The Santa Cruz Daily Surf of August 2nd says: Lew Johnson's colored company played one night's engagement at the opera house last night to standing room, every comedy seat being sold before the doors were opened, and gave general satisfaction. Singing and dancing were the main features of the company's entertainment. "The Suwanee River" was sang in a style that reached the sublime; as a talented, mirth-provoking company, The Lew Johnson colored company is a success. Reserved seats for sale at Blackman's.

A Busy Scene.

Upon arrival of the California fruits, vegetables, cantelopes, etc., yesterday morning was a scene of activity around Kenton's store and attracted considerable attention. He and his clerk were crowded to their utmost in filling orders, and the way they loaded up the delivery wagons was evidence that they were doing a rushing business.

THE INDIAN YOUTH.

Changes in the Management of the Chemawa School—Pupils in the Hop Fields.

It is stated that several changes have recently been made in the management of the Chemawa Indian school. The new superintendent, Rev. Irwin, of Union, who succeeds General Biddle, has assumed the duties of his office, and a few changes in the corps of teachers result at the same time.

Mr. Rodgers, the erstwhile principal, who held office during the first year's regime of Colonel Lee, and again under General Biddle, has been succeeded by Mr. Lane, of Salem. Mr. Lane has been principal of the public schools of Salem for some time, and is in every way qualified for the office. Dr. Miller, Clerk Morris and Mrs. Bristow, one of the teachers, will retain their positions. Miss Godley, the talented music teacher, will sever her connection with the institution on the 1st of September. The heads of the manual departments will remain the same.

About 100 of the larger Indian boys and girls left for the hop fields at Eola, about ten miles from Chemawa, a few days ago. They are under contract to remain eighteen days, and all the money they make after paying necessary expenses will go to their own individual pockets. The school does not reopen until October 1, and this interim will give them an opportunity to make a little money.

Readings at the Opera House.

Miss Maud Hoffman of Corvallis, the talented elecutionist will appear at the opera house in this city on Friday evening, September 6, in an entertainment of elocutionary recitations and music. She will be assisted by Mr. C. W. Avery. The famous chariot race from Ben Hur will be rendered in costume. Tickets are on sale at Blackman's at 50 cents for reserved seats, and 25 cents for the gallery. The Benton Leader says of her recent renditions in that place: "On Tuesday evening a fair audience were delighted in hearing Miss Maud Hoffman, of this city, in select readings. Her dramatic power insures for her a brilliant future. She had chosen a fine selection of pieces, and rendered them with force and eloquence. "Leah the Forsaken" was beautifully rendered. One of the most noted and interesting selections was the chariot race in Ben Hur. This is a fine piece of exciting description and one was enabled to enter into the spirit of the wonderful race in following Miss Hoffman's rendition of it. The "Telephone" was a humorous imitation of a telephone conversation where you only hear one side of it. The other selections were equally happy. Miss Maud will appear at other places in the valley. Her praiseworthy object is to make enough money to go to school in the East and finish her education. We trust she may give the Corvallis public another opportunity to appreciate her undoubted talent. She certainly scored a success if the encomiums of the people are to be the criterion."

A Great Surprise.

For some time there has been a rumor afloat that an artistically illustrated weekly journal is to be published on the Pacific Coast, and now to our great surprise it takes definite form in an announcement by the publisher of the West Shore that he will issue the first number of such journal on the 14th of September. Fifteen years ago Mr. Samuel began the publication in Portland of a feeble monthly paper which has steadily grown until it has reached the proportions of the handsome West Shore Magazine as we know it today, and now he takes a bold step forward and establishes a weekly journal which will be maintained at the highest standard of weeklies in the country. It will require the expenditure of much money and labor to render the venture successful, but the West Shore, with its splondid equipment, long experience and established position, will be able to succeed where most others would fail. Special attention will be given to graphic illustrations of events happening on the Pacific Coast and topics of special interest to our people. Its numerous and excellent illustrations will be its chief feature, and these will increase in number as the journal becomes settled in its groove. Such an undertaking certainly recommends itself very highly to every citizen, and its success will be a direct benefit to every section of the West. The price will be ten cents a copy or $4.00 a year.

A Child Instantly Killed.

News has been received of a fatal and most shocking accident at Forest Grove about noon Wednesday. A correspondent writes from that place under the date of August 28: A fatal accident occurred in the family of President J. F. Ellis of the Pacific University about 12 o'clock to-day. While their youngest daughter Ethel, aged about five years, was engaged driving the horses into the barnyard one of them suddenly kicked her in the head, at the base of the brain, killing her almost instantly. The sudden blow was a terrible shock to the parents. Ethel was a favorite of the family and was a very bright and intelligent child.

COEUR D'ALENE COMMISSION.

It Is Meeting With Success in Treating With the Indians.

The Oregonian says that from Mr. L. S. Shipley, who is just down from Cœur d'Alene, it is learned that the commission, consisting of General Ben Simpson, Hon. J. H. Shoup and Captain N. B. Humphrey, who went up some three weeks since to negotiate with the Cœur d'Alene Indians for the surrender of the mineral and timber lands and navigable waters on their reservation, is making very satisfactory progress with its business.

The Indians were at first inclined to receive the commission coolly, as the $150,000 promised them by the government when they surrendered a part of their reservation before has not been paid, and there is other money still due them for damages by the railroad running through their reservation.

Satisfactory assurances having been given the Indians that these moneys would be paid, and reasonable excuses given for the delay, the Indians expressed a willingness to treat with the commission, and, as General Simpson has expressed his intention of recommending that a fair and reasonable price be paid them or their lands, the negotiations are proceeding favorably and it is expected will be concluded in about ten days, when the commission will return here to make up their report, prepare maps, etc., after which General Simpson will proceed to Washington to lay the result before the department.

The commissioners, when they first went up, notified the Indians of the object of their visit, and were given permission to prospect the reservation and ascertain the extent of the mineral and timber lands.

They were very much pleased with the result of their examination, and are satisfied that the lands they have selected will form a very valuable addition to the Cœur d'Alene district, and produce a neat amount of wealth. They were furnished with a lot of samples of ore from the mines on the reservation, both from Wolf Lodge bay, at the north end of the lake, and from the country between the Cœur d'Alene and St. Joe rivers.

The commissioners have not decided exactly as to the quantity of land they will bargain for, but it will probably be a considerable portion of the reservation.

Track Laying on the O. P.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Wrightman returned yesterday from his trip to the mountains up the North Santiam, and reports that the work of laying track on the extension of the O. P. railroad is to be commenced early next week. Should there be sufficient iron and other track material on hand, and a reasonable force of men kept to work steadily, the road can be placed in good running order clear to the summit before the season compels a cessation of labor. An ordinary track laying gang will put down a mile to a mile and a quarter a day, and two years ago this kind of work was done until the middle of November. It takes 88 tons of steel, or six carloads, to the mile, so the reader can see it is no small matter to have on hand and get to the front the material for an extension of 35 or 40 miles. Mr. Wrightman had not heard, nor has this writer seen stated, how much steel the company has on hands, so the amount of the work to be done this year is uncertain.—Salem Statesman.

The drying and pressing into bales for market is to be done by steam, for which special mechanical appliances have been built by the Albany Iron Works company, and will be put into position in a few days.

The Yaquina Government Works.

Concerning the recent decision of Judge Deady in the case of Samuel Case vs. the U. S. government to restrain the erection of the government tramway on the north beach at Yaquina it is but justice to Mr. Case to state that the case was simply brought to determine whether he or the city of Newport owns certain rights to the water front. The decision being in his favor will not interfere with the government work, as he is deeply interested in the improvement of Yaquina harbor as any one. The government will go on at all events.

FISHING SCHOONER WRECKED.

The "Rowena" Becoming Becalmed Drifts Ashore Near Yaquina Bay.

[Special to the HERALD.]

YAQUINA CITY, Aug. 30.—The two masted fishing schooner, Rowena, drifted ashore last evening about half a mile south of the south jetty. She is owned by parties at Tillamook, and was leased by Yaquina fishermen. She had gone out deep sea fishing, and the wind died down, leaving the vessel becalmed. Having only sails, she drifted ashore, striking upon the sands one half mile from shore. The tug went to her rescue but could render no assistance, owing to her position upon the sands. At last accounts three men were clinging in her rigging.

LATER—The men on board the Rowena have been rescued. The sea is very calm and the boat may be gotten off.
