An Argument in Favor of Passage of Chinese.

SUFFOCATED IN A WINE TANK

Blaine's Health Good—Weather Report—President of France to Give a Dinner.

[The HERALD Special Dispatches.]

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Tweed, representing the Southern Pacific, made an argument before Secretary Windom yesterday, in favor of the transit through the United States territory of twelve Chinamen who recently arrived at New Orleans en route to China, via San Francisco. The collector of that port, regarding them as laborers within the meaning of the exclusion act, refused to allow them to land. The decision was reserved.

Both were taken from the tank dead.

A Fortunate Druggist.

Mr. Edwin W. Joy a prosperous druggist on the corner of Stockton and Market streets, in San Francisco, probably never dreamed of rivaling in wealth the medicine kings of the country. But various rumors having been floating around to the effect that he has struck it big, an Examiner reporter was detailed to unearth the cause.

It seems that about seven years ago an English physician, a great student of Botany, located in this city. His practice was not extensive, and yet the few cases that came to him attracted no little attention. His great success seemed to be in the treatment of liver and kidney disorders and vitiated blood. He seemed almost infallible, and his well-kept secret was as much a mystery as himself. After his departure Mr. Joy determined to fathom the secret, and copying all the prescriptions he had filled for the erratic doctor, he began a systematic analysis. He discovered running all through the prescriptions for liver and kidney troubles, vitiated blood and stomach disorders a couple of vegetable extracts indigenous to California so simple and so well known under homely every day names to every school boy as to entirely dissipate the suspicion that they were the active principles involved. So certain, however, was Mr. Joy that he had discovered the secret that he embodied the new elements in a preparation of Sarsaparilla to disguise the taste, and put it before his customers under the modest name of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. Immediately the same stories came back of its astonishing effects, and the mystery was solved, and the talk it has created has already caused it to step into prominence, and orders pour in daily from all over the coast. And thus another California industry leaps into existence.—S. F. Examiner.

CHINESE IN TRANSIT.

Huntington as a Friend of the Migratory Coolie.

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Acting Secretary Batchelder is in telegraphic correspondence with C. P. Huntington, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, to-day, in regard to the twelve Chinese coolies who recently arrived at New Orleans en route to China via San Francisco. The Collector held that their landing was prohibited by the Chinese Exclusion act, while the railroad company contended that they were entitled to the privilege of transit through United States territory as tourists.

Acting Secretary Batchelder informed Mr. Huntington that the Collector's action was in accordance with a previous decision of the department, but that he would comply with the request of the Transportation Company to postpone further action until the question can be presented in a diplomatic way through the Chinese Legation at Washington. In the mean time the Collector was instructed to detain, but not to allow them to land.

WHY THEY WEAR DIAMONDS.

The Hotel Clerk Says it Gives a Look of Prosperity.

Boston Herald.

"That's all right about joking the hotel clerks about their big diamonds," said the hotel clerk as he reached over the desk as though he intended to grab the writer. "I honestly think that when newspaper men have to write a four or five-line joke to fill in they tackle the hotel man and his diamonds. Well, if there is a class of people in all this wold who ought to wear diamonds, they are the hotel clerks. They are an all suffering class as sure as you live. Why, if they were threated right they would be presented by admiring friends with diamonds and watches galore, day in and day out through the entire year.

"Now, let me give you a pointer on how the clerks all seem to hitch on to diamonds. The hotel clerk takes to the glittering stones like a duck takes to water. Now, the proprietor of the hotel wants the man who stands behind the desk to be as neat as a pin. It gives the house a standing. You cannot think of a hotel clerk in Boston who is not a well dressed man. They must dress well, and if they did not the trade would begin to fall off. Then, to make things stronger, the clerk must of necessity wear diamonds. This is to give the house an air of prosperity which it would not otherwise have, perhaps. The proprietors want their men to wear precious stones. It gives the guests a chance to say, 'Well, these fellows are pretty well paid, and the house must be doing a pretty good business when they all wear 'em.' So you can see why it is that the moment a man gets a position as hotel clerk he at once goes hustling and buys a diamond. It's a part of the business."

Disarming an Unseen Foe.

"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unwholesome vegetation impregnater the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malaria-cursed localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy is powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and billious ailments.

Merit Wins

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Dicovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Foshay & Mason Druggists.

Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs producing consumption and to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

GEORGE GOULD'S WOOING.

The Story of His Admiration for Miss Kingdon.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The story of George Gould's courtship of Miss Edith Kingdon is known in some of its main features, and yet there are phases of it of a lively interest in themselves not so fully displayed to the outside world.

A well-known actor who traveled with Miss Kingdon when she was on the road in the West previous to her engagement by Augustin Daly recently entertained a few friends with a recital of what he termed a true story of the affair.

According to this narrative young Mr. Gould first set his eyes on Miss Kingdon over the footlights of Daly's theater. She was playing a dashing part, in which her natural buoyancy, nerve and chic had full play, and these made a deep impression on the young financier. He determined to have an introduction. He sought it through a well-known dramatic manager and dealer in plays, and by him the desired event was brought about. The admiration proved mutual and the devotion pronounced on either side.

There was one obstacle in the way of unalloyed happiness during the engagement that followed, and that was Miss Kingdon's mother. That lady is the shrewdest kind of a woman, and the story told of her generally is that she kept a regular major domo eye on her daughter throughout her career upon the stage. She always chaperoned Miss Edith, and always found it convenient to join her daughter whenever she received callers, especially male ones.

The consequence was that young Mr. Gould longed for a short engagement and a swift marriage. How he succeeded in gratifying his desires in that line is now a matter of history. He makes a devoted husband and she a devoted wife. They have had two children.
