The initial number of the Scio Press, published by Coll VanCleave, has been received. It is gotten up in Van Cleave's usual hilarious style and is established with the avowed intention of building up that section of Linn county known as the Forks of the Santiam, and to add indiscriminately to the bank account of the proprietor, so that the boss of that bickering print-shop "can secure cake and pie, and clothes that fit him, so that he can attend all festivals, concerts, etc., in good form, and write them up impartially, to the pride and glory of the whole community."

Walter Parker has returned from a trip to Clackamas county. Mrs. Sherman Thompson will leave to-day to visit her mother at Stayton.

Injury to the Stream. The Salem Statesman says that serious objections are beginning to arise from residents among the main north fork of the Santiam because that stream is made the dumping place for slabs, trimmings and sawdust from a large sawmill up the stream. Persons interested in fishing matters are also complaining about the same thing. It is urged that the Santiam is fed by mountain streams the richest in trout of any in the state, and that these fish will not live in water in which sawdust is dumped, consequently they will disappear from that stream in a short time if the thing is continued. Then it is claimed that a great many families down the stream are compelled to use the water for cooking and drinking purposes, and they object to the rotting wood and dust which accumulates in different places along the banks and sends out its deleterious effluvia. There is a great deal of talk and threats are made of seeking the assistance of the law, but the owners of the mill in question are honorable and reasonable men, and when the matter is presented to them either by the fish commissioners or the health officers of the state, they will doubtless do whatever is right in the premises.

The Yaquina Jetties. The work on the jetties at the Yaquina harbor is progressing satisfactorily. This week the rock will begin to be dumped on the north side. The tramways are finished on that side. The jetty on the south side has been built up and made secure. The result of this work is seen in the increasing depth of the water. The engineers have been surveying the harbor this week and their survey will show 20 feet of water at mean high tide, a greater depth than ever before attained. There is now no doubt of securing a deep and safe harbor where vessels of large size may come in and go out, thus placing this market on an equality with the San Francisco market.

An Eminent Lecturer. Col. L. F. Copeland, who is acknowledged to be one of the most popular, eloquent, witty and instructive lecturers of America, will deliver two lectures at the opera house in this city on the evenings of June 6 and 7, the subjects being "What's to Hinder?" and "The Future of the Republic." Mr. Copeland lectured in Albany about a year ago and delighted his audiences as he does everywhere. The price of admission will be 40 cents for single lecture or 75 cents for both. Colene and public school pupils will be admitted for 25 cents for single or 40 cents for both lectures. Tickets can be procured at Blackman's.

The Next Congress. The roll of the next house of representatives has been made up and it gives the republicans 164 members and the democrats 161. This only includes those in the last congress and those elected to fill vacancies since the adjournment of congress, and of course leaves out the members who will come in from the new states. This will give the republicans a majority of three, which, while not large, is enough to begin work. The new states will increase this majority. North and South Dakota and Washington are sure to send republican representatives, and it is very probable that Montana will do likewise. But assuming that Montana does send a democratic congressman, the republicans will gain a member from Washington and three from the two Dakotas, giving them 168 and the democrats 162, a republican majority of six.

Towle, San Francisco, school desk; E. W. Tucker, San Francisco, surface condenser.

YAQUINA BAY NOTES.

Yaquina Republican.] The government tug Wallusia came in Tuesday last from Astoria. Why such a craft was ever allowed to escape from the Columbia is a mystery. We don't believe a fish of any perception will come into Yaquina Bay as long as this beauty remains here. She would be a success in Florida waters if used to frighten alligators.

The government tug General Wright came in last Saturday from Astoria, in command of Capt. Steve Babbidge. She is making a complete survey of this harbor and bar. From here she will go to other harbors on the coast of Southern Oregon and make surveys.

Some Yaquina parties are talking of building a packet to run on the bay. It is rather late for this season. The Richardson can do all the business for a spell yet and then not make millionaires of the owners. The government pile driver on this side is ready for work. The rails on the north tramway are being laid and the north jetty will be pushed out towards the bar quite fast from this on.

The rock at the north point of the bay is to be blown off by the government engineers. This will give a free passage from the bay beach to the ocean beach and will be appreciated by all who wish to ramble.

Nineteen feet is the least water found on the bar by the government surveyor, in running straight lines. The channel winds slightly and if followed the least water would be about 25 feet.

The city officials say that they will cancel all leases on the water front if the parties holding the same do not build wharves when ordered to do so by ordinance.

Capt. Powers will take the Geo. H. Chance to San Francisco. The vessel is ready to sail.

CROP WEATHER BULLETIN.

Following is crop weather bulletin No. 13, issued by the Oregon state weather bureau, in co-operation with the U. S. signal service, central office, Portland, Oregon, for the week ending June 1, 1889: The temperature was decidedly above the average. The rainfall has been below the average, except in Union, Umatilla and adjoining counties, where, owing to storms on the 29th it was above the average. The sunshine has been above the average and very warm. In Weston, Oregon, except a few drops, no rain fell. The effect of these conditions on crops of all kinds has been excellent.

Damage was done in parts of Umatilla county on the 29th by the cloud burst and in the neighborhood of La Grande, Union county, by the thunder storm and hail on the same date. The cloud burst in Umatilla county caused streams to overflow, and in one instance washed away a house and drowned a lady; of the same storm heavy rain and hail fell at LaGrande, the hail was as large as small hen eggs, and in five hours 1.77 inches of rain fell. The railroad track was blocked by landslides. The hail did some damage to crops, but it is thought that the benefit from the rain will outweigh the damage.

Prospects for everything continue to be excellent. A small amount of smut is noticed in the oat crop in Benton county. The strawberry and cherry crop are yielding enormously in all parts of the state. Barley is being harvested and the hay harvest has commenced in many parts. Pruning of fruit trees continues. The trees are so heavily laden that if they were not considerably pruned off injury to them would result.

In Western Oregon the condition and crop prospects are all that can be desired. In Eastern Oregon promising reports are given in all sections. In Morrow county the lamb crop has been extraordinary. Thousands of acres of high-rye bunchgrass land has been sown to wheat and will yield good crops. The temperature in the state ranged from 46 to 76 degrees. A continuation of the favorable condition is all that is needed to make this year a most prosperous one for the tiller of the soil.

B. S. PAGUE, Observer U. S. Signal Service.

Coming to Albany the Fourth.

The boys from Whiteaker are preparing for the celebration here on the coming Fourth. Last Saturday they divided into nineteen on a side and then a sham battle commenced. Several prisoners were taken on each side and the battle was decided a draw by the spectators. After the battle a national volley was fired and a general drill held in the evening.

Do not miss the play by the Chicago Comedy Company to-night.

Last Night's Play.

Another large and appreciative audience greeted the presentation of the thrilling Irish drama, "Erin-a-Chora," by the Chicago Comedy Co. at the opera house last evening. The play was admirably rendered, and the clever acting exhibited throughout the entire evening won the hearty applause of the audience. James A. Devlin as Terrence O'Moore was no less pleasing than in his favorite role as a comedian. Miss Belle Inman, who is a charming actress, delighted the audience last night as Kathleen, while Chas. Patterson as Billy Buttercup won a hearty applause in his song and the real old Irish jig which he introduced. Val E. Love as the villain, and the other members of the company were good. The play concluded with the laughable farce, "To Oblige Benson." To-night will be presented one of the company's best plays, "Ticket-of-Leave-Man." This will be their closing night, and an immense audience will doubtless be present. At the conclusion of the play this evening a social dance will be given. Good music has been engaged, and no charges whatever for the dance will be made.

A Novel Parade.

The children are awaiting with pleasurable anticipation the coming of Sells Brothers and Barrett's united shows. The children's dream of fairyland, exemplified with tiny golden chariots representing the gems of fairy lore—Old Mother Goose, Cinderella, Robinson Crusoe, The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe, Santa Claus, Little Red Riding Hood, Blue Beard and the elfin tally ho coach will tickle the children, as nothing in the way of a circus parade ever did before. It is said that he who makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew before is a philanthropist, and we might add that he who makes glad the hearts of all childhood as they have never before been deserves to be crowned High Priest of Fairyland. Sells Brothers and Barrett will be remembered by the children with gratitude and pleasure. On Wednesday, June 19th, at about 10 o'clock, this great spectacular pageant will appear on our streets.

A WOMAN'S WAX.

Starting Business Proposition. When Mrs. Fowler, of 227 Ellis street, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, would have in dyspepsia and sick headaches, she was assured it would relieve both. She was so incredulous that the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it cured. The following is the convincing conclusion: SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5, 1888. DEAR SIR: Notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have now had a return of either since. You have my permission to make this public, for a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully, Mrs. M. Fowler, 227 Ellis street.
