supplies are being hauled in by railroad and board and lodging may now be secured for a reasonable sum. In three or four weeks both towns will have reached a point when predictions as to their future can be made with greater certainly.

The work of setting claims is proceeding rapidly, but there are few indications that settlers will do much toward improving their lands this year. Between Guthrie and Kingfisher there are not more than a dozen claims on which plowing has been begun. The fact is the season is too far advanced to promise any decent reward for labor this spring, and many of the settlers have gone to Guthrie, Oklahoma City or Kingfisher, where there is a demand for men and teams in hauling freight.

Oklahoma City has settled its differences arising from claim-jumping, and the people there profess to view the general situation with satisfaction. Captain Couch and General John B. Weaver are running the town and predicting a great future for it. Both are well fixed in the matter of lands, because they were the ground in advance of the rush boomers.

Captain Hall and a company of cavalry left Kingfisher this morning to eject settlers from the Cherokee strip, and a company also left Guthrie for the same purpose. Several hundred settlers are now on the strip. They are determined men who had staked their all on the Oklahoma opening, and, failing to get their claims, have gone to the strip. No organized resistance to the military is expected, but cases of individual resistance and a large amount of hardship and suffering are certain to ensue.

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

Contributed by the W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Lucy H. Washington, a talented national W. C. T. U. worker, will lecture in Portland next week.

We see the name of our former president Mrs. M. J. Townsend, among the list of workers in the Portland W. C. T. U. May she prove to them as great a treasure as she was to us. Always ready for anything to further the cause she holds so dear, for seven years our unshrinking, untiring president. May her intercourse with the society in her new home be always pleasant and cordial.

Mrs. Mary Byron Reese has so far recovered her health as to be on the wing again, organizing new unions in Western Washington.

A Kentucky woman recently said she had six unanswerable arguments in favor of prohibition, her six sons. Certainly the very best arguments.

Mrs. A. R. Riggs, State President will make a tour of Linn county, beginning Tuesday evening at Oakville, she will have finished a tour of the state before the convention.

The tobacco evil which is so widely prevalent, is occasionally emphasized by its obvious injury, sometimes fatal, to distinguished person. Among the latest cases is the celebrated actor, Edwin Booth. In the midst of a recent performance at Roschester N. Y., he was smitten down. For a time his life was despaired of. His physicians attribute his sudden illness to excessive smoking. It is said that he is in the habit of smoking about twenty strong imported cigars a day, and frequently uses a pipe. He must be made of sterner stuff than ordinary mortals to be able to stand such excess for any length of time.

It is stated that the liquor interest in Pennsylvania is being taxed heavily to defeat the amendment, retail dealers are taxed $50, each, and it stated that this assessment alone will yield over $100,000. The wholesale dealers are taxed in proportion, making an anti-amendment fund of over $2,000,000, raised from the liquor interest of that state. It is scarcely possible for the temperance people to overcome such a corruption fund.

At the late Centennial Banquet there were nearly 8,000 wine glasses glittering along the array of tables. There were twelve varieties of wines and three cordials, causing an expenditure of nearly $16,000. And the sequal shows that the wine had its effect, our papers are filled with accounts of disorder and disgraceful scenes. When will our people learn to put money to its proper and legitimate use?

HE SAW WASHINGTON.

The Story Told by a Resident of the District of Columbia.

The Time's Washington special says: William Burgess, who is now laying the foundation of the Confederate monument that is to be erected at Alexandria, is one of few men now living who has looked upon the face of General George Washington. "It was in 1839," he says, "when I was an apprentice, employed in building the new tomb at Mount Vernon, which so many visiters now come to see. I was a lad then, and I remember it was my first piece of work. When the vault was completed I assisted in moving the bodies from the old tomb to their present resting place. It was decided to open Washington's coffin, and when it had been conveyed to the new tomb the lid was raised. A number of people were present, and stood in breathless silence while the workmen extracted the rusty screws.

"When the top of the coffin had been lifted I looked in. The body was apparently perfectly preserved. The features of the face were complete and there was nothing to indicate the length of time he had been dead. Exposure to the air, however, had its immediate effect. In a minute or two the body suddenly collapsed and shrank into an almost unrecognizable form. Other than this my recollections are very distinct. I do not remember how the body was dressed or anything further about it. The features, as I recollect them, were like the pictures I have seen." Burgess is 70 years old and has lived in Alexandria for many years. Those who know him well have heard him relate this story often.

THE COUNTRY PARSON.

He Works the "Soldier of the Legion" Gag on His Deacon.

Bob Burdette in Brooklyn Union.

The parson of a country church was lying in his bed, three months arrears of salary was pillowing his head; his couch was strewn with tradesman's bills that pricked his sides like thorns, and nearly all life's common ills were goading him like horns. The deacon sat beside him as the moments ticked away, and bent his head to catch the words his pastor had to say:

"If I never shall arise from this hard bed on which I lie, if my warfare is accomplished and it's time for me to die, take a message to the sexton before I pass away. tell him fires are for December and open doors for May. Tell him when he lays the notices upon the pulpit's hight to shove them 'neath the cushion far out of reach and sight. And when he hears the preachers voice in whispers soft expire, that is the time to slam the door and rattle at the fire. And tell the other deacons, too, all through the busy week to hang their boots up in the sun to hatch a Sunday squeak; with steel-shod cane to prod the man who comes to sleep and snore; and use the boys who laugh in church to mop the vestry floor. There's another, too, the woman who talks the sermon through; tell her I will not mind her buzz—my hearing hours are few, tell her to hang her mouth up some Sunday for a minute and listen to a text, at least without a whisper in it. And tell the board of trustees not to weep with bitter tears, for I can't be any deader now than they have been for years. And tell half my congregation I'm glad salvation's free, for that's the only chance for them—between the desk and me. And a farewell to the choir—how the name my memory racks! If they could get up their voices as they do get up their backs why the stars would hear the music and the welkin would rejoice, while the happy congregation could not hear a single voice. But tell them I forgive them, and oh, tell them that I said I wanted them to sing for me—when you're sure that I am dead."

His voice was faint and hoarser, but it gave a laughing break, a kind of gurgling chuckle, like a minister might make. And the deacon he rose slowly, and sternly he looked down upon the parson's twinkling eye with a portentous frown, and he stiffly said "good morning" as he went off in his ire, for the deacon was the leader of that amiable choir.

MARRIAGE STATISTICS.

Facts About Matrimony—The Widows and Widowers.

Pall Mall Gazette.

It is said that each year 15 people out of every 1000 marry. Of each 1000 men who marry 861 are bachelors and 139 widowers, while of each 1000 women only 98 have been married before and 902 are spinsters Twelve marriages out of every 100 are second marriages. The average age at which men marry is about 27, while the average age at which women marry is about 25. Out of every 1000 persons 602 are unmarried, 345 are married and 53 widowed. Over one-half of all the women between 15 and 45 are unmarried. In all countries about 5 per cent of the marriages prove barren. Among the English nobility 19 per cent are childless. Married women live two years longer than single ones, although one in seventy dies in childbirth. Two thousand four hundred and forty-one births occur in England daily, about thirty-three for each one thousand inhabitants. February is the month in which the greatest number of births occur, June the month in which the fewest occur. The average number of births for each marriage is 4.33. In every one thousand births eleven are twins.

HUMOROUS DRIFT.

Patient—Doctor, how do you pronounce apoplexy? Doctor, well, usually fatal.

It has been said that stylish women owe much to their dressmakers. It will be thus until dressmakers do a cash business.

Papa (that is to be)—What are your prospects, Mr. DeBrazen? Mr. DeBrazen—Merely that of being your son-in-law, sir. I don't want anything better.

"I hear you are somewhat of a mind-reader, Fred." "I never made any pretentions in that direction." "Do you think you can tell what I am about to say?" "I think so. 'Lend me a dollar.' Is that right?"

She (sternly)—James, where have you been? He—Dearest, I went out to converse with a friend about the play. "But, James, I detect the odor of cloves." "That may be, Helen, you see we had a spicy conversation."

At a hugging bee for the benefit of the church along the upper Hudson a few evenings since a man while blindfolded hugged his wife several minutes without knowing who he was hugging. When he did find out he wanted his 15 cents back.

"Madam," reproachfully remarked the tramp to whom the young housewife had given a couple of cold biscuits of her own make, "I have asked ye for broad and ye have given me a stone." And the next instant she gave him a brick.

Lemuel—I tell you, men may prate as they will about woman's extravagance, but she can dress well on a sum that would keep a man looking shabby. Simcoe (dryly) — That's true. Now, the sum that my wife dresses on keeps me looking shabby year in and year out.

Little son—"Papa, when Brutus said the Roman senators were all honorable he didn't mean it, did he?" Father—"No, he spoke sarcastically." "What's that?" "He meant that the 'Hon.' in front of their names was put there by their constituents for a joke. Those old Romans relish a little humor as much as we do."

"Thump-rattlety-bang" went the piano. "What are you trying to play, Jane?" called out her father from the next room, "It's an exercise from my new instruction book. First steps in music," she answered. "Well I thought you were playing with your feet," he said grimly; "don't step so heavy on the keys, it disturbs my thought."

The Congregationalist reports the small boy as saying: "I don't like my Sunday school teacher." "Why not?" inquired the head of the household. "Because he is so all-fired pious!" Our contemporary remarks: "Nothing indefinite about that criticism, and, if it should get around to the teacher's ears it might do him no harm. Of course he would not stop being pious, but it is just possible he could make his piety a little more winsome in the eyes of this disaffected pupil." But if that small boy had lived 200 years ago, what would a puritan father have done with him?

She Was Equal to Him.

He was a keen, sharp-looking young man, and he said to the lady of the house on Second avenue as she stood in the hall:

"Madam, I have called for the suit of clothes which needs brushing and fixing."

"Which suit?" she said.

"Your husband's Sunday suit, ma'am. He called as he went down this morning."

"And he said I was to let you have them?"

"Yes'm."

"Did he appear in good health and spirits?"

"Why certainly,"

"Look and act natural?"

"Of course. Why do you ask?"

"Because he has been dead eighteen years and I have some curiosity on the subject."

"—I have made a mistake, perhaps!" stammered the young man.

"Perhaps you have. The man you saw go out of here an hour ago is my brother. You may have better luck in the next block with the old-fashioned confidence game. Good morning."

He—Where's my bootjack, Maria? She—Oh must you use it? What a pity! I've covered it with pink satin and painted a spray of wild flowers on it, and hung it up by long satin bows. What a pity one can't be artistic without having everything spoiled!

While Christians are to be as harmless as doves, they are also to be as wise as serpents. And they are, too. In many churches the collection is taken up before the sermon begins.

Men and Women Participate in a Riot in Michigan.

THE MILITIA CALLED OUT

Affairs at Washington—Several Women Murdered by a Negro in Florida—Eastern News.

The HERALD'S Special Dispatches.]

MANISTEE (Mich.), May 4.—A Polish Hebrew was assaulted on street this morning by an old faction of his church. A general row resulted, in which men and women participated. The militia was called out to quell the riot. The fire department was also called out and the hose turned on the mob. After nearly drowning several rioters peace was restored. The sheriff attempted to arrest the leaders, but was attacked by women, several of whom knocked him down. Ten rioters have been jailed. A guard is stationed at the prison house to prevent further trouble.

IMMIGRATION STATISTICS.

Too Many Italians Going to Argentine Republic.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The department of state has been informed by the legation at Buenos Ayres that the chief of the Argentine bureau of statistics has prepared a tabular statement of immigration to that republic which shows that out of a population of 4,000,000, 1,375,000 have come to the country as immigrants since 1887, mostly from Italy. Expected arrivals for the current year will number 370,000. Much difficulty is feared on account of arrivals in such large numbers, and orders have been issued to its agents to limit the number of departures to 2000 monthly.
