OVER THE WIRES.

A Formidable Labor Organization Effected.

HEAVY FIRE AT FRESNO.

An Attempt to Assassinate the Emperor of Brazil: The Mysterious White-chapel Murders.

The Herald Special Dispatches.] CHICAGO, July 17.—A local paper says that a circular has been issued that bears the signature of the chief of the first of the principal labor organizations in the United States, including the Knights of Labor, the federation of labor and brotherhood of carpenters and joiners. It proposes an alliance of all labor organizations in the country. If the alliance is realized it will be by far the most formidable labor organization that ever existed in the United States or elsewhere.

FIRE AT FRESNO.

A Hotel and Livery Stable Burned—Loss, $40,000.

FRESNO, Cal., July 17.—A fire started in the stable next to the Russ hotel this morning at a quarter to 4 o'clock. The livery stable and contents, including many horses and vehicles, were destroyed. The flames spread to the Russ hotel and quickly burned the building to the ground. Indications are that it was of incendiary origin. The loss will reach about $40,000.

A WHITECHAPEL MURDER.

The Mysterious Murder in Which "Jack, the Ripper," Works.

LONDON, July 17.—The woman whose body was found in the Whitechapel district last night, was a middle-aged prostitute. Her throat was cut to the spine. The body was lying on the back, the clothing being thrown up, exposing the abdomen, which was gashed in a horrible manner in several places, though the intestines were not exposed. No part of the body is missing. Blood was flowing from the wounds. A policeman who was with the watchman of an adjacent warehouse must have been within a few yards of the spot where the woman was.

LONDON, July 17.—It is stated that a letter was received by the police before last night's murder in Whitechapel, signed "Jack, the Ripper," in which the writer said he was about to resume work.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

A Portuguese Villain Attempts to Shoot the Emperor of Brazil.

RIO JANEIRO, July 17.—The emperor of Brazil attended a theatrical performance last night, and as he was leaving at the conclusion a Portuguese fired a shot at him but the bullet missed its mark. The would-be assassin was arrested.

Disarming an Unseen foe.

"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unwholesome vegetation impregnate the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malarious localities, for it is a certain bulwark of defense against which the enemy's powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

Files' Indian File!

Dr. William's Indian File Ointment is a first-class remedy for all kinds of itching piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old cases of long standing.

Judge Coons, Maysville, Ky., says: "Dr. Williams' Indian File Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Dr. Fossay, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr. Williams' Indian File Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c and $1 per box. Sold by Foshay & Mason, Albany, Oregon.

An Absolute Cure

The Original Abietine Ointment is only put up in large two-ounce tin boxes, and is an absolute cure for old sores, burns, wounds, chapped hands, and all skin eruptions, is electrically curative of all kinds of piles. Ask for the Original Abietine Ointment. Sold by Foshay & Mason at 25 cents per box, by mail, 30 cents.

The Verdict Unanimous

W. D. Snit, Druggist, Hibbiss, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at Foshay & Mason's Drugstore.

STANLEY'S LIFE.

Additional Particulars about the Youth of the Explorer.

A correspondent of the Western Mail, writing from St. Asaph, furnishes some further interesting particulars of the early years of B. M. Stanley. When young Rowlands, as Stanley was, of course, known before he was adopted by the gentleman who took him to America—attended the St. Asaph Union School, the schoolmaster had so high an opinion of him that he used to put him in charge of the schoolboys during his absence. The boy was quite equal to the task of maintaining discipline. He would allow no one to question his authority. Rather than suffer any one to take liberties with him he would give the boys a good thrashing all around, and this he used to do so effectually that no boy was bold enough to dispute his authority. The boy was particularly fond of Geography and arithmetic, and seemed never so happy as when, pointer in hand, he was allowed to ramble at his own sweet will over the face of the map. He seemed to his fellow pupils to have the latitude and longitude of each place at his fingers' ends. He was also a good penman, and on this account was often selected by the porter to enter the names of visitors in a book kept for that purpose, and at times he was even invited into the clerk's office to help with the accounts.

"T. L. W." says that having searched the books at the workhouse in order to find if there are any traces of Stanley there, he discovered among the entries the name of John Rowlands some eight times. The first entry is that of his admission to the house, which took place on February 20, 1847. He is entered as belonging to the parish of Denbigh, and having been born in 1841 (this date, by the way, tallies exactly with Dr. Pierce's account). His name next occurs in the list of inmates for the years 1851-56. Previous to this no list of names for each year was made out. Only the names of those who were admitted or discharged during the year were registered. The last entry is dated May 13, 1856, and is the time when he finally left the workhouse. He is there reported to have "gone to his uncle at the National School, Holywell." Other books, such as the reporter's report books and the clerk's account books, may throw additional light upon the early days of Stanley.

TYPESETTING BY MACHINERY.

Description of a New Process Used in England.

The London Globe, describing a new typesetting machine, says: As the operator works the keys the line of print is formed before him, so that corrections may be made at once. As each impress of his finger a sheet of brass, with its proper letter in the center, slips into its place, and at the same time exposes a character on the edge visible to the workman. Then as soon as the line is completed, it is seized and automatically "justified." Then it is carried to a little frame to be stereotyped, the line being finally thrust out on a ledge after being cast. The types are then automatically distributed. It seems slow to read, but is not so in reality, as the processes proceed simultaneously, the typesetter's work on the key-being scarcely interrupted. Of course one wants to see such an invention at work for a length of time in a printing office before pronouncing a final opinion upon it, as no test is quite so good as that of practical work, and it has not yet been introduced into the office of an English paper; but if what the inventor tells me of its speed be correct, and if it can be made, as he says, for something between £150 and £200, there is no doubt of its being a very useful as well as a wonderful invention.

BUFFALO CATCH.

Several Herd of the Rare Animals Secured by a Party.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 16.—Steve and Wilson Williams, ranchmen at Rockdale, Carson county, are here for recreation after an exciting and profitable buffalo hunt on the Red Desert, 80 miles from Huntington. The presence of a herd of bison at this place has been known for years, but the topography of the country made the capture of rare animals exceedingly difficult. The Williams brothers employed as their assistants two cow-boys who were fearless riders and skilled in the use of the lariat. As mounts they selected powerful horses of great speed and proven endurance. The chase lasted the greater portion of three days, and was a series of adventures. Two full-grown cows were captured the first day, a big bull the next, while another bull and pair of females rewarded the persevering hunters the third day. Hunters say there are between forty and fifty full grown bison and a few calves in the herd. They have been offered five hundred dollars each for their prizes, but demand more.

Fortunate Druggist.

Dr. Wm. W. Joy a prosperous druggist at the corner of Stockton and Market streets, in San Francisco, probably never dreamed of rivaling in wealth the medicine kings of the country. But various rumors have been floating around to the effect that he has struck it big, an Evening reporter was detailed to unearth the cause.

It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of Botany, located in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet he few cases that came to him attracted no little attention. His great success seemed to be the treatment of liver and kidney disorders and vitiated blood. He seemed almost infallible, and his well-kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure Mr. Joy determined to fathom the secret, and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor, he began a systematic analysis. He discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California so simple and so well known under home-grown names that every school boy as to entirely dispense the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however, was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to disguise the taste, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Immediately the same stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it has created has already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. And thus another California industry leaps into existence.—S. F. Examiner.

The "Pacific Argand" ranges from four and six holes. An Eastern stove made especially for this coast's trade. Sold only by Geo. W. Smith, Albany.

A NASAL INSECTOR FREE with each bottle of Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy. Price 50 cents Foshay & Mason.

This morning I will receive a good supply of blackberries, string beans, plums, cabbage, onions, etc. Orders solicited. F. L. Kenton.

ABOUT OREGON.

The Pacific Coast Superior to the Atlantic.

MOST AGREEABLE CLIMATE.

The Willamette Valley, with Albany as the Center, the Paradise of Fruit and Grain Growers.

The following letter from Prof. Willis, of the Dalles academy, is found in the Orange (Virginia) Observer:

Dear Observer:—I see your Texas correspondent's glowing letter about the advantages of the "Lone Star State," and it suggests to me to write something about Oregon. There are now on immense tide of immigration to Oregon and Washington, several thousand per day for some time during spring, but probably a little less now. The cold climate of the northern tier of states from Dakota east drives thousands of persons to seek the balmy breezes of the Pacific slope, and really it is hard to find a climate more pleasant than this. The winters and summers are short and mild, and the springs and autumns are long. Last winter we had here less than three inches of snow in all, but this an unusually mild winter. Generally there is snow enough for sleighing once or twice—i. e. in Eastern Oregon and Washington. West of the Cascade mountains snow is uncommon.

The Pacific coast is not low and swampy, like the Atlantic, but the mountains come right down to the ocean, and hence there is scarcely any malarial.

Oregon is a fine state for grain, fruit, and stock-raising; and a great deal of money is made here from each of these occupations. Grain and stock are raised in nearly all parts of the state, and fruit-raising is also quite extensive; but the Willamette valley in Western Oregon, with Albany as a center, is said to be the paradise of fruit-growers.

This business has not been developed here yet, as it has been in California; and fruit lands whose real value is fully equal to those of California, command a comparatively small price. During my travels in California last year I found unimproved fruit land generally selling at $100 to $200 per acre, while in the Willamette valley of Oregon it is now worth $10 to $50 per acre.

There is an immense profit in these lands, when the fruit is produced; and people are now taking advantage of this here and setting out large orchards of peaches, pear, cherries, plums, peaches, and apples. In California an acre of good fruit-land with trees five years old is worth from $500 to $1000 in a fair location; and this is not unreasonably, when a single crop from this acre sells at $200 to $400.

The same profit can be made in Oregon in the fruit, and in the increased value of the land, and greater profit, because in this region are so many below the water level. In Oregon peaches and small pears are most profitable, since both command a good price and bear shipment well. The Pacific coast peaches are greatly superior to others raised in our country, and hence the demand for them in Eastern markets.

It is safe to say that a farmer here can easily make $5,000 where he can make $1 in Virginia, and so other places of the same nature, and so early and good seasons were are better paid than in the Atlantic slope or Mississippi valley. These practical advantages, together with the grand scenery make this section wonderfully attractive.

R. H. WILLIS.
