OVER THE NIAGARA.

Steve Brodie Swims the Horse- shoe Falls in Safety.

CLAD IN A RUBBER SUIT.

150 Lives Lost at Antwerp.—At Cabinet Meeting, too Corrupt of an Era Sea- son a Crime—W. D. Deceased.

CHITON, (Ont.), Sept. 7.—Steve Brodie went over Horseshoe Falls this morning in a rubber suit. He was picked up below the falls in an unconscious condition, and taken to Chilton. He recovered consciousness not long after, and an examination shows that he is not seriously injured.

Brodie, with several friends and newspaper correspondents, arrived last night. They left the hotel at 4 o'clock this morning and went to a point 200 feet above the falls. Brodie then stripped and had his body padded with cotton batting. He then put on his rubber suit, which was inflated, 52 inches around the waist and 75 inches around the chest. The headgear was also inflated, while two steel bands protected the body. At 5:30 Brodie, with a paddle, entered the water, caught the current, waved his paddle and a few seconds later was shot over the center of Horseshoe falls. Luckily, he was shot with lightning rapidity over the outside of one falling volume of water and was quickly lost in mist and foam. He was buried under the water nearly two minutes, when he appeared on the surface. He was carried toward the American shore, then suddenly turned toward the Canadian shore, where his friend, John Ledger, had ropes ready to draw him from the water. Ledger was stripped and swam out 20 feet with a rope fastened to his waist, while W. E. Harding held the other end on the shore. Ledger, after several attempts, reached Brodie and fastened the ropes to the iron band around his waist and then swam ashore, where he assisted in pulling the daring swimmer to the land. On Brodie's being lifted on the rocky shore he was quickly stripped. Brandy was poured in small quantities on his temple, while he was rubbed and chafed but he was insensible and blood oozed from his nose, caused probably from the shock or concussion. For 20 minutes Brodie lay unconscious until ammonia was applied to his nostrils and he began to shiver and gesticulate with his hands. He gradually recovered consciousness and it was then found that his injuries were not serious. He expects to be able to go to New York to-morrow.

HOW BRODIE FELT.

NIAGARA, Sept. 7.—In describing the experience, Brodie says that after he entered the river he weakened and would have given anything in the world if he could reach the shore. He attempted to get ashore by using the paddles, when the swift current swept him back and turned his feet towards the brink of the cataract. When he saw that it was impossible to get out, he felt the same as a man that was to meet his death. Just as he came to the brink of the falls, he became unconscious through fright, and remained so until he struck the water, which was churned into a foam at the base of the falls, when he was temporarily brought to, by the force with which he struck the water. Then he again lost consciousness and knew no more until he found himself lying on his rubber suit at the water's edge. There is no doubt that Brodie successfully went over the falls.

THE ANTWERP EXPLOSION.

The Number Killed 160. The Car- nage Resembled a Battle.

ANTWERP, Sept. 7.—The fire is still raging. All the efforts of the firemen, assisted by the military and populace, to quell it, having so far proved unavailing. The docks and shipping are untouched. A judicial inquiry has been ordered.

THE KILLED AND INJURED.

It is now estimated that the number of deaths by yesterday's disaster will not exceed 160. Two hundred and fifty persons were seriously and 30 slightly injured. The firemen and troops worked through the entire night on hourly shifts. Many succumbed to the heat and smoke and had to be conveyed to hospitals on stretchers.

All work is now entirely confined to keeping the fire from spreading beyond the sheds and factories in the dry docks.

The wind continues favorable. Six million litres of petroleum are in flames.

INCIDENTS OF THE EXPLOSION.

The oil it is expected, will continue to burn at least until Mon- day.

At the moment of the explosion many workmen jumped into the river Scheidt and were drowned.

A number of sailors and customs officers were killed on board the ships by flying bullets and ships were riddled by missiles.

It is estimated that 2000 tons of cartridges exploded. The noise was heard 20 miles away, and the smoke which filled the air was greater than that of a great battle.

Human heads and other parts have been found half a mile away.

THE SURPRISE.

Joy met sorrow in a place where the branches interlace. Very secret, still and sweet. Safe from all prying feet. "Why art here?" Joy, startled, cried. "Why art here?" Sorrow sighed.

"I came here to weep," said Joy. "Tears are ever my enemy." "Murmured Sorrow. "Yet I see tears are grateful were to thee. Come, young novice, and be taught how to ease thy heart o'er fraught."

Joy sat down at Sorrow's feet and was taught a lesson sweet. "Thou couldst be made kind return; "Sorrow, art too old to learn? "Nay? Then tarry yet awhile, 'Till I've taught thee how to smile!"

Since that hour the two have been bound as by mysterious kin; Since that hour they so exchange tears and smiles, 'tis nothing strange if some times a pained heart scarce can tell the twin apart. —Edith Thomas in Boston Transcript.

HUMOROUS DRIFT.

It's easy to wish long life to a golden-wedding couple. The latest form is: "Here's elixir of life to you."

You don't look for notes in the eyes of your summer girl; you look for the beams.

In treating the sealing problem the United States need only go in with a Rush and win.

There is a sign on an under- taker's establishment in this city which reads: "The wants of the deceased attended to at prices which defy competition."

Accepted Suitor—Won't you find it awkward when you meet your other two husbands in heaven? Interesting Widow—I do not expect to meet either of them there.

Now that John L. Sullivan has been thrust into jail, all the cross- road pugilists in the country will vow that he was put there to keep them from hurting him.

First Stranger (in Boston)—Can you tell me how to reach Wash- ington street? Second Stranger—That's just where I want to go. Let's work together. You go south and I'll go north, and we'll report progress every time we meet.

Summer Boarder—Your cat- alogue said there was no mosquitoes hereabouts, Mr. Makemoney, but I killed seven last night. Make- money—Yes, sir; no doubt, sir. But them there catalogues were sent out in March.

He was the dunce of his class; that was what was said of him. But one day the teacher put this question to him: "How do you pronounce s-t-i-n-g-y?" "It de- pends a good deal on whether the word refers to a person or a bee," was the reply.

Guest (at restaurant table)—What have you got for dinner? Table Girl—Roast beef, fried chicken, stewed apples and fried potatoes, Indian pudding, milk and coffee. Guest—Give me the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth and nineteenth syllables.

A BIG UNDERTAKING.

Wanamaker's Proposition to In- crease the Telegraph Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Postmas- ter-General Wanamaker recently summoned to Washington the various officials of the telegraph com- panies, in order to lay before them some details of the proposed scheme.

Dr. Green did not look upon the project in a very favorable light. It would be distinctly second-class delivery service. There would not be immediate delivery by post- offices, but stated times of delivery, as is the case with letters now.

Business and commercial men, he believed, would not avail them- selves of such service when they can have first-class service mes- sages delivered by the company the very moment received.

It is, however, the extension of the telegraph service that forms the chief feature of Wanamaker's scheme. There are at present 59,000 postoffices in the country. About 19,000 have telegraphed service. Dr. Green said of the 19,000 receiving offices which the com- pany now has, about two-thirds were profitless.

Dr. Green was very much in- clined to doubt the financial suc- cess of extending the lines to 40,000 little places in order to make the blessings of the telegraph ser- vice well nigh universal for the people.

WORSE THAN DEATH.

An Innocent Woman Thirteen Years in Prison.

KANSAS CITY, (Mo.), Sept. 6.—A case which in many respects re- sembles that of Mrs. Maybrick was ended to day by the full and un- conditional pardon of Mrs. Hen- rietta Cook of Osborne county, Kas., by Governor Humphrey of that State, after she had been con- fined in the State Penitentiary for over thirteen years with the death sentence constantly hanging over her.

The woman had married in Illi- nois in 1866, as it afterward ap- peared, out of spite, and she and her husband did not live happily together. One day he was taken very ill in a field and was carried home and nursed by his wife until she was worn out, when she was taken to a neighbor's to rest.

During her absence her husband died, and as she had shortly be- fore obtained strychnine from a neigh- bor, the dead man's stomach was examined, and, after a jury trial, the woman was convicted and sen- tenced to be confined in the Peni- tentiary until the Governor should order her execution.

Three years ago two hunters ap- peared before the State Board of Pardons and swore that Cook, who had been with them on hunting trips, had used strychnine for heart troubles. This bore out Mrs. Cook's statement, and the board in- vestigated further and found the woman had suffered wrongfully.

They recommended her pardon to Governor Martin, but he refused to pardon her. Governor Humphrey, however, did so to-day.

HEAVY DAMAGE SUIT.

Two Colored Men Want One Hun- dred Thousand Dollars.

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 6.—Charles M. Ferguson, ex-district clerk of Fort Bend county, and James K. Davis, engaged as a teacher in the public school of that county, being two of the colored men who were driven out of the county about a year ago, have since taken up their homes at Nashville, Tenn., and have insti- tuted a suit in the United States court against some forty odd leading white citizens of Fort Bend county for damages aggregating $100,000.

Ferguson owned a good deal of property in the county, which he had to abandon, as well as his office.

NINE MEN KILLED.

A Remarkable Display of Electric Force in Georgia.

MACON, Ga., Sept. 6.—There was a remarkable display of electric force in Southwest Georgia this morning near Albany. H. H. Reese, John Shivers and J. W. Shisor were instantly killed. They were on their way to market with cotton, and sought refuge from the shower under a tree.

Near Hardaway a railway bridge was struck and knocked out of line. Six men who had sought shelter under it were killed. Their names are not reported.

Disarming an Unseen Foe.

"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unwhole- some vegetation impregnates the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary power to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious- ness, dizziness, headache, indigestion, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp, and eventually to abandon it alto- gether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malarial- rous localities, for it is a certain breaker of defense against which the enemy's powerful, Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.
