SOLD OUT. HAVING SOLD MY INTEREST IN THE store of general merchandise of the firm of Coshaw & Cable to C. E. Starnard, I wish to call the attention of all who know themselves indebted to Coshaw & Cable to call and settle at once. Having sold out on account of poor health, I expect to change my home for a while, and all accounts not settled before 1st July will be promptly paid. All bills to be paid by collection. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Warning.
The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives each year a number of Tubercle germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention, is a mistake. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Bosch's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

You Cannot Afford.
At this season of the year to be without a good reliable diarrhoea balsam in the house, as cramps, colic, diarrhoea and all inflammation of the stomach and bowels are exceedingly dangerous if not attended to at once. One bottle of BEGG'S DIARRHOEA BALSAM will do more good in cases of this kind than any other medicine on earth. We guarantee it. G. L. Blackman, druggist.

ACCIDENT ON THE COLUMBIA.
The Stricken City of Johnstown in N. J. of Ferris—An Appeal for the Forwarding of Contributions.

ASHLAND, June 27.—A dispatch from West Klamath, Oregon, says: The skeletons of two white men have been found on the Shore of Diamond Lake. One of them was an old and the other a young man. With them were remnants of clothing, a shotgun, rifle, pack saddle, fishing hooks, etc. A diary was found in their persons bearing date of September, 1886. Also a rubber stamp giving the name of Nathan Fubbar, Jacksonville, Or., a postal card, never posted, addressed to Mrs. A. V. Burns, Santa Cruz. The names of several Jacksonville people on papers, which had become somewhat intelligible, were found.

AT JOHNSTOWN.
The Stricken City in Need of All Contributions.

Johnstown, Pa., June 27.—The relief committee has issued an appeal to the country not to delay or withhold contributions for the sufferers. It declares that all money contributions which are being held by mayors of cities and others will in a small degree alleviate the sufferings of the stricken people. It is greatly needed and should be sent at once in order to be most available.

ACCIDENT ON THE COLUMBIA.
The Steamer R. E. Thompson Bursts One of Her Cylinders.

KALAMAZOO, June 27.—When about ten miles above Astoria this morning the steamer R. E. Thompson burst one of her cylinders, and piston and connecting rod, running it completely. Chief Engineer Fuller narrowly escaped being hit by a large piece of cast iron, which was blown out. The Lurline took the Thompson in tow, but, meeting the Willamette Chief soon after, turned the disabled boat over to her and took the mail for way points and Portland and passengers and proceeded to Portland.

RESENT AT EAST.
For a year I was troubled with pains in my back and side, and headaches, the result of liver and kidney trouble. I was attracted to Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla, by the startling testimonials in the papers. They seemed so practical I was induced to try it, knowing that as it was purely vegetable, it would do no harm. It acted as a gentle laxative. After the second bottle my pains and aches disappeared. It did so much for me that I sent several bottles to my family in New Jersey, who also took it with the most satisfactory results.

A NOVEL PERFORMANCE.
"As You Like It" Played at Wellesley College.

The Shakespeare society of Wellesley college gave a novel performance of "As You Like It" recently on the lawn, both the male and female characters being taken by students of the college, who are a young ladies. The weather was favorable for the successful carrying out of the undertaking, the sun being partially obscured and the atmosphere mild and agreeable. The scenic arrangement was perfect in its natural beauty without the need of painted scenery, palms or evergreens, or any of the aids which even in the few out-of-door representations of "As You Like It" have been necessary. The slopes of Longfellow fountain were chosen for the theater. At one end of the pond a green sloping bank was the stage. Tall oaks rising from the smooth turn made the forest of Arden. Never had a stage a more pleasing background. A fresh green grove, as painted trees upon canvas, covered the ground to Lake Wabob, which gleamed like a line of silver not far away.

How an Officer Proved His Courage
Philadelphia Press.

In 1777, during the revolutionary war, an officer in Virginia having unintentionally offended another received a challenge to fight a duel. He returned an answer that he would not fight for three reasons: First, not having committed any fault, he would not expose his life to gratify the caprice of an impetuous man; second, that he had a wife and children who were dear to him, and he would not do them such an injustice as to run the chance of plunging them into misery; and, third, as his life was devoted to the service of king and country, it would be a violation both of moral and civil duty to risk it in a private quarrel.

In consequence of his refusal his antagonist posted him as a coward, and he had the mortification of seeing himself shunned by all his brother officers. Knowing he had not merited such disgrace, he resolved to put an end to it, and having furnished himself with a large grenade, he went to the mess-room where the officers were assembled. On his entrance they looked on him with disdain, and one of them said: "We don't associate with cowards." "Gentlemen," replied he, "I am no more a coward than any one of you, though I am not such a fool as to forget my duty to my country and to my family. As to real danger, we shall soon see who fears it the least." So saying he lighted the fuse of the grenade and threw it among them; then, crossing his arms, calmly awaited the explosion. The frightened officers rose and ran toward the door in the greatest confusion. The moment the room was cleared he threw himself flat on the floor and the grenade exploded, shattering the walls and the ceiling, but doing him no harm. After the explosion the fugitives ventured into the room, expecting to see the officer torn to pieces, but were welcomed instead with a hearty laugh. From that moment they ceased to shun him.

Baron Fava's Talented Son.
As a rule the sons of members of the diplomatic corps are of very little use, except as dancing men. But Professor Fava, the son of Baron Fava, the Italian minister, is an honorable exception. Though not yet 30, he is a recognized authority on sanitary questions, and though only a year or two in this country speaks English as well as that he has been lecturing at the Columbia university in Washington on sanitary science to audiences which probably never stopped to ask whether he was not an American. For, best of all, he does not trade on his father's position, and no one would know from him that he was born in an Italian palace.

HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA.
Look Out for Nasal Obstruction and Enlarged Tonsils.

Medical Classics.
The best possible cure for pneumonia is the ounce of prevention. Nasal obstruction and enlarged tonsils should receive immediate attention and radical treatment when necessary. The nose has within its channels elements for clearing the air of foreign particles and warming it for the lungs. Any nasal occlusion compels the air to be taken in by the mouth—a most pernicious habit that of necessity affects the general health, causing "wheezing" of the chest, premature decay of the teeth, and limits the air supply and lung capacity.

Wherever breaths through the mouth invites pneumonia. It is of the greatest importance that every inch of lung tissue should be in a relatively perfect condition. The sum of all the little spaces where air meets the blood is equal to two enormous acres—150 square yards. Each breath may be bringing in from the external atmosphere a mass of the deleterious material, seeking some weak spot to gain a foothold. This weak place cannot exist without danger to health. The entire blood current comes to the lungs to obtain from the outside world the life giving principle. This 150 square yards of tissue requires a supply of pure oxygen over 1000 times every hour. When children play, race and romp, the lungs are filled in every part and this very exercise of filling them strengthens their substance. Brisk walking, with deep inspirations and the mouth closed, helps sweep out the products of waste. Everything that expands the chest, as tennis, rowing, fencing, etc., is an antidote to possible pneumonia.

Haytian Naval Discipline.
New York Herald.

As an example of the lack of discipline on board the vessels of the Haytian navy, Mr. Palmer relates the following amusing incident: The Desalines had just returned from a cruise anchored off Port au Prince, and to the shore. She was moonlight and the principal guests were lounging. Accustomed to custom, the man of war prepared to fire one gun to announce her anchoring, and as the big ten-inch gun was loaded with blank cartridge, the gunners simply pulled out the tampion and blazed away. In an instant the air was filled with missiles of some nature, and the guests in front of the hotel fled in terror. It was afterward discovered that one of the cooks had stored a basket of knives, forks, spoons and tin pots into the gun, and these had bombarded the hotel.

"You know that soda water man, I see, Alfred."
"No my dear, I never saw him before."
"Well, you were very familiar for a stranger, it seems to me. I saw you wink at him."—Chicago Herald.
