THE OREGON CENSUS.

The State Will Be Divided Into Two Districts With 200 Enumerators. Superintendent Porter, of the census bureau, and Representative Hermann have been in consultation for some time, as to the advisability of dividing Oregon into one or two districts, and it has finally been concluded to make two districts, dividing the state on the summit of the Cascade range of mountains, which forms Eastern Oregon as one district, with a supervisor of census for it, and Western Oregon as another. There will be, it is estimated, about 200 enumerators for Oregon, who will each have separate divisions, composed of precincts, whose employment will be limited to one month, and who will be allowed $6 per day.

ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT.

The entertainment to be given by the pupils of the Sisters' Academy takes place Thursday evening, June 13. The public have learned from experience how well conducted and enjoyable the academy entertainments are, and a large attendance is therefore to be expected. Following is the programme: Overture—Martha de Flotow, Four pianists. Salutory. Jolly Brothers—Double piano duet. In Nature's Bower—Operetta in two acts, impersonated by forty pupils. Eastern Oregon Waterspout.

A cloud-burst or waterspout occurred on Wednesday at or near the mouth of Antelope creek, a small stream that empties into Crooked river about 13 miles above Prineville. The pour-down extended over the hills to the valley of the Ochoco near the mouth of Mill creek, and soon filled the channel of that stream—the Ochoco—to overflowing, causing some fright among the settlers of that locality, and threatening damage to growing crops. The only damage reported, however, was done on the farm of Mr. J. J. Lawson. The flood washed the soil from a piece of ground that he had summer-fallowed and ran over and washed down a portion of his hay crop. About 11 o'clock that night the Ochoco here in town was booming, the water having risen at least six feet. We learn that portions of the roadway on Crooked river are so washed out as to impede travel in that direction with wagons. It is fortunate that no more damage than that reported was done.

Col. Copeland.

Col. L. F. Copeland delivered his second and last lecture in this city at the opera house last evening, his subject being "The Future of the Republic." The lecture was well attended and those present were delighted, entertained and instructed. Col. Copeland is at once forcible, eloquent and witty. His thoughts are expressed in a flow of clean, pure English, and he leaves his audience with the desire to hear more, instead of a feeling of relief at the lecturer's close, as is too frequently done by public speakers. It is a rare treat to hear a talented orator like Col. Copeland.

Public Lecture.

Mrs. Henrietta Skelton, one of the national organizers of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, will lecture at the W. C. T. U. hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Skelton is an entertaining, forcible speaker and has large experience in the temperance work, and is able to present facts logically. A cordial invitation is extended to the public generally, both ladies and gentlemen.

The State Fair.

The Oregon Board of Agriculture will hold the annual state fair at the fair grounds near Salem, commencing Monday Sept. 16, 1889, and continuing six days. The cash premiums offered for agricultural, stock and mechanical exhibits, for works of art and fancy work, and for trials of speed amount to $15,000.

Change of Captains.

Capt. S. V. Short, who has been captain of the steamer Occident for a long time, has resigned his position and will rest until next fall, when he will take charge of the N. S. Bentley for the Oregon Pacific line. Capt. Miles Bell, heretofore of the Champion, will take Capt. Short's place on the Occident.

After ten years of wandering they are brought home by the Gypsy queen, and are married to two young noblemen, who have also joined the Gypsy band in order to woo the two beautiful maidens. A Will Contest.

An interesting suit in equity is now in progress before County Judge Blackburn in probate. It is the will contest of the late Martin Weather of Tangeit, wherein Mrs. Sarah Larner is the plaintiff. According to the terms of the will the estate valued at $12,000 was left in nearly four equal parts to an only daughter, and to three other more distant relatives who had been raised by the deceased. The daughter has brought suit to set aside the will. The case has been in progress for some time.

Preparing for the Fourth.

Col. T. C. Smith and Major Lovell of Salem were in the city yesterday, and in company with Capt. O. J. Irvine of this city were viewing the grounds for the sham battle on the Fourth of July. They state that a large number of Salem people will come to Albany on the Fourth. Arrangements are being made to make the military display of the day a most interesting feature.

A Novel Parade.

The children are awaiting with pleasurable anticipation the coming of Sells Brothers and Barrett's united shows. The children's dream of fairyland, exemplified with tiny golden chariots representing the gems of fairy lore—Old Mother Goose is Cinderella, Robinson Crusoe, The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe, Santa Claus, Little Red Riding Hood, Blue Beard and the elfin tally ho coach will tickle the children, as nothing in the way of a circus parade ever did before. It is said that he who makes two blades of grass grow where but one grew before is a philanthropist, and we might add that he who makes glad the hearts of all childhood as they have never been before deserves to be crowned High Priest of Fairyland. Sells Brothers and Barrett will be remembered by the children with gratitude and pleasure. On Wednesday, June 10th, at about 10 o'clock, this great spectacular pageant will appear on our streets.
