OVER THE WIRES.

The U. S. War Vessel the Nipsic Fully Repaired.

THE PAN-AMERICANS FETED.

Sensational Developments in the Cronin Case—An Offer of $1000 Each for Jurymen—Old World Affairs.

[The HERALD'S Special Dispatches.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—The steamer City of Peking arrived from China and Japan this morning via Honolulu. Honolulu advices report that the United States steamer Nipsic, which has been undergoing repairs there for some time, was given a trial trip two weeks ago, which resulted satisfactorily. Admiral Kimberly was aboard during the trip. The course was in the open sea and the Nipsic's propeller made sixty revolutions with 50½ half pounds of steam and her average speed was estimated at 9½ knots. The Nipsic and Alert are now lying in the harbor at Honolulu.

THE EPISCOPALIANS.

They Refuse to Recognize a Distinction Against Colored People.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—In the Episcopalian meeting this morning the committee on canons presented a report on the proposed establishment of an Episcopalian mission for colored people. Even if the church is justified by its laws in recognizing separate races, the committee deemed it inexpedient to do so now. The motion was postponed. The consideration of the liturgical revision was resumed.

THE CRONIN CASE.

Two Men Were Offered $1000 Each to Serve as Jurors.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—It is stated that two men have voluntarily come to the state's attorney and told him that they were offered $1000 each to go on the Cronin jury and hold out for acquittal.

The search for a jury in the case still continues. The grand jury is doing routine work.

The Pan-Americans.

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 18.—The Pan-American excursion reached here this morning and the swarthy sons of the south had their first view of a heavy white frost. After breakfast they were shown through the great foundries and factories. A salute of sixteen guns was fired in their honor. This was followed by a review of the militia from the park. This afternoon they witnessed the novelty to them of a trottting race.

The French Armies.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The sixth corps, which France proposes to double on account of the increase of the German garrison in Alsace-Lorraine, is now centered at Nancy. The eastern railway facilities will be built to run from Lille, Lyons and Besanion to the German frontier.

INDIAN VOTERS.

Indication That There Will Soon Be Thousands of Them.

A dispatch from Washington says that the Indian as a political factor is likely in the near future to attract public attention. By recent acts of Congress every Indian over 21 years of age who receives an allotment of land in severalty becomes a voter. The successful termination of negotiations with the Sioux Indians next year will throw into the State 4937 voters, and negotiations now in progress will soon make many more. At the Interior Department it is thought that upward of 20,000 Indians will be entitled to vote at the next Presidential election.

SENATOR MITCHELL.

Preparing to Make His Winter Home in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Senator Mitchell of Oregon has leased a house on Connecticut avenue, and is now in possession of it. Mrs. Mithell and Miss Mattie Mitchell, his daughter, who have been living abroad for the past few years, arrived in New York on Monday and are now in that city city. Mrs. Mitchell, who has been very ill for the past year, is utterly unable to make the journey to this city without the preliminary of a few day's rest. Their ocean voyage was a very rough one. H. E. Mitchell went on from here to meet his mother and sister, and will escort them hither this week. Mrs. Mitchell is in so delicate a state of health that after her arrival she wishes perfect rest and quiet, and will, therefore, be unable to see any one until she is somewhat.

AN INHUMAN YOUTH.

His Determined Attempt to Kill His Entire Family.

BERRIEN SPRINGS (Miss.), Oct. 18.—Horace Sebring, the youth who tried two poison all the members of his family, including his mother and father, and thus obtain possession of a paltry estate which would have enabled him to get married, was today sentenced to twenty-five years in the State prison. He confessed the details of his crime. He purchased poison and hid it until a suitable opportunity was giving him to place it in the teakettle. All the family partook of the tea but himself, and when they discovered that they were poisoned and implored him to go for aid, he stolidly refused, and waited for the drug to do its dreaded work. His purpose was frustrated, however, by the timely appearance of neighbors, succor and victims of his inhuman plot.

VICTORY FOR VILLARD.

Meeting of the Northern Pacific Preferred Stockholders.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The Northern Pacific preferred stockholders held a meeting to day. Chairman Harris presided. The only other in directors present were Henry Villard, C. L. Colby and Brayton Ives. A large number of Wall street men and holders of stock were present. The only business before the meeting was voting on what is known as the "Villard plan," It authorizes the issue of $160,000,000 new 5 per cent. bonds payable 100 years hence. Voting on the plan began at 10:30. Soon it became apparent that the Villard party would win. Johnston Livingston offered the following resolution, which was adopted, and which is in direct sympathy with the circular issued September 21, 1889, by Chairman Harris. The resolution was seconded, much to everybody's surprise, by Henry Villard. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That the holders of preferred stock, represented here, suggest to the incoming board of directors to take into consideration the distribution of the whole amount due the preferred stockholders as soon as the company shall be in a proper condition to do so.

Not a negative vote was received. Just before noon James B. Williams announced that the financial plan had been carried. Owing to duplicate proxies having been deposited, he could not announce the exact result. An adjournment was therefore taken until Monday.

Henry Villard voted the majority of the stock. Robert Harris, president of the company for many years, and who, last year, acted as chairman of the board of directors, is dropped from the directory, and so are Brayton Ives, J. O. Dahlin, Fred Billings and John H. Brookman. The new directors are George Morrison, James Haggin, C. H. Leland, Charles C Beaman and J. B. Williams. A slender minority of stock was voted by Robert Harris in favor of re-electing the old board.

Disarming an Unseen Foe.

"This was sometime a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to pit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Whatever malaria evolves its misty venom to poison the air, and decaying unwholesome vegetation impregnates the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Litters to persons dwelling in malaria-cursed localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy is powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

TEXANS AND PLUG HATS.

Reagan Almost Mobbed by His Constituents for Wearing One.

Washington Letter to New York Sun.

It is slanderous to say that no Texan ever wore a plug hat. But it is true that the martial visage of Roger Quarles Milles is often libeled in the comic papers by the topping off of a silk tile. No public man in Texas ever wore a plug hat. Senator John Reagan tried it it once in his own town, Palestine, but it didn't go. The postmaster-general of President Jefferson Davis' government was one of the first ex-confederates to be sent to congress. At the close of one of the sessions he went from New York to Galveston by water for a change. In the last named city the influence of some dude demon induced him to buy a stovepipe hat. He wore it a little in the streets of Galveston to get used to handling it. He wore the silk traveling cap on the railroad up to Palestine and there donned the jaunty stovepipe again. Walking up from the station with Mrs. Reagan he attracted more attention than he had ever attracted in his life before. The crowds which had gathered to welcome him with cheeres stood awestruck and dumb. The astonishment of the plain people increased until they were ready to almost throw dirt. The congressman saw the point, and was at his wit's end to know how to stem the indignation. When he stood up to address the multitude in the open square he entirely retrieved his fortune. First he set the plug down on the table.

"My friends and neighbors," he cried, "what are we coming to in this free and enlighted country? [Here he pointed with utter contempt at the plug hat.] As I came through Galveston I bought that hat there to show you what the aristocracy of wealth in trying to lead us to in this glorous nation."

The congressman, it is enough to say, elaborated this onslaught on the innocent stovepipe in every one of the next twelve minutes. When he had finished and had drawn his silk traveling cap out of his pocket and put it on to show that nothing could wean him away from the mother's milk of the primeval simplicity of the splendid days of Thomas Jefferson, and an that, he was complete master of the situation.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT.

How a Traveler Got Even With a Train Boy.

Chicago Herald.

"I suppose I did a pretty mean action the other night," said a suburban gentleman who lives out on the Burlington road. "I have been buying considerable fruit on the trains this summer, and occasionally have regretted my purchases. The deceptive peach basket has especially victimized me. I don't believe I have had my money's worth once this season. Last Tuesday I went out on the 7:30 train, and the small boy who works it at once tackled me with his peaches. He assured me that he had some of the slickest, ripest fruit at 40 cents a basket he had ever handled, and if I knew my luck I would certainly take some home. But I told him I guessed I wouldn't buy any; I didn't believe the peaches were ripe anyway. But he pressed me so hard that I finally agreed to take a basket if he would eat all the unripe peaches there were in it. To this proposition he demurred, but after working the train rather unsuccessfully he returned and said he would take my offer. I opened a basket which looked particularly promising, but as I delved down the lead did not pan out so well, and in a few minutes I had found five of the hardest rock peaches ever marketed. The boy tackled the first one with gusto and it disappeared in a twinkling; the second and third followed in pretty fair time, but he hit into the fourth with evident reluctance, and it took him longer to eat it than than the preceding three had done. He begged off on the fifth, but I was merciless, and, although his teeth were worn at the edges and he rolled his stomach uneasily, I closed my eyes to shut out his appealing looks, and refused to abate the bruised skin even. He earned his 40 cents, but as the brakeman tenderly helped him off the train at Riverside my conscience began to accuse me. Next morning the lad did not show up, and for several days the memory of those peaches clung to him like a horrible nightmare. I understand he has now left the trains entirely and gone to peddling Bibles among the farmers."
