ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure. The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from disease of the throat and lungs than from any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to pass without attention is dangerous and may cost you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Bosche's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

Neat streets will be opened, and Main street, from the Central Depot to the district which now contains the most pestilential dwelling will be cleaned. It will take ten years to complete the work.

THE SAFETY OF RESERVOIRS. Some Lessons Learned from the Johnston Disaster. Philadelphia Press. The extent of the disaster at Johnston will direct public attention to other reservoirs that may give way, causing death and destruction. There are a great many of them in this country, and, as a rule, they are not properly inspected. There is reason to fear that some of these are not strong enough to sustain the weight of the water that may be precipitated by a storm against them. It is possible to construct a dam that will withstand the frosts and freshets of a century. But this involves such an expense that cheaper methods are generally adopted. This was the cause of the terrible Mill River disaster in Massachusetts in 1874, which resulted in the loss of over 200 lives. In that case the jury found that the engineering work was discreditably and that the contractors had been delinquent, and that even the State legislature was to blame in authorizing the construction of the reservoir without taking proper means

TOO MANY WIVES.

Trouble in the Harem of the Sultan of Turkey. Glasgow Herald. There is a screw loose in Turkey. Some plot or other has been discovered and the consequences are being seen in a number of mysterious arrests and in wholesale measures of punishment against the press. The Times has been three times confiscated within a month and the Daily Chronicle has been interdicted altogether. The fact appears to be that a serious palace conspiracy for deposing the Sultan was detected in the very nick of time. The Sultan was so unnerved by the discovery that he sent for Sir William White and asked for his advice. Sir William answered that the Sultan could only live in safety if he put down his harem, not as a question of morals, but as a matter of policy, seeing that it was impossible to exercise supervision over an establishment of 300 ladies. The Sultan, who is practically a monomaniac, would be glad enough to get rid of the 299 bravet spouses, but the customs of his dynasty forbid him to do this.

On his birthday and on twenty other days in the year he invariably receives from his mother the present of a beautiful slave, and this young lady has forthwith to be transferred to his establishment in the capacity of harem dame, with a household of her own, consisting of at least four eunuchs and six female servants, to say nothing of horses, carriages and grooms. Multiply the number of these households by 300, and it ceases to be astonishing that the expenditure of the Sultan's civil list should amount to £4,000,000 a year. A large item in this sum represents the dowers which the Sultan pays to his slaves when he marries them. To favorite officials about 100 girls are married from the palace yearly, and each of them is entitled to receive £10,000. Unfortunately, the bridegroom who takes a wife from the Sultan's hands must, at his earliest convenience, make a present of a slave to keep the staff of the imperial seraglio up to its proper figure.

The Sultan loathes the whole thing, but what is he to do? There are too many vested interests engaged in keeping the imperial harem supplied with wives, and if the Sultan were to cashier his entire female establishment he would certainly be deposed or murdered. Sir William White is said to have advised His Majesty to reduce his establishment by not filling up the vacancies, but this is not easy, seeing that every cabinet minister and push of note looks to passing his daughter through the Sultan's harem as a means of securing her a marriage portion, with the title of Valide, which may be construed as princess.

The man who would come to the throne if Abdul Hamid were deposed is his brother, Rehad Pasha. This Rehad is virtually a prisoner in Yildiz Kiosk, for he cannot go outside the garden gates without leave, and he never gets permission to take a walk or drive alone. He must always be surrounded by guards as eunuchs. Rehad, however, is a man of modern ideas, and lately fell in love with an English girl whom he met boating on the Bosphorus, and to whom he proposed marriage after a week's acquaintanceship. The Sultan, hearing of this affair, has nipped his brother's suit in the bud by ordering the young lady to leave Constantinople.

Merit Wins. We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never had a remedy that sold as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Foshey & Mason Druggists.
