Those black Neapolitan are sold for $2.00. Fireworks and flags, a nice assortment for the 4th of July. Boys get in early before the assortment is broken. C. H. Spencer. There is now 25 feet of water on the Yaquina bar at 9 feet tides. In a year from now the effect of the north jetty will give at least 30 feet. The Lebanon Express says that J. M. Ralston, banker of that place, has purchased property in Portland and will remove to the metropolis. Soda water from the Waterloo springs, received fresh every week and kept on ice, a most healthful and refreshing drink, at C. H. Spencer's. A dispatch received yesterday by the Farmers and Merchants' Ins. Co. of this city states that their loss in the Seattle fire will be between $8000 and $10,000. San Francisco has decided to give up their proposed celebration this year and donate the funds raised for that purpose to the Johnston and Seattle sufferers. The Red Crown mills will be shut down for a week or two beginning Monday, in order to construct a new flume and place the mills in good condition for the coming busy season's work. Railroad tickets are sold to all points East by F. A. Burkhardt, opposite the First National bank from $5 to $10 cheaper than they can be had over any other line. Call and see him if you want to go East. When considering the magnitude and fearful loss from the Seattle fire the people of this city should not begrudge the sum of money recently paid for the new steam fire engine for Albany Engine Co. No. 1. Greenwood is making very fine cabinet photographs for $2.00 per dozen, and perhaps for less as long as the photo tent remains in the city. Now is your opportunity to secure fine pictures. Each and every picture warranted. The new pumps are being put in at the Magnolia mills, and the water works are running somewhat irregularly in the meantime. As soon as the big pumps are in place the Albany water works will not be surpassed by any in Oregon. Tommy Jones has secured the service of Mr. W. E. THE ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT.

J. Brown, of Portland, Or. Monday evening the music department will give a recital in Villard hall. Tuesday, June 18, reunion of literary societies. Wednesday, June 19, 10 A. M., address before the societies by B. B. Beckman, esq. At 2 P. M., planting class tree. At 3 P. M. the Alumni Association presents the following programme: Instrumental solo—Selected. Invocation—Rev. O. B. Whitmore. Address of welcome—President C. S. Williams, B. S., class of '81. Vocal solo—Selected, Miss Louisa Sawyer. Essay—"Unity of Thought," Miss Lina March, A. B., class of '87. Quartette. Oration—"The Materialism of American Life," George W. Hill, A. M., class of '84. Vocal solo—Selected, Miss Dora Scott. Poem—"The Last Man," Joel N. Fearey, A. M., class of '79. Quartette—"With the Tide," Messrs. Collier, Woodworth, McAlister and McClure. At 7:30 Hon. Henry Villard will deliver the address before the university. Thursday, June 20, is commencement day. The class numbers four this year, viz: Miss Emma C. Dorris, Miss Ada W. Sharples, Mr. Lewis J. Davis and Mr. Frank M. Mulkey. In the afternoon the law graduates will be represented by four members of the class, who will deliver orations. At 8 P. M. the Alumni Association dinner and reunion will be held at the Hoffman house. The Big Circus. A striking example of the result of pluck, energy and honorable dealings is the success of Fells Brothers. Seventeen years ago they embarked in the hazardous, and at that time supposed to be illegitimate, business of running a circus, but by following a straightforward course and applying business rules as is done in the mercantile pursuit they have overcome the many difficulties that beset them, and from poverty to opulence their pathway has been always creditable. No unfulfilled pledges, no broken promises, no disappointments for the people marks a place in the line of their march. This year, more than any former one, will be memorable because of the multiplied attractions that have been added. A daily expense of $300 seventeen years ago has been increased year by year until it now averages over $600 daily, and yet they do not halt. Barrett's big show, in which they were formerly silent partners, has been added entire this season, making for the first time in the history of shows a legitimate and bona fide consolidation of two big, fully equipped shows, united into one vast organization, yet each distinctive feature retained. These two shows will spread a huge cloud of canvas in this city on Wednesday, June 19, and exhibit conjointly for one price of admission. SEATTLE FIRE INSURANCE. Among the Pacific Coast Insurance companies who lose in the Seattle fire are the following: Columbia Fire and Marine, 25 policies for small amounts, aggregating $13,250. Oregon Fire and Marine, 25 policies, aggregating $15,000. Their largest policy is $2500 on Tokias & Singerman. Northwest Fire and Marine, 40 policies, aggregating about $20,000. Their largest loss is on Yester's block and the brick blocks adjoining. Pacific Fire Insurance Company—Estimated amount of policies $5,000. State Investment and Insurance Company, 32 policies, aggregating $33,400. Farmers' and Merchants' Insurance Company, of Albany, 40 policies, aggregating $25,000. The company have reinsured $15,000, so their loss is $10,000. State Insurance Company, of Salem, writes its Seattle policies at the head office, Salem, and the agent there could give no definite information, but thinks the risks are light. Important If True. The writer of note and comment in the Oregonian says: "Railroads are rather arbitrary and don't stop for individual rights always, as is proved by the following incident of the Oregon Pacific: Above Mehama the graders came to a squatter's claim on unsurveyed land, and refused to recognize his rights on that account. They cut down his timber, graded through his land and treated him unscrupulously, notwithstanding his protests. He couldn't show his lines, as they told him to do, but he knew how to write, and by use of pen and ink and a 2-cent stamp, sent a letter to the secretary of the interior. The result was an order from Washington to the U. S. marshal here to serve papers on the company enjoining further extension until a permit is issued and damage adjusted. 'A squatter' has rights, it seems, that no force can recklessly invade. It really is pleasant to realize that the rights of an humble settler in the wilderness can command the attention of the government in this manner." If this is correct it may be that the grievance of the squatter referred to is causing the temporary delay in the commencement of work on the road. Artists' material at Mrs. Hyman's.

ELI PERKINS' BAY SUGGESTIONS.

The Name Yaquina and What It Signifies—Its Indian Origin. Eli Perkins, when in this city, the other day suggested that the name of Yaquina Bay should be changed to that of Oregon Harbor, or Deep Harbor. He did not like the name Yaquina. It savored too much of Indians, he said. It is true that it is an Indian name, and some of the prettiest names on the Pacific Coast came from the Indian language. Eli Perkins has no poetry in his soul or appreciation for the appropriateness of things or he would not have made the suggestion. Yaquina Harbor means black harbor. The name was applied because the water of the river bearing the name of Yaquina for miles above the bay presents an almost an inky color, its blackness being attributable to the large deposits of coal found along the stream in the vicinity of Yaquina. Coal prospectors along the Yaquina river have recently found deposits of pure coal in the bed of the stream, and expert coal miners state that valuable coal deposits exist in the immediate vicinity of the port. It is only a question of time when rich coal fields will be developed there. In view of these facts the name Yaquina is very appropriate, and Eli Perkins is respectfully requested to inform himself before inaugurating a "kick" at our pretty names, derived from the Indian tribes whose interesting and romantic history is intimately connected with the early settlement of the states of the Pacific Coast.
