NARROW GAUGE CONSOLIDATION.

C. P. Huntington's Proposition To Be Acted Upon In Scotland To-morrow.

Wednesday's Oregonian says that yesterday Colonel C. F. Crocker, W. E. Brown, William Reid, C. J. McDougall and John McGuire, directors, together with five other San Francisco capitalists, connected with the Southern Pacific Company, and S. G. Reed and F. C. Smith, of the Oregon Iron & Steel Company, visited the Oswego iron works, and afterwards went to Dundee junction by special train, and to the Willamette river at New Fulquart. On board the steamer City of Salem they had a sumptuous lunch.

They returned to Port and at 3 p. m., when the annual meeting of stockholders of the Portland & Willamette Valley Railroad Company was held which the following directors were elected: C. F. Crocker, William Reid, W. E. Brown, San Francisco; Timothy Hopkins, San Francisco; C. J. McDougall, John McGuire and D. W. Cummins. Thereafter the directors held their meeting and re-elected C. F. Crocker, president; William Reid, vice president and treasurer, and Edwin Wilcox, secretary. No other business was transacted at the meeting.

It is stated that C. P. Huntington's offer to the Oregonian Railway Company, in Scotland, for the consolidation of the Oregonian railway with the Portland & Willamette Valley Railway Company has been favorably considered, and that the bondholders of the former company will meet to-morrow in Scotland to finally accept or reject the Huntington proposition, the terms of which are unobtainable at present.

The Circus.

Sells Bros. & Barnett's united big shows arrived in this city early yesterday morning. At 10 a. m. occurred the grand street parade. It was a pleasing sight and witnessed by a great throng of people from the city and country. Two performances were given in the presence of several thousand people. Without enumerating the different daring acts, to say that the circus was all that had been promised is but the truth. The trapeze performance, riding and tumbling was of a superior order. The little Japs in their wonderful acrobatic performance were objects of much admiration. The many pleasurable sights were witnessed with entire satisfaction by the immense throng present. The horses were in fine condition, and few of the tricks were practiced upon those attending. The menagerie was very complete and was a interesting feature of the show.

State College Cultural College.

The program has been received for the commencement exercises of this institution, which are to take place in the college assembly hall, Corvallis, commencing Friday, June 21st, at 8 p. m. It includes the final meeting of the Adelphean literary society Friday evening; baccalaureate sermon on Sunday by Rev. D. E. Lovedge, of Eugene; entertainment Monday evening at the city hall; on Tuesday meeting of the board of regents and company drill; on Wednesday, delivery of orations and essays by the graduating class; conferring degrees; address to graduates by L. L. McArthur, of Portland, and the alumni reunion. The graduating class numbers fourteen, with Miss Clara Irvine, B. S., salutatorian and J. G. Buchanan, B. S., valedictorian.

A Serious Accident.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Ernest C. Stellmacher and her mother, Mrs. Wm. Morgan, were near this city in a buggy, a lively team from Scio was driven up behind them. The harness of the latter broke in such a way as to allow the horses to separate. They started to run, one horse going on each side of the buggy, which was overturned and the occupants thrown out. Mrs. Stellmacher's collar bone was broken and Mrs. Morgan was severely bruised. A little child of Mrs. Stellmacher's which was with them was uninjured. One of the livery horses had its leg broken. The buggy was broken to pieces. Mrs. Stellmacher's injuries received prompt medical attention. Dr. J. P. Wallace being called, who set the broken bone.

Indian Relics Found.

Link Kirk, and Ballard Tyler, while working on Mr. Kirk's place a mile down the river from Brownsville the other day, found the lower jaw bone, and the humerus bone of a human being. The jaw bone was in a good state of preservation having several teeth on either side. The arm bone was somewhat decayed. Dr. Starr, of Albany made an examination of the bones and gave as his opinion that they were bones of an Indian. They were of very great size, and must have been from a powerful person.

STATE DISPATCHES.

Proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars in Salem.

Salem, June 19.—The grand lodge of Good Templars elected officers to-day as follows: Grand Chief Templar, J. E. Knox, Albany; Grand Councilor John Knight, Salem; Grand Vice Templar, Mrs. E. J. Robinson, The Dalles; Grand Secretary, W. G. Simpson, The Dalles; Grand Treasurer, W. S. James, Portland; Grand Superintendent of the Juvenile Temple, Mrs. E. M. Vandever, Polk county.

Salem was unanimously chosen as the place of meeting for the Grand Lodge in 1890. The matter of purchasing an organ for the Grand Lodge was left in the hands of the executive committee. The per capita of the Grand Lodge dues were increased to 25cts and the charter fee fixed at $1. The Grand Secretary was instructed to let the printing to the lowest bidder. A resolution was adopted favoring the organization of a worthy grand lodge of the United States.

A resolution was introduced pledging the order against the liquor traffic in any form. The resolution was defeated. Articles of incorporation were filed in the secretary of state's office to-day incorporating the following companies: Portland Mercantile Agency; object, to buy and sell real estate and personal property; principal place of business Portland; capital stock, $10,000.

Last Night Play.

"Among the Pines" was played at the opera house last evening by the George Woodthorpe Company to a delighted audience. Miss Woodthorpe as Butterfly, a true hearted mountain girl, won a storm of applause in her charming rendition of the character. Mr. F. A. Cooper in the part of Hop Sing delineated the Chinese character with wonderful perfection and in a manner that brought down the house. Mr. H. Barry More made a capital villain. Mr. Russ Bronsen as Sleuth, Mr. R. E. Franklin as Judge Blossom, Mr. Lou Wood as Bill Hardy and Mr. James Hartow as Mr. Biglow, each exhibited some clever acting. Mr. H. Corbett was an Irishman from the old soil, and fell victim at the hymenial altar through the machinations of Amanda Peppergrass, which Miss Lizzie Lawrence sustained in a pleasing manner. Miss Ream Stover made a graceful Edith Bigelow and brought out all there was in the character. To-night the company will produce the thrilling western play "M'Liss," which is one of their best. This is a strong company composed of artists of merit, and they will doubtless be accorded a large audience this evening.

A Card.

The Democrat having seen fit to attack me personally several times recently, I desire to say their ungentlemanly remarks have been carried far enough. If any man in Albany has any bills against me, I will pay them whenever presented, and have attended strictly to my own business, and when a newspaper or person endeavors to interfere in trouble between man and wife no good can result from it. All I have said concerning this matter is true, and I propose to stay right here in Albany, all efforts to the contrary notwithstanding. J. M. SCHLOSSER.

Coming July 5 and 6.

Geo. R. Lee, advance agent of the Wallace Comedy Company, is in the city arranging for the appearance of this excellent company in this city on the 5th and 6th. Among the members of the party are E. L. Davenport, Jr., Miss Ella Sloan, Sara Bernhart, Miss Emma Melburn, leading lady, Fred R. Ward, comedian, R. F. Fricker, leading tragedian. The company, which numbers fifteen people, is said everywhere to be first-class.

New Printing Press.

The rapid increase in business at C. W. Watts' job office necessitated his purchasing another press, and accordingly he received yesterday through Palmer & Rey a new California jobber. It weighs 2500 pounds and has a running capacity of 2000 impressions per hour. It is fitted with all the modern improvements including a complete line of steam fixtures. The new jobber is a power press, and the new motor works will give the Turck Motor in the state will be better prepared to turn out rapidly all kinds of job printing work.

Leg Broken.

Hon. A. Condra, who lives about six or seven miles southwest from Brownsville, near the Center school house, while coming to town Wednesday says the Brownsville Times, met with a very serious accident. In crossing a bridge, his horse fell through, breaking its leg and throwing Mr. Condra off. He immediately arose and attempted to lead the horse home when it fell upon him and broke his leg. Mr. Condra being an old man and the weather being so hot, it is likely to have a very serious time of it. The county is responsible, as it was caused by the defective bridge.

OBITUARY.

Mr. J. W. Fletcher died at his home, about four miles north-west from town, on June 9th, 1889. Mr. Fletcher was born in Sullivan Co., New Hampshire on the 24th day of October, 1830, where lived until a young man. He then left the scenes of his birth and early boyhood to go out west and make his fortune among the untried prairies of Illinois. Here he settled, and after due course of time formed the acquaintance of and married, Miss Lucy Fletcher, his present wife. After living in Illinois for a number of years he heard of the fertile Willamette Valley, and concluded to move and enjoy the many blessings of the far famed land. Accordingly he bade goodbye to his numerous friends in Illinois and started on the long and tedious journey across the mountain ranges, arriving here in Oregon, in the year 1864 and moved on to a farm, where he has since lived. He made a profession of religion while a young man, but owing to the great distance from church organization in his new home, he never united with any church. He was a man of more than ordinary abilities, having a good education. He taught school for a number of years, after arriving in Oregon and was known to be a very successful teacher. He was a member of the Orange Order, and always stood high as a moral, upright and strictly honest man; was well liked by his acquaintances, and had but very few enemies if any. He was always accommodating, and would gladly lend a helping hand in time of need. He leaves a wife and a daughter and two sons, besides a host of friends to mourn his departure. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. Sperry, after which 34 carriages and a number on horseback formed the procession to his last resting place in the grave yard of the First Baptist church, where he was laid away by the side of a daughter who had preceded him to the grave. The whole community join in extending sympathies to the bereaved family.—Brownsville Times.
