Burkhardt returned yesterday from Blair, Nebraska, having in custody Sylvester Nicholls, the absconding street railway sub-contractor, whom he had arrested there on a charge of the larceny of six horses, upon which he had given a chattel mortgage, afterwards skipping out with them to Nebraska. He had borrowed $300 there upon the horses, giving another mortgage. Nicholls says he was induced into running away by his partner, W. J. Martin, who it seems is nearly as guilty as Nicholls. The latter says this is his first crime, and that he did not intend at first to take the horses away. He will be examined before Justice Humphrey at 9 A. M. to-day.

Death of Mrs. John Waters. Mrs. Florence Waters, wife of John H. Waters, a prominent resident of Brownsville, died very suddenly at her home in that place at 4 o'clock Monday morning from the effects of a congestive chill. She had been in usual health up to a few hours preceding her death. She was a daughter of Hon. John Brown, and was one of Linn County's noble women. Her husband will have the profound sympathy of his many friends in his deep affliction.

DEATH OF THOMAS MONTEITH.

One of Albany's Earliest Pioneer Residents Passes Away at His Home in this City.

On Sunday morning Mr. Thomas Monteith, Sr., one of Albany's earliest pioneer residents, passed quietly away at his home on Ferry street, after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Monteith was of Scottish ancestry, and was born at Mayfield, Finton county, New York, on March 23, 1824, being 65 years old at the time of his death. In company with his brother, Walter Monteith, and Samuel Althouse, both now deceased, he came to Linn county in 1847. In the spring of 1848 they purchased of Hiram Smead the townsite of Albany, paying him for his "squatter's right" $400, and laid the same off in town lots, and in 1849 commenced the erection of the first frame house ever built in Albany, which still stand at the corner of Second and Washington streets, and is often pointed out to strangers as a relic of the city's early history.

On June 29, 1854, he was united in marriage to Miss Christine J. Dunbar, his estimable wife, who together with four children, Arch Monteith, Mrs. Lottie Pipe, Thomas Monteith, Jr., and Miss Tina Monteith, are left to mourn the loss of a kind husband and noble-hearted parent. He was the youngest brother of a family of ten children, seven sons and three daughters. Five of these brothers have fallen in Oregon, and one brother and two sisters are still living. They are David Monteith, of New York, Mrs. Belle Fee, of Idaho, and Mrs. Mary Callaway, of Cheney, W. T.

He was kind-hearted, and also endowed with remarkable physical strength, being fearless and brave. While crossing the plains in 1847, two young men who rode in advance of the company, in passing the Rocky Mountains, were met by a cougar which stopped them in the trail. When the party came up, Thomas Monteith, who was then 23 years old, having no firearms, attacked the animal with his loaded ox-whip and killed it.

During the early days in Albany he was engaged in the mercantile business and was proprietor of the Monteith Flouring Mills, which still bear his name. Mr. Monteith has served Linn county as treasurer, the city as mayor, and has several times been re-elected city councilman from the first ward.

He acquired wealth in business, and used it freely in helping the needy, sick and suffering. He also contributed generously to public enterprises and institutions, having donated the entire plot upon which now stands the Albany Collegiate Institute, and also land and aid to several churches of the city. It was, perhaps, this sympathetic, generous, public spirited quality which marked him most prominently.

Of late years he has lived quietly at his home in the southern portion of the city, where, surrounded by his family and relatives, he was called away from earth.

The funeral services were held at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the family residence, and were conducted by the Masonic fraternity, of which he was a member. The religious services were conducted by Rev. E. R. Prichard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. S. G. Irvine, pastor of the U. P. church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, who followed the remains to their last resting place in the cemetery adjoining the city.

A BEAUTIFUL SPOT. Grand Scenery and Plenty of Fruit of all Kinds.

Thomas Childs, manager of S. A. Clark's fruit farm, two miles south of Salem, showed a Journal man over the place recently. The farm is situated on a high hill where thousands of fruit trees of many varieties are arranged in systematic rows and bending under heavy loads of fast ripening fruit. The trees are so full that over two thousand progs are brought into use to prevent the limbs from breaking off. The picking and drying season is almost at hand which will give employment to a large number of men, women and children. A new dryer has been added to the establishment, and among other improvements a well of the purest and coldest of water, one hundred feet in depth, has been sunk which does away entirely with the necessity of hauling water. Mr. Childs, assisted by Mr. Webb, keeps this place in the best of order, and so far this year has shipped of peach plums, 1,703 large-sized boxes; of cherries, 4,819 pounds; early peaches, from very young trees, 500 pounds, and next week will send away two car-loads of Bartlett pears. The sum total of dried fruits shipped last year was 44,850 pounds.

Fire on Johnson Creek. The Ochoce Review says: Last Sunday W. W. Ray noticed a smoke rising from L. N. Bostwick's place above him on Johnson creek, and hastening to the scene, found the coral terrace surrounding the barn and stock yards to be on fire. The fire was burning within eight feet of the barn and it was with much difficulty Mr. Ray put it out, only having a bucket to work with.

ABOUT TIMBER CLAIMS. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD: I noticed an article in yesterday's HERALD under the head of "Timber Sharpeners" which is liable to mislead your readers.

The effect of this article will naturally be to discourage the citizens of this vicinity from availing themselves of the provisions of the laws for the sale of the timber of the public lands, while persons from other states who have seen lands that were bought fifteen or twenty years ago for from $1 50 to $2 50 per acre sell for several hundred dollars per acre, and who have a high appreciation of the value of timber lands takes the benefits of the provisions of these laws and in a very few years own a vast portion of the wealth of this state.

I do not know of the particular instance alluded to in the article above mentioned. I do not know but many locators and persons who are claimants may intend to violate the laws under which they seek to derive larger benefits. If there are such cases, they are equally guilty and equally liable to punishment.

But I do believe that every person who uses good judgment in filing upon a timber claim and who respects and observes the law will realize returns for the time and money expended. I say this from a number of years experience in a timber country where the land a few years ago was as cheap as it is in the timber districts of Oregon and now comprises a large portion of the wealth of the state notwithstanding the enormous consumption of the last few years.

Fifty or one hundred dollars is a reasonable amount to be paid to a locator if he properly understands his business, and if he faithfully works for the man that employs him his services are worth to his employer many times that amount. There is a man in your city at the present time following the occupation of locator of public lands, who is well known in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota as a competent and thorough going timber man and who has been employed by hundreds from those states who are satisfied with his work.

Albany, July 22, 1889. FRED H. ALDRICH. [Following is the item referred to, which was published in the DAILY HERALD Sunday morning. It is simply the recital of straight facts, and is not calculated to mislead anybody.]

Down in Washington territory some timber sharpeners representing themselves to be capitalists have induced men to locate on timber lands by offering them big prices for such lands after they have proved up on the same, but demanded of the settlers the sum of $50 or $100 "as an evidence of good faith." After securing this fee they skipped out, leaving the settlers to "hold the sack" so to speak and mourn the loss of the fee recklessly paid to strangers. It would pay to give such sharpeners a wide berth.

Patents Granted. Following were the patents granted to citizens of the Pacific States during the past week and reported for the HERALD by C. A. Snow & Co., patent lawyers, Washington, D. C.: T. L. Armstrong, Oakland, Cal., fence making; C. A. Ashley, Stockton, Cal., harvester; W. Burkinan, Los Angeles, brick machine; J. B. Gerber, San Francisco, submarine boat; H. M. Harmon, Santa Cruz, Cal., non heat-conducting fabric; J. P. Hayes, North Temescal, Cal., lifting jack; B. Jennings, San Jose, Cal., fruit picker, etc.; E. Lainesse, San Francisco, bicycle; C. T. Tarpenning, Los Angeles, toaster or broiler; A. F. Washburn, Independence, Oregon, railway gauge and tie-grip.

For Trespass. Yesterday the case of M. L. Forester, for trespass, on complaint of D. Houck, came up before Justice Brink. The charge was driving across land owned by Mrs. Vernon and rented by Mr. Houck, crossing growing grain. It was made a jury trial, and late last evening the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Still a Mystery. The parties who left Prineville Monday to search for George Nutting have returned. They made a thorough search through the country where he was last seen, and no trace of him could be found. They consider his disappearance a mystery which may never be fathomed.—Ochoce Review.

THE CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIANS.

Proceedings of the Recent Session of the Oregon Synod Held at Seio. On July 11th the Oregon Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church convened at Seio, and a quorum being present, by request of Rev. W. K. McLean, the moderator, Rev. E. G. Knowles, of Walla-Walla, W. T., preached the opening sermon.

Rev. T. H. Small, the oldest member of the synod present, was elected moderator for the ensuing year. Rev. C. A. Wooley was appointed synodical evangelist.

This was a most interesting session of the synod. There was a very fair representation of the churches, and everybody seemed interested. A few very grave questions came before the body, and were acted upon, and we hope the spirit of the action was for the best.

Steps were taken to establish a church paper at Eugene, Oregon, and to put at its head one of the ablest men of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. Also, measures were taken to secure the services of one of the most successful men in the pulpit to fill the pulpit recently vacated at Eugene by Rev. J. W. Sneed.

The synod adjourned to meet at Cottage Grove, Oregon, at 7 P. M., Thursday before the first Sunday in October, 1890.
