EAST OF THE ROCKIES

Appointments to be Made by President Harrison.

STILL AFTER JAKE KILRAIN.

Trial Trip of a New American Steamship—News from the East and Old World.

The Herald's Special Dispatches.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—The president has decided upon the appointment of Madison M. Hurley, of New Albany, Ind., as third auditor of the treasury, vice Colonel Williams, resigned. Hurley was formerly postmaster at New Albany.

KILRAIN ELUDES OFFICERS.
An Attempt to Arrest Him Proves a Complete Failure.

BALTIMORE, July 20.—Detective Norris, who has spent the last two days in New York looking for Mitchell and Pony Moore, arrived here this morning to arrest Jake Kilrain and Johnnie Murphy. He handed Marshal Frey the requisition papers signed by the governor of Mississippi. The marshal said the requisition was useless, as it did not specify the state of Maryland or bear the countersign of Governor Jackson. Norris went to Jake's house, but he had been spirited away by his friends.

THE WHITECHAPEL MURDER.
The Name of the Man Who Has Committed All the Crimes.

LONDON, July 20.—The name of the man arrested yesterday on suspicion of being the Whitechapel murderer, is William Brodie. He was arraigned before a police magistrate this morning. It is stated that the confession made by him to the police is true. The prisoner was remanded for a week.

The Dervish War.
CAIRO, July 20.—A reconnoitering party from Wady Halfa found the Dervishes occupying a good position. It is learned that they have been reinforced by 1000 men. The British troops at Assuan, numbering 150, are considered strong enough to attack the Dervishes.

John L. Sullivan.
NEW YORK, July 20.—John L. Sullivan slept late this morning. A miscellaneous host of callers were turned away from Vanderbilt's hotel, where he is stopping. He will probably start some time to-day for Boston.

New Steamship.
SOUTHAMPTON, July 20.—The Hamburg-American packet company's new steamer Columbia from Hamburg sailed this morning on her first trip to New York.

Steamship Arrived.
BREMENHAVEN, July 20.—The steamer Aller arrived this morning from New York.

READS LIKE ROMANCE.
The Story of a Millionaire's Marriage to a Flood Survivor.

Philadelphia Record.
 Fiction could not furnish a more romantic marriage than that of Edward Levy, an Omaha millionaire, and Angie Fackler, a survivor of the terrible Johnstown flood, which was solemnized by Rev. Charles G. Fisher at his residence, 1614 Wallace street, on a recent morning. The bride, who is past 50 years of age, narrowly escaped death in her efforts to meet her sixty-year-old lover, who had traveled nearly 2000 miles to make her his wife.

About thirty years ago the couple became acquainted in Johnstown, where both lived, and after a courtship of five years Mr. Levy left for the West to make a fortune. He became a millionaire, and recently returned to keep his plighted faith. The faithful lovers arranged to meet at the house of Rev. Mr. Fisher of this city, with whose wife both were very well acquainted, on the 1st of June and he married there. According to this agreement Mr. Levy arrived in this city on the day appointed and proceeded to Mr. Fisher's residence to meet his intended bride. She had not arrived, and when he had been informed of the terrible flood at Johnstown on the day previous he became almost distracted. Miss Fackler had sent word that she would start for this city on the day express which met such luckless fate, and when the news of the disaster to that train reached Mr. Levy he became convinced that the bride, to meet whom he had come so far and for whom he had waited so many years, had been lost.

For a week no news of the intended bride came, but one happy day brought the glad tidings that she was saved, but was penniless. This latter misfortune was of no moment under the circumstances, and as soon as possible Miss Fackler was brought to this city, when she related a truthful personal experience in the deluged city. She had made every preparation to catch the ill-fated day express on Friday evening, May 31st, but the rising waters fortunately kept her in her brother's house.

Just as the great rush of water came her brother rushed in, and pushing her up stairs, told her to run for her life to the top floor. She had barely reached the highest story when the water from Cone-mough lake was upon them. She was saved, but with her brother's family remained prisoners in the attic of the house without food of any kind until Sunday. After the water had receded the family climbed out and over the roofs of demolished houses to safety and found shelter with friends.

A handsome trossseau, which had been prepared by Miss Fackler for her marriage, was swept away, and she was left with nothing except the clothes upon her back.

The bride arrived in this city a few days ago, and immediately set about to have a new trossseau prepared. The marriage was solemnized yesterday privately, only a few of the friends of the contracting parties being present. After the ceremony the happy pair left the city for Mr. Levy's Omaha residence, where they will make their future home.

A VERY PLEASING SIGHT.

She is fairer than a lily,
 And ab's sweeter than a rose;
 And she kneezed the neighbors silly
 When she wielded the garden hose.
 Skiff's her skirts from danger
 With her left hand, while her right
 Grasps the nozzle, and the stranger
 Gets a very pleasing sight.

The neighbors' eyes all twinkle
 And their interest daily grows,
 For they like to see her sprinkle
 And they like to see the hose,—Harper

TALK OF THE DAY.
 Never black your teacher's eye. It might endanger his pupil.
 A man never knows that a woman has any old clothes until he has married her.

If some men were half as big as they think they are the world would have to be enlarged.

The whole truth—Caller—"Budget, is your master in yet?" Bridget—"No, sorr, he's out on bail."

As the butcher adds his hand to the weight of the steak he piously sighs to himself, "I love to steal, awhile, a weigh."

Would do as Well—Timid youth—"I have a poem and I want to see the editor." Office boy—"The editor is busy. I'll do just as well. I'm on my way to the waste-basket now."

A Desirable Forfeit—"Will you eat a philopona with me, Miss Emily?" "What if I lose?" "Then I win a kiss." "And if I win?" "Then I have to kiss you."

Bride—"George, dear, when we reach town let us try to avoid leaving the impression that we are newly married." "All right, Daisy; you can lug this valise."

"Do you see that man? That is Pharaoh Banks, the successful gambler." "Indeed? They say his skill with cards absolutely beggars description." "I shouldn't wonder if it did. It beggars every one he plays with."

A Trifling Mistake.—Proof-reader—"See here, you've set up the population of this city 10,000,000 instead of 1,000,000." Tramp Printer (from the west)—"Hub! You eastern folks is almighty particular, seems to me."

Tom—"I tell you, men may prate as they please of the extravagance of women, but she can dress on a sum that would keep a man looking shabby." Jim—"I believe you there, my boy. The sum that my wife dresses on keeps me looking shabby enough."

High-Priced Clothing.—Visitor (to Bobby)—"That's a beautiful new pair trousers you've got, Bobby." Bobby—"Yes; pa said he paid $15 for them." Visitor—"Isn't that a big price, Bobby, to pay for a little boy's trousers?" Bobby—"I s'pose so; but he meant when he bought 'em for himself."

A Slight Interruption.—Rev. Mr. Withers—"Conversation at table should be of a light and cheerful nature. It aids digestion and stimulates the appetite. Mr. Hendricks—"Yes, indeed; I have always thought so myself. Bobby, take your elbows off the table instantly or I'll send you upstairs to bed."

Showering an Unseen Fer.—"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unwholesome vegetation impregnate the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive forces that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malaria-cursed localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy's powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

FARMERS STARVING.

An Appalling Condition of Things in Canada.

CROPS AN ENTIRE FAILURE.

Farmers Along the Canadian Northwest Driven by Hunger to Subsist Upon Mice—A Shocking Recital.

Special to the Herald.
GRANTON (Dak.), July 20.—Crops in the Canadian Northwest along the Dakota line are in a bad shape. The farmers are almost destitute, and some instances are reported where they are subsisting on field mice and gophers. In the Canadian Northwest proper the crops are an entire failure. A party of emigrants from the Souris country traveled 200 miles through a well settled country on the Canadian side without seeing any crops, and say that a great many settlers are leaving their land to drive their cattle to the timbered country on this side. Some families look famine stricken and have eaten nothing but potatoes and turnips for some months.

State Teachers Reading Circle.
 Following is an outline of the plan of organization of the Oregon State Teachers' Reading Circle.

State Superintendent E. B. McElroy, of Salem, is president and has general supervision of the workings of the circle.

Frank Rigler, of Oregon City, is secretary and treasurer. To him all communications are to be addressed and all moneys forwarded.

The county superintendents constitute an executive board, to meet once per year at the time and place fixed for the State Teachers' Association.

Any teacher or friend of education can become a member by handing his name to the School Superintendent of his county, accompanied by the annual membership fee of fifty cents. Such names and fees are to be forwarded to the secretary.

The books adopted for the year 1889-90 are Welch's "Teachers' Psychology," Baldwin's "School Management" and "Washington and his Country" by Irving and Fiske. The secretary is now in correspondence with the publishers of these works to obtain the lowest possible rates for those persons to whose membership he certifies. Due notice will be given members of the best and cheapest way of obtaining the books.

The reading year consists of eight months, beginning September 1 of each year and ending May 1 of the year following. Monthly outlines of the reading in the various branches will be sent out in advance from the office of the secretary to each member of the circle. At the close of the year a series of questions on each subject will be distributed in the same way. Complete answers to the same are to be mailed to the secretary. All members whose answers indicate an attentive perusal of the works adopted will be credited on the secretary's book with one year's reading, and their names reported to the executive board at its annual meeting. Two years constitute the course; those who complete it satisfactorily will receive a suitable certificate to that effect.

Files! Files! Files!
 Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for blind, bleeding or itching piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old cases of long standing.

Judge Coons, Mayville, Ky., says: "Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Judge Coffin, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c and $1 per box. Sold by Foshay & Mason, Albany, Oregon.

Not a California Bear.
 Anybody can catch a cold this kind of weather. The trouble is to let go, like the man who caught the bear. We advise our readers to purchase of Foshay & Mason a bottle of Santa Able, the California King of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs and Croup Cures, and keep it handy. "Tis pleasing to the taste and death to the above complaints." Sold at $1.00 a bottle or 3 for $2.50. California Catarrh gives immediate relief. The Catarrh virus is soon displaced by its healing and penetrating nature. Give it a trial. Six months treatment $1.00, sent by mail $1.10.
