THE ARID LAND COMMISSION.

Testimony Given Before the Senators at Denver Yesterday.
DENVER, Sept. 17.—The senate committee new investigating the question of reclaiming the arid lands of the West by means of establishing reservoirs for irrigation purposes held a meeting yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce.
A number of prominent people were present who thoroughly understood this question and the benefits to be derived from it. Among these were Senator Teller and Governor Cooper.
The testimony taken from those best informed was to the effect that the entire Eastern portion of the state could be irrigated by the reservoir system, and hundreds of thousands of acres of land now worthless for agricultural purposes would be made the most practical; and that one-half of the water which went to waste every year was stored there would be more than sufficient to reclaim every acre of land in the state.
The commission will leave for Cheyenne to-morrow.

BURIED TREASURE.

Fifteen Thousand Dollars Hidden by a Murderer.

San Antonio Times.
Not long ago the columns of the Times contained an account of the death by his own hand of Riske, the glumaker, who was arrested in this city last year for a cold blooded murder committed in Germany. The arrest and extradition of Riske created a great sensation at the time. After he had been surrendered by the United States authorities to the agent of the German Government he was taken to New York, but on the way jumped from the train on which he was traveling and attempted to drown himself in the river. He was rescued, however, and finally returned to the fatherland to be tried for his crime. He was immured in jail at Goeben, in the province of Frankfurt, but succeeded in ending his own life by strangling himself with strips torn from his blanket, and thus cheated the hangman.
The murder for which Riske was extradited was a most horrible and revolting one, and was committed for the purpose of robbery. His victim was a well to do miller, who lived near Riske. The body of the miller was concealed and his money taken by Riske and his son, who participated in the crime. They fled to this country with their ill-gotten wealth, and the son has never yet been captured. Riske settled in San Antonio with his young daughter, who still resides here and pursues his business as manufacturer of glue. He did a good business and is reported to have made much money.
Since his death in his prison cell, in far-off Germany speculation has been rife as to what he did with the money obtained by the murder of the miller. He is supposed to have buried it somewhere about this city, but the secret of his hiding place is known to none save his son and accomplice. The amount stolen from the miller was equal to about $15,000 in American money, and was in gold and silver. Many attempts have been made on the quite to gain some clue to where this vast wealth is concealed, but so far have proved vain. It is generally supposed he brought the money with him to San Antonio. It is still somewhere about here, but the question is—Where?
When the particulars of his crime were made known after his arrest he was repeatedly asked to tell what he had done with the money, but to all inquiries in this direction he maintained a dogged and determined silence, and so far at least as he is concerned, the secret went with him to his grave. If his son is apprised of the place of concealment he dare not divulge or make use of it for fear of falling into the meshes of the law himself. Digging has been done in several places where the money was supposed to be buried, but nothing has been found. Some day the pick and shovel of the abhorred villain open the secret hiding place and bring to light this mine of wealth. Mean time more than one party is quietly prospecting in that direction across the money.

WOMAN'S DISCOVERY.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches on a her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle had been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Write W. C. Hamrick & Co. of Shelby, N. C.—Get a free trial bottle at Fosby & Mason's Drug Store.

COUNTERFEIT COIN.

A Sack of Spurious Dollars Unearthed.
Portland Telegram.
This afternoon three ladies Frank O'Brien, Henry Clancy and Willie Gebhart, found a sack containing $290 in counterfeit silver coin in the vicinity of Fulton Park. The sack was hidden beneath a old fallen tree, about which boys were playing.
Frank O'Brien stated that a laborer at work near by tried to get the sack away from them, but Henry Clancy, who is a pre-stout boy of 17 years, stood by man off. They only learned that their treasure was valuable when they went to pay for some ice cream and cigars. The coin is said to have the appearance of not having been in circulation.

DOWN FROM CLOUDLAND.

A Hardy Balloonist Jumps 30 Feet With a Parachute.
Portland Telegram.
Professor P. H. Raymond, aeronaut, made a successful parachute jump from his hot air balloon yesterday evening. Shortly after 6 o'clock the big bag was loose, and at a height of 3000 feet the parachute was detached, with the aerial navigator clinging to it, started eastward. The signal was one long to be remembered, it passed, in its several phases numerous incidents bordering on the threshold of tragedy. In sixty seconds after the jump a landing was made on the saw-tooth edge of a ticket fence near East Portland baseball ground. The balloonist's left hand was slightly bruised. He drove to city with Mrs. M. A. Hackett. A balloon came down in fifty minutes near City View pa fully 3500 people witnessed extraordinary performance.
