WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Construction of Five War Vessels for the United States

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

Washington City Is Confident of Its Being Held There.—The Behring Sea Seizures—The G. A. R. Encampment.

Special Correspondence.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Postmaster General Wanamaker returned to Washington to-day. He is at present the only cabinet officer in the city and it is not likely that any of his colleagues will be here before next week.

There is likely to be some delay in the building of the five war vessels provided for at the last session of Congress owing to the fact that the bids received were largely in excess of the amount appropriated to pay for them. The Navy department has issued new proposals in which some modifications are made which it is hoped will enable the ship builders to get inside of the appropriations with their bids. But naval officers say that the appropriations are too small to obtain vessels of the class wanted.

Similarity of names brings about some queer things. For instance, a short time ago Andrew J. Whitaker, of Illinois, who was formerly a clerk in the Fourth auditors office, was appointed deputy Fourth auditor. Saturday the Fourth Auditor received a letter from Andrew J. Whitaker, of Carpentersville, Illinois, stating that he had seen a notice in a Chicago paper of his appointment as Deputy Fourth Auditor, and that he accepted the appointment. As possession is nine points of the law the first named gentleman will will probably retain the office while his Illinois namesake will be allowed to keep the disappointment.

Washington is not worrying much about the efforts now being made by several cities to secure the great International Exposition which is to be held in 1892 to celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America. Unless the Exposition is held under the authority of the United States it will not be a success. That makes it certain that it will be held in this city, the only place proper for it. To hold it anywhere else would make it simply a local affair.

Acting Secretary of State Wharton says the Behring Sea seizures are matters concerning only the Treasury department, the seizures being made by vessels of the revenue marine service. The State department will have nothing to do with it unless the British should send in some communication on the subject, which it has not yet done.

Acting Commissioner of the Land office Stone, is now investigating the alleged payment by the last administration of $43,000 on fraudulent surveyors vouchers. The matter will be laid before Secretary Noble as soon as he returns to Washington.

Washington's delegation to the G. A. R. encampment at Milwaukee left here Saturday night. They carried a cordial invitation from the business men of Washington to the G. A. R. to hold their next annual encampment in this city. city. A meeting was held last week and a number of our most prominent and wealthy citizens pledged themselves to raise all the money needed to entertain the veterans should they accept the invitation. Washington will give them a rousing time if they will come, besides showing them the prettiest city in the world.

The nomination of Gen. Mahone by the Virginia republicans has created much interest here. It ensures Virginia a red hot aggressive campaign and it is generally believed by republicans that the brainy little man will win, and the most sanguine democrats admit that the result is doubtful. When the fact is remembered that these same democrats are in a habit of claiming everything this admission is not without meaning.

Judge Crowell, of Minnesota, who was Sixth Auditor of the Treasury when the Cleveland administration came in, has been appointed Chief of a division in the same office.

The administration is determined that the foreign delegates to the Three America's Congress which meets here on the 2nd of October. next, shall see what a country the United States is. An excursion has been arranged for the delegates, which will leave here on October 3, and return November 14. Among the places to be visited are, all the commercial and manufacturing cities of New England and Northern New York; West Point; Niagara Falls; Harvard University; Yale College; Michigan University; Chicago; Buffalo; Detroit; Minneapolis; St. Paul; Sioux City, Omaha; Fort Leavenworth; St. Louis; Kansas City; Mammoth Cave; the Natural Gas region; Pittsburgh; Altoona; Philadelphia; Wilmington; the Ship yards at Chester, Pa. and Edisons laboratory at Menlo Park. This trip will certainly make a great impression on our visitors.

A NOVEL PROPOSAL.

The World's Fair May Be Opened by the Infant King of Spain.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A striking suggestion concerning the proposed World's fair for 1892, was received to day. It was to have a fleet sail from Spain, visit San Salvador and then New York, and then have the exhibition opened by the baby king of Spain.

A correspondent writes to Mayor Grant: "Queen Isabella pawned her jewels that Columbus might fit out an expedition. While owing to his tender years, it is not expected that the king of Spain will be present, it is still easily within the reach of electrical science to arrange a circuit in connection with the Atlantic cable, so that, without leaving the palace, the infant successor of Ferdinand and Isabella could set in motion the machinery, and bring light to the myriads of electric lamps which will illuminate the assembled wonders of the world. Nothing could more strikingly illustrate the progress made since the days when it was thought the earth was flat."

His Last Request.

Chicago Mail.

"I heard a story on an Irishman the other day which I think is new," said a friend at the club. "This Irishman was in the habit of going home drunk every night of his life and beating his poor wife Biddy in the good old fashion. He didn't lick her because he disliked her or wanted to punish her, but just because he thought it the proper thing to do. Finally, however, the patient woman could stand it no longer and appealed to the priest. The reverend father went to her home that evening and waited for Pat. He came, drunk as usual, and the good priest took him in hand.

"'Pat,' says he, 'you're drunk.'

"'Yis, your riverince,' says Pat, 'I'm feelin' purty good.'

"'Well, how long is this goin' to continue, I'd like to know?'

"'Jist as long as I kin git a dhrop of the creatur,' says Pat. 'I can't stop dhrinkin'.'

"'Now, see here, Pat,' says the good father, 'I'll tell you what. You'll stop this right here to-night. If you ever get drunk again I'll turn ye into a rat—d'ye mind that? If I don't see ye I'll know about it jist the same whether ye get drunk or not, and if ye do get drunk, into a rat ye go. Now remember that—there's a good man.'

"The priest went away and Pat was docile that night; but the next night when he came home and kicked open the door one glance showed Biddy that he was loaded to the hat. She gauged his 'jag' at once and saw that he was in fighting trim, so she dodged behind the table in an attitude of defense.

"'Don't be afraid, darling,' said Pat in a subdued key, as he steadied himself before dropping into a chair. 'I'm not goin' to bate you this night. I'm not goin' to lay the weight of me finger on ye. I want ye to be kind to me to-night, darlin', and to remember, if ye kin, the days when we was swate-hearts, and when I was always kind to ye and ye loved me. Ye know his riverince was here last night, and he tould me if I iver got dhrunk again he'd turn me into a rat, I'm dhrunk this minit, darlin'. The praste didn't see me, but he knows I'm dhrunk, and this night into a rat I go. I want ye to be kind to me, darlin', and watch me, and when ye see me gittin' little, and the hair growin' out on me, an' me whiskers gittin' long, for God's sake, darling', as ye love me, kape yer eye on the cat.'"

STILL IN FORCE.

Three Thousand Tailors Joined the Great Strike in London.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—The great strike is still in force. Neither side made a move yesterday. There are signs of grumbling among the strikers over a division of the relief funds. but the men generally stand firm.

Three thousand tailors struck this morning and are parading the streets.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

DUNDEE, Sept. 2.—The trades union congress here adopted resolutions of sympathy with the strikers and called upon the various trades in the United Kingdom to render all their possible financial support.

SAMOANS REWARDED.

Aid for Those Who Rendered Service During the Great Storm.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—United States Consul W. Blalock, at Apia, has distributed the various presents and money sent to be given to those who so nobly assisted in saving life and property during the hurricane in March. Some difficulty was experienced in distributing the money, as there were so many adventurers who came forward claiming a share; but Blalock, who has a thorough knowledge of the Samoan character, and who took during the gale an opportunity of seeing for himself those who really did good service, has made a judicious distribution.

Indian summer is here.

OVER THE WIRES.

Labor Day Observed in Several Different States.

PARADES AND CELEBRATIONS

Serious Charges Denied by the Chinese Consul-General at San Francisco—The Brave Samoans.

The HERALD's Special Dispatches.]

PITTSBURG, Sept. 2.—Labor day was celebrated in Western Pennsylvania to-day for the first time. Business generally was suspended, but the only public demonstration in this city was the parade of the United Carpenters and Joiners Brotherhood, in which 2000 participated.

Picnics were held by other trades at Greensburg. The local labor organizations and grangers paraded afterwards.

A monster meeting was held, at which addresses were made by prominent labor leaders favoring the eight-hour movement.

In the coke region work was generally suspended. A large mass meeting was held at Scottdale.

OBSERVED IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Labor day here was ushered in by bright sunshine. Early this morning the streets were crowded by sons of toil. However, a number of working girls trudged along as usual with their lunch in their hands, who, in the majority of cases, were found working in cigar factories and other concerns, the owners of which had no respect for Labor day. On the east side many factories blew 7 o'clock whistles. All exchanges are closed.

THE PROCESSION IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Labor day was observed by two processions, one under the auspices of trades and labor assemblies and the other under the Knights of Labor. Both marched through the streets and proceeded to the picnic grounds outside the city.

Three thousand looms have been stopped, owing to the depression in trade.

PATRIOTIC SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Labor day was observed by the trades unions in this city, though business was not suspended. A parade was held in the morning, and probably 2000 people were in line. A majority of the men carried small American flags. A number of floats representing various industries were in the procession.

DENIES THE CHARGE.

The San Francisco Chinese Consul General.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Leong Hang Trang, the consul general of China in this city, through his secretary, made a statement yesterday of his actions in relation to the charge of malfeasance in office preferred by Moy Bock King, a Chinese contractor of Portland, Oregon. Bock's charges were in effect that the consul general had appropriated to his own use $300,000, or thereabouts, which his government had authorized him to receive as indemnity for the property owned by Chinese residents which was destroyed by mob violence in 1885 and subsequent years.

"In the first place," said the secretary, after having received the sanction of the consul general, "these attacks upon his excellency are the results of personal prejudice and ignorance. Mr. Tsang has taken no cognizance of these attacks and he, as well as others conversant with the matter, are confident that the Chinese government will treat them in a similar manner. Mr. Tsang in the two years he has been consul general here has made many enemies, and such a result was to be expected. To fill the position is to invite such attacks from persons whose ambitions have been defeated. Concerning the foundation for them Mr. Tsang wishes to say that he has never since his appointment as consul general to San Francisco received $300,000 or anything like that amount from the United States Government. Altogether, the United States has paid to the Chinese government $276,000 to indemnify the sufferers from mob violence in the territories of Alaska, Washington, Montana and Wyoming. This amount was paid to the accredited diplomatic representative at Washington and turned over to the consul general at San Francisco for disbursement upon the order of the imperial government. Instructions as to the method for disbursing this money accompanied the indemnity itself, and the consul general simply had to follow these directions.
