LUMBERING INTERESTS.

On the North Santiam and Its Immense Forests.

The projection of the Oregon Pacific railroad into the forest regions of the North Santiam has awakened great interest in that region and opened up a country that has almost unlimited resources for lumbering purposes. Already mills are in progress in that section and lively work is being accomplished, but only a commencement has been made. The belief has been common among the residents of that vicinity that local mills only could be supplied with logs from the timber lands along the river and in the adjacent mountains, but competent and experienced men have looked over the ground and have concluded that with little improvement the North Santiam can be made an excellent and perfectly safe stream for running logs into the Willamette, to supply all mills below, as well as the local mills adjacent to the timber. Already plans are being perfected for that purpose, and anticipated for the near future the mills at Oregon City and other places can be supplied with logs from the magnificent forests of the North Santiam. The project is one of importance and its feasibility, if put into practical operation will bring a fine income into the hands of its projectors and workers.

The cars will be completed by August 15th.

The wool growers in the vicinity of McCoy in Polk county "pooled" their wool and last Saturday sold it for 20 cents per pound. They had better brought it to Albany for on the same day a "pool" of their 30,000 pounds was sold here for 22 cents per pound. Aaron Cohen returned Saturday from a trip through the northern portion of the county during which he bought 25,000 pounds, paying from 20 to 22 cents per pound.

A Noble Lady Gone.

On Sunday the message of death came to Mrs. N. M. Woodbridge Geary, widow of Rev. E. R. Geary, at her home in Eugene, and obeying the summons she passed over the dark river to join her illustrious husband who preceded her but a few years. She was a noble lady, full of good works, and highly respected by every one who knew her. The funeral took place in Eugene yesterday.

The Circus To-morrow.

It is now only three days until the appearance of Sells Bros. & Barretts monster united shows in this city. In the race for first money among circuses Sells Bros. will win hands down. They have demonstrated the fact that the best attractions always are the most profitable to the management, and while the other would-be bigshows have been shrinking in size year after year, Sells Brothers' show has been expanding. It is not all luck, as their disappointed rivals assert, it is courage, faith, perseverance and a persistent adherence to fixed principles. Nothing is too expensive for Sells Brothers and "nothing is too good for the public" has been their shibboleth. Of the three recognized legitimate big shows now in existence in this country, Sells Brothers' show is characterized by the virility of its owners, while the others are in "the sere and yellow leaf." One exist on the glory of a faded and decaying name; another by the force of fortuitous circumstances, while Sells Brothers march onward, meritorious, fair and square, upright and honorable, always with the best performance and rarest novelties. This year S. H. Barrett's World's Fair, contemplating a tour of the Pacific Coast and Northwest formed a coalition with Sells Brothers and the two big shows will travel together, exhibiting day and date in the same towns, making their parades at the same hour, and what is more remarkable they will both exhibit under the same canvases for one price of admission, and that too, just the same as other and smaller shows charge. These two shows will exhibit at Albany, Wednesday June 19.

The Entertainment.

Last evening the George Woodthorpe Dramatic Company presented "The Golden Giant" to the largest audience that ever assembled in the Albany opera house. The interesting and thrilling drama was rendered in a style to captivate the entire audience, holding the attention complete, and at times causing the outburst of loud and spontaneous applause. Every part was well apportioned and fully carried out. Miss George Woodthorpe is a charming actress, and as Hestia Fairfax fairly captivated the audience. H. Barvynore, as Alexander Fairfax, the Golden Giant, played with a strength and power that at once won a hearty appreciation. Lou Wood, as Jack Mason, his friend, exhibited some clever acting, while R. Brownson, as Duncan LeMoyno, the villain, was all that could be asked. Miss R. Stover, as Ethel Wayne, won a hearty applause in the rendition of that part. Little George Woodthorpe, as Jack Mason Fairfax, exhibited remarkable talent, and is certainly a wonderful child-actor. The company is a strong one and does not contain a weak member. To-night will be presented "May Blossom." There will doubtless be another crowded house.

A Having Maniac.

The Salem Journal says Ellsworth Day was brought to Salem from the country and committed to the asylum for insane, after an examination before Drs. Jessup and Risdon. The patient came to Oregon about two years ago and lived about four miles east of Salem on the Macleay road. He is but twenty-one years of age and his habits have been temperate until the present attack, which has been of one week's duration, although he has acted strangely for six months. He has an insane sister and the ailment is thought to be hereditary. He imagines he is being pursued by persons who want to kill him, and is violent and seeks to disarm his unseen foe. He attacked his cousin and best friend, Warren White, and gave him a beating. The insane man has been working at George (line's) brick yard until a few days ago. He is very noisy, screaming, raving and tossing constantly.

The hotels of Salem will entertain those attending, during the days of the Association, at reduced rates. Arrangements have been made with the Southern Pacific (lines in Oregon) and the Oregon Pacific railroad companies for reduced rates to those attending, and the usual reduction will be granted. These rates will be open to teachers and others who may wish to attend the Association. A WOMAN'S WAY.

A Startling Business Proposition. When Mrs. Fowler, of 327 Ellis street, stopped in at a leading city druggist's to ask what effect Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla would have on her sick headache, she was assured it would relieve both. She was so incredulous that the druggist gave her a bottle, not to be paid for unless it cured. The following is the convincing conclusion: SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8, 1888.

DEAR SIR: Notwithstanding my misgivings, Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla did all that you promised. I had tried so many prescriptions that I had come to believe nothing would relieve my dyspepsia and sick headaches, but I have not had a return of either since. You have my permission to make this public, for a remedy that will cure dyspepsia and prevent sick headaches should be generally known. Respectfully, Mrs. M. Fowler, 327 Ellis street.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Foshay & Mason, Druggists.
