JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN.

Spokane is to have a big $250,000 hotel. The Albany College will reopen on September 10. The street cars will commence running regularly to-day.

Chicago dried beef, clipped to order at C. E. Brownell's. Fresh oysters served every day at Hermann's restaurant.

The best kid glove ever brought to Albany for $1.50 at Reads. Just received, the latest sheet music, in large quantities at Will Bros.

Unpaid city taxes are now delinquent, yesterday being the last day of grace.

A Klein and family of this city have returned from a trip to the mountains.

The public examination of teachers will be held at the court house, beginning to-day.

Nick Zimmerman, who was shot by Barney Wilson, has sufficiently recovered to be able to be out again.

The Daily Astorian is preparing to issue a 50,000 illustrated edition, for the purpose of advertising that lively city.

Fresh Yaquina oysters served in every style at F. H. Pfeiffer's. Also a choice lot of fresh candies just opened.

The oyster season has reopened and fresh Yaquina oysters will be served every day in any style at the City Restaurant.

J. R. Smith has completed a fine residence on his farm near Spicer. It was built by J. C. Campbell, of this city, at a cost of $2000.

A large frame building is being constructed on the corner of Second and Jackson streets, in the third ward, which will be occupied by a grocery and variety store.

A box of the finest prunes that Oregon can produce, and Oregon beats the world, has reached us from the orchard of our old friend, Samuel Daw, up near the mouth of Long Tom river.

The saw-mill of Jennings & McPherson, which was burned Sunday, was situated 17 miles above Lebanon. The loss will not be much over $500, as the engine and boiler was not injured. The mill will be rebuilt.

Drop a nickel in the slot this morning and see the street car move. Regular street car harness has been made by Thompson & Overman, and the horses, drivers and cars will start regularly to work this morning.

F. L. Kenton informs us that he has just received a new supply of Crystal baking powder to which he invites the attention of the public. This powder gives good satisfaction and a handsome piece of glassware is given with every can. Price 50 cents.

Judge R. S. Strahan purchased yesterday of John Fox his lot and residence on Second street, opposite Frank Wood, paying for the same $4000. Mr. Fox also purchased of Geo. F. Simpson his former residence on Second and Jackson streets, paying $3000.

Mr. J. S. Antonelle, the Oregon Pacific railroad contractor, has bonded the vacant lot on the corner of First and Washington street, opposite the St. Charles hotel, for the sum of $2500. It is understood he expects to erect a fine brick upon it. Mr. Antonelle is one of San Francisco's capitalists, and will do nothing by halves.

At the meeting of the city council last night, that body did not feel authorized to expend any funds toward placing a town clock in the new Masonic building; but this will not prevent the clock from being placed in the building. The Masonic lodges have offered the tower for the clock, and by the assistance of citizens the enterprise will certainly not be allowed to go by default.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs L. Senders left yesterday for a visit with relatives in Portland.

W. S. Mayberry, recently from Ohio, has located in this city, and will engage in teaching in Linn county.

M. Connors, business agent for Lew Johnson's Black Baby Boy Minstrels, is in town making arrangements for the company to appear here on Tuesday evening, Sept. 3d. The company has met with success where they have played recently.

Look Out for Them.

A couple of young men with an unmitigated amount of gall, are doing this city with a cheap advertising scheme. They visit business men and solicit advertising at good round rates in their promise to write up in the town as well as the business men. The fact is that they have no paper, and are simply working a scheme to gather in a few dollars for advertisements in their sheet, which they hire printed and which offers no more benefits in the way of legitimate advertising than so many patent medicine circulars. The city does not need any such cheap "write ups," and business men will do well to give them a wide berth.

CITY COUNCIL.

Regular Meeting Last Night—The City's Luchbiness—New Electric Lights.

The committee on health and police brought in a report on extending the sewers, on motion the report was laid upon the table.

A bill for $5.75 for advertising in the Oregonian to sell the hand engine was read and ordered paid.

A report of the investigation of the committee on ways and means was read showing that at the end of the year the city would be $4500 in debt.

The street commissioner recommended that a new sidewalk be ordered within ten days on the west side of Washington street between 7th and 8th and that the walk on the west side of Washington between 6th and 7th be placed on grade.

A petition for an electric light on Calapooia street was read and referred to the committee on ways and means.

Petition for a crosswalk on Walnut and 8th street was read and on motion was granted.

On motion it was ordered that crossings hereafter be made of 12 inch plank instead of 8 inch.

An ordinance regulating the salary and duties of the marshal was read and referred to the committee on ordinances.

An amendment to the ordinance in reference to the misdemeanors on the subject of standing teams on First street was read and referred to the committee on ordinances.

On motion it was voted that an electric light be placed at the Southern Pacific Depot under the direction of the committee on streets and public property, and that two of the old street lamps be placed at the disposal of Mr. Barker for use at the depot.

It was voted that the same committee locate three more electric lights in the city.

Bonds of Wat Monteith and J. A. Gross for saloon license were approved.

Contract for lateral sewers across Ellsworth street between 6th and 7th street and across Perry street between 3rd and 4th streets and on block 21 on Broadalbin street sewer was awarded to James Laurent at 55 cents per foot.

A bill of $288 from the Oregon Pacific railroad company for transporting the Chinese laborers left here by the Seales & Deane railroad contractors in a destitute condition last spring was read and referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses.

Pleasant Reception Party.

A pleasant party was given last evening at the residence of Judge L. Flinn, being given as a reception to Mr. E. M. Horton, a nephew of Judge Flinn, who has accepted a position as clerk in the First National Bank. The following young gentlemen were present: E. D. Cusick, W. H. Cowan, Chas. Cusick, Edward Crossen, M. Breckenridge, Edward Blodgett, Van Wilson, James F. Powell, Percy Young, Percy Kelley, Phil Goodwin and Frank Blodgett. An elegant lunch was served, and an enjoyable evening spent.

Good Investment.

For a small amount of money that will in a year's time double or treble your money, such an opportunity is offered in South Albany, only one-half mile from the city, embracing the tract of land from Elkins' falls to the fair ground road. Lots sold on the installment plan.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The Visit of Oregon Editors—The Outlook—Corvallis' New Buildings.

By special invitation the Oregon Editorial Association stopped over in Corvallis a few hours, and took in a hasty run through the State Agricultural Buildings and grounds. Professor Grimm, the head of the agricultural department, and his associates, including Mr. French, lately from Michigan, entertained the party and pointed out the features of interest.

Growing crops of roots and buckwheat were doing remarkably well, considering the extreme dryness of the season, and that some of them had not received a drop of rain since planting. Groups of soil thermometers were placed in different localities, connected with different systems of drainage, to experiment upon the benefits of the varied depths of the soil of the different systems.

The finely constructed college building and its different departments were visited and admired, and the air of improvement everywhere noted. The busy activity of the school session was, of course, lacking, but its presence could be easily imagined. In the chemical department activity was already manifested, and the farm work bore the impress of being efficiently conducted.

A building for the mechanical department was in course of construction of brick, and also a large dormitory building of wood, in which the experiment is to be tried to furnish the students with board and lodging at the rate of $2 per week.

An octagonal barn has been constructed in which a silo is built, and the matter of successfully putting up ensilage in this state will be thoroughly tested. On the farm extensive experiments will be inaugurated to procure a variety of corn that will prove capable of producing the requisite amount of growth for ensilage in this climate and soil.

The people of the state will be pleased to learn that the prospects, at least, are fair for a true agricultural college, in fact, as well as name. A farm has been purchased, and as will be seen, buildings are being erected. Undoubtedly some of these buildings will be mistakes to a certain extent in their first constructions, but these will be corrected in time. If the purpose of establishing a purely agricultural college is adhered to, and the work prosecuted faithfully on that line the object will be attained and past objections removed.

In this connection it will not be amiss to notice that the city of Corvallis is wonderfully improving in the matter of its public buildings. The new court house, which has taken the place of the old frame building, is a magnificent structure of brick and stone, finished inside in a most beautiful manner in native woods in the natural grain. It is fitted up with the latest and best improved finishings throughout and is to be heated entirely by steam from a furnace in the basement.

It is a building that Benton county may well be proud of, and in the end will be considered a stroke of economy in its construction, although a majority perhaps of the residents of the county protested against its construction at the present time.

A new public school building is fast nearing completion, the cost of which will approximate to nearly $20,000. It will rank among the first school buildings of the state and will stand a monument to the wisdom, foresight and liberality of the citizens of Corvallis.

Academy of Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Albany, Oregon.

This institution, under the direction of the Sisters of St. Benedict, offers to the young ladies of our prosperous city and those from a distance every facility for a thorough training in all the branches of a practical and polite education. Studies will be resumed September 2nd and parents are kindly requested to send their children at the opening of the session. For further particulars apply at the Academy.

A Young Traveler.

Sunday evening Freddie Christen, a youth eleven years old, arrived in Salem all the way from Millersburg, Ohio. Freddie's father came out sometime ago and found plenty of work, and a few weeks ago sent for his motherless boy, who arrived as above stated, with a tag attached to his coat tearing the following inscription: "My father's name is John Christen, Salem, Oregon—Freddie Christen, en route to Salem, Oregon, via P. F. W. & C. R. R. to Chicago, C. M. R. St. P. R. R. to St. Paul, N. P. R. R. to Portland; O. & C. Div. to Salem, Oregon. All conductors and station agents will please see him safely through." The trip was made in just five and a half days.

Piano Tuning.

W. L. Gray, the piano tuner from Portland, is at the St. Charles. Parties wanting their pianos put in first-class tune and repair should leave orders at G. L. Blackburn's drug store or with Miss Gilbert at once, as he does not can pass. The fact that he represents the Kohler & Chase and Hoyt & Co. music houses of Portland is a sufficient guarantee that his work is first-class.

THE YAQUINA JETTIES.

A Decision by Judge Deady Which Is Likely to Interfere With the Work.

An important decision has been rendered in Judge Deady's court in the case of Samuel Case vs. the U. S. government to restrain the construction of the government jetty in front of the Ocean House at Yaquina Bay. The decision, which is liable to result in an interference with the work on the south beach jetty, was rendered upon a demurrer filed by the defendants, and the gist of it is as follows:

"This suit is brought, to have the defendant enjoined from constructing a tramway along the northern shore of Yaquina bay, near its mouth, in front of certain property belonging to the plaintiff, whereby access to the bay from said property is hindered and prevented.

"It is alleged in the bill that the plaintiff is the owner of a tract of land in Benton county, Oregon, known as the Ocean House property and worth $15,000, with a tavern on it, which cost $6000; that said property abuts on the northern shore of said bay, into which the plaintiff has constructed a private wharf, to and from which, goods and passengers are transported across said shore between said bay and tavern; that Yaquina bay is navigable for all ordinary vessels and is within the ebb and flow of the ordinary tides of the Pacific ocean, whereby said shore is fully covered and uncovered for an average distance of 100 feet; that the defendant is wrongfully and unlawfully engaged in constructing a wooden tramway over and along said shore in front of said property, with intent to maintain the same there for at least three years, which will completely cut off and prevent access from said bay or wharf to said tavern and vice versa, to the great damage of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff is the owner of land abutting on the "shore" of Yaquina bay. How he acquired it does not appear, and it may not be material. But the title must be derived from the United States, because of the acts of congress, providing for the disposition of public lands in Oregon. Be this as it may, as a littoral proprietor, he has a right of access from his premises to the water, and to erect and maintain a private wharf there, at which to land and embark, so long as he does not materially interfere with the rights of the public, and subject to the power of the legislature to regulate such use or privilege.

The defendant has no special right in the "shore" or to the use of it, beyond that of the general public, which does not include the right to construct or maintain a tramway or other structure upon or over it that would prevent or substantially impair the littoral proprietor's right or privilege of access to and from the water.

It does not appear from the bill that this tramway is in fact such a structure, or whether the rail or track is laid level with the sand or earth or not. Presumably it is so. But it was admitted on the argument that it is twelve or fifteen inches above the surface of the ground, and therefore cannot be crossed by a wheeled vehicle, unless it is bridged.

Prima facie, then, the tramway is a nuisance, which works a special injury to the plaintiff, and the defendant ought not to be allowed to maintain it; and an injunction is the proper remedy for the wrong."

It is to be regretted if the decision in this case results in an interruption of the work upon the south jetty, or impairs the fullest benefits from the work by causing the removal of the projection within the channel.

Same Old Trick.

Last Thursday a man named Ripikee, who had been working for Hillier, sent into Apperson's store and done some trading with Beverly, says the Yamhill Reporter. He tendered a check on the McMinnville National bank for $22.24, purported to be signed by John Henderson. He was paid the difference in cash. Shortly after Clyde Apperson, assistant cashier of the McMinnville National bank, dropped into his father's store and on being asked if John Henderson done business in the bank answered no. Mr. Apperson on this became suspicious, and meeting the fellow on the street invited him into the store, where he told him the check had been sent out to see if it was a forgery or not. Ripikee said he did not want any trouble over the matter and paid the money back. He subsequently lit out for Portland, Marshal Kaufman after him. He was captured near Carlton. He was bound over in the justice court in the sum of $500, to appear before the grand jury. He failed to furnish it and languisheth. He is a very well educated fellow, an expert mathematician, but a confirmed forger. He recently forged the name of A. H. Marshall, of Albany, to a small check.
