Morning Daily Herald

SPECIAL. 12:30 A. M.

Not to see our stoves and ranges before buying is a mistake. Mistakes are always costly. In heating stoves we have the largest as well as the most carefully selected stock in the city. The stoves we offer were not bought as an experiment but as a certainty. We know what each stove will do, and they were bought for cash, so the price is right. We have specialties in heaters, beside our regular lines of Garland, Argand and Superior stoves and ranges.

THE UPPER SANTIAM COUNTRY.

Thrifty Towns Springing Up—Prosperous Farmers—Timber Land.

The upper Santiam country, in Linn and Marion counties is putting on considerable airs now-a-days, the march of progress having metamorphosed it from the near approach to a "howling wilderness" a couple of years ago, to a region of prosperous farms and thriving little towns all along the line. This has been largely the result of the building of the Oregon Pacific railroad, which has made a demand and an outlet for the timber product, and which has stimulated the raising of stock and other products of the farm, for which a ready sale and convenient market are now found.

In coming down the river the first town that meets your eye is Gatesville, about twelve miles above Mehama, at which point a good wagon bridge crosses the river for the convenience of the thrifty settlers of King's prairie, a beautiful strip of country nestling under the mountains in Linn county. This is the Rock Creek country to which so many people repair for healthful air and fine fishing every summer. At Gatesville is a railroad station with a daily train, arriving there from Albany at noon and returning at 1 o'clock. Here are two hotels, one of which is run by Mrs. Gates and does a good business. Here is to be found that popular and reliable pioneer, Don A. Smith, who, with his partner Prof. T. J. McClary, well known as an educator and business man of ability, has just built a fine new store building and is now spreading upon its shelves an $8000 stock of general merchandise, embracing everything needed in any community, and the people of the surrounding country are highly overjoyed at the opportunity afforded to trade at home with more than city advantages.

The next town this way is Mill City, at the railroad crossing of the Santiam, where one of the best equipped sawmills in the state is kept working to its full capacity all the time with large orders constantly ahead. The company owning this mill have secured some five thousand acres of the choice timber land of that country, with road privileges thereto and they certainly have a prosperous future ahead. Quite a bustling town has been built up around it with all branches of business flourishing.

On the other side of the river, almost opposite Mehama, is the railroad station, Lyonsville, which has built up very rapidly and has become already an important shipping point.

Mehama maintains its supremacy as the best hotel town on the coast, Mrs. Smith being still queen of hostesses. The town will always be a pleasant place to stop or go to on business, its merchants being wide awake and agreeable, and carrying good stocks. The railroad will make little, if any, difference with them.

Stayton is building up somewhat this year and its people feel justly elated over their new bridge, which is rapidly nearing completion. The false work was taken away from the main span Saturday and the structure is handsome as well as durable.

The actual settlers along the upper Santiam have had their indignation aroused to the kicking point by a system of timber land stealing which has been going on there this season. Heavy lumbering syndicates from Puget Sound have been sending in "stool pigeons" by the score, gobbling up the best bodies of timber, so that in another year of such work there would not be an acre worth taking left for the actual settler. Men who have business interests though there, have taken measures to put a stop to this and they should be ably and honestly seconded by the officers of the government. The law was made for the actual settler and not that non-resident monopolists and rich syndicates might steal the public domain, but in this as in many other cases, the law has been basely prostituted.

The O. P. railroad is moving slowly with the work of construction, but there is no doubt of its completion to eastion connection some time. They have about 11 miles of steel on hand, which will be laid this season. The track is now laid to Sardine creek, 6 miles above Gatesville. The people along the road sigh for the time when work will progress with regularity and rapidity.—Salem Journal.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

Wm. Connell to Louisa Johnson, 100 acres, township 14 south, range 1 east	$ 1
Jas. Elkins to W. J. Windham, south half of southeast ¼, block 8, Elkins' addition, Albany	$ 150
J. M. Powell to Frank Dempsey, 250 acres in township 15 south, range 3 west	4300
Jas. Elkins to W. T. Bost, north half of southeast quarter of block 8, Elkins addition	150

In Running Order.

The lumber business on the North Santiam is constantly assuming larger proportions. J. W. Brown & Son, at the Narrows above Don Smith's, which has been christened Niagara Falls, have their mill in active operations, the dam well under way—they run with steam power until the dam is completed—and a full ox team outfit for logging operations. They are prepared to fill orders. Their postoffice address is Rock Creek, Linn county.

Money to Loan.

At a low rate of interest on good farm property in Linn county, or on best improved city property in Albany. Apply to Blackburn & Wright, Albany, Oregon.

National Grange Session.

The next session of the National Grange, P. of H., will be held in Sacramento, Cal., commencing on Wednesday, November 13. Quite a large delegation of visiting members from Oregon will be in attendance it is expected. Those anticipating going should notify H. E. Hayes, master of the State Grange, at Oswego, Clackamas county, at once, if they wish to get second-classs passage in a tourist car at $15 each way and 75 cents per night for sleeping accommodations, starting either at Portland, Oregon City, Salem, Albany, or Eugene. The first class from the same points each way is $20 and $5 for Pullman berths. Reservations for Pullman berths will have to be made several days in advance by applying to E. P. Rogers, general freight and passenger agent at Portland.

A Chase After a Thief.

Mr. Hart, who is assisting in painting H. F. Merrill's new residence, having occasion Monday to look at his watch took down his vest, which he left hanging down stairs, and was surprised to find his timepiece gone. Remembering that he had seen a tramp walking rapidly from the building a short time previous he organized himself into a small sized detective force and started out in search of the thief. He soon found track of the tramp, who, when he saw him coming, broke into a run across the open country towards Lebanon. Mr. Hart is something of a sprinter and after a long chase overtook his victim, whom he thoroughly searched, but failed to find his watch. He is of the opinion that the tramp threw it away during the chase.

The Cowboy Tournament.

The Oregonian says several cowboys reached town yesterday from Washington and Eastern Oregon, and others will arrive daily till Sunday, the day fixed for the tournament on the East Portland ball grounds. Those coming from a distance, California, Montana, etc., are not expected to arrive before the latter part of the week. Messrs. Cook and Nowell, of the Portland live stock exchange, announce that all entries for Oregon should be made at their office, corner Fourth and Ash streats, before next Friday night. The coming tournament is creating considerable popular interest as it is the first ever given here.

Lively Runaway.

Mr. Pfau's horse ran away yesterday. The only damage was a badly sprained leg for the horse. We presume the horse got tired waiting, as he had heard that the Willamette Packing Co. had just received a fresh supply of genuine imported Swiss and limburger cheese, and he started for their store on his own hook.

Horse Crippled.

Yesterday afternoon Geo. Pfau's horse became frightened and ran away with the buggy to which it was hitched. In turning the corner at the junction of Elisworth and First streets the horse stepped upon the street railway track and broke its foot. It ran down to the Star brewery and stopped The horse will probably have to be killed.

Nothing Like Enterprise.

Yes, ladies and gentlemen, said the orator at a political speaking, there is nothing like enterprise and industry. Look at the man who came here in 1841, when there was only one house and started to peddling peanuts and oranges. Where is he to-day? Echo answers: "In the poor house." If he could have bought his groceries at the Willamette Packing Co.'s he could be owner of a mansion, as their motto is quick sales and small profits.

In His Old Quarters.

W. R. Graham has opened a merchant tailoring establishment in his old quarters on Broadalbin street. He has received one of the finest lines of genuine imported suitings and pants patterns ever brought to this city. Pants will be made from $6.00 upwards, and suits for $28 and upwards. He has a very large line of patterns, and will warrant all work to be first-class. Those desiring a fine suit made to order at almost the price of ready made clothing should give him a call.

Surveying the Mine.

Mr. F. J. McCaustland, civil engineer and surveyor, formerly of Oroville, Cal., now of Albany, arrived in the city to-day at the call of the Gold Mountain and Dry Gulch consolidated gold and silver mining company, and will proceed to Quartzville next Tuesday for the purpose of completing the necessary surveys in and around the mines, for the water ditch or flume, and such work in that line as may be required to get everything in working order.—Salem Journal.

Married.

Mr. Angelo McNary, of Salem, and Miss Nellie Locke were united in marriage on the 25th inst. at the home of the bride near Coburg, Rev. G. H. McKinley, of Eugene, officiating. The happy couple were the recipients of an enjoyable reception after the ceremony.

THE HOLINESS REVIVALIST ELLIS.

He Talks of the Brownsville Riot and Makes a Fool of Himself Generally.

W. T. Ellis, who has gained some notoriety at Brownsville, was in the city yesterday. He complains of the manner in which he has been treated there. He said he had been pelted with stones and eggs and had his tabernacle torn down and some of his members beaten with clubs. While at Halsey he said he had his wagon torn to pieces. He says he has sworn out warrants before Justice Stewart, of Halsey, for the arrest of H. B. Keniston and two citizens of Brownsville for participating in the recent riot there.

It is certain that such lawlessness of the kind recently experienced at Brownsville should not be permitted. If Rev. Ellis is guilty of what he is accused—of extorting money and slandering good men and women, he should be arrested and given a fair trial, and if guilty punished or if innocent he should be let alone.

Rev. Ellis said he was here to obtain legal counsel preparatory to bringing suit against the town of Brownsville for false imprisonment at that place. He left the following communication at this office for publication, which is not altogether nice for a preacher:

BROWNSVILLE, Oct. 1, 1889.

We call your readers' attention to the article headed "Holiness Revivalist" in your issue of September 27, which came from Brownsville. We wish to say that we do not pose as a holiness revivalist, but rather as a scavenger in general to clean up the damnable hypocrisy in such men as said Keriston, and the physical filth of such places as Brownsville, whose streets have been lined with red-nosed bums, smoking huge Dutch pipes, and their dirty squirting mouths filled with smutty jokes and the most horrid blasphemy, a fit counterpart of the old rotten wood, piles of brush, old cans, papers, and festooned everywhere by conspicuous cow tracks, with scraggy old cows swooping around every open gate and getting their bad manners evidently from the said bums, or the bums from the cows, we are unable to distinguish which. The cows seem to be less vicious and more intelligent as to what they feed upon of the two.

Suffice it to say no citizens of Brownsville had us arrested, but said Keniston, and I have abundant proof of his fraudulent failure in business, and to-day he has a warrant sworn against him for creating a riot. His marshal has no bonds and is no officer, and his judge is under a riot also. This is a fine nest. We have moved our press and office to Brownsville and propose to fight this battle to a grand finish.

Yours for cleanliness, law and order and righteousness.

W. T. ELLIS.

A RIDICULOUS PROCEEDING.

Last evening Rev. Ellis drew a crowd on First street by perching himself upon a box and singing, shouting and trying to talk. He began by abusing the bystanders and carrying on a running badinage with the small boys. Some mud and wads of tobacco were thrown at him, and the crowd finally grew disgusted and left him to the mercy of the small boys, from whom he soon retreated and went to the hotel.

Rev. Ellis has the appearance of having been at one time a talented man, but he is evidently partially crazy now, for his actions and talk in the street last evening was worse than silly.
