EXCESSIVE ACCUMULATION.

Although thrifty saving is to be commended and industry leads to happiness, the accumulation of wealth just for the sake of hoarding it is not conducive of the best part of life. M. Maurice says that the chase for selfish happiness is always melancholy.

the killing and mangling of the passengers. The man should be secured and punished if there is any way of reaching him. The claim that these needless disasters are dispensations of Providence, beyond human control, has grown throbable from long use.

The colored democratic voters of Tennessee are appealing to the colored race in the south to divide their vote, maintaining that to be the panacea needed. They had better do a little missionary work and induce a division of the votes of the white population of the south as a preliminary to their great panacea.

Chicago continues her fight for the World's fair in '92. An Illinois paper, speaking of the aping after the Eiffel tower a mile high, says "Architects say it can be done. That will settle the question; the tower will be erected. Chicago has a habit of doing anything as soon as it is settled that it is within the range of possibility."

The Chicago Prairie Farmer says: The people around New York's pasture-ground, Central park—are alarmed lest the World's fair will be located there, and "mud sills" will trample the grass. Give yourselves no trouble, gentlemen: The World's fair is coming west.

NORWAY seems to be a prolific field for the Mormons to recruit members for their peculiar church. A large deputation of converts is said to be on the eve of starting for Utah from there, and in all Norway has sent 5000 adherents to the church of the Latter Day Saints.

ALTA says that Colonel Gunter has just sold 22,000 acres of land in Cook county, Tex., for $242,000 to German colonists from Iowa and Kansas, who are moving away from prohibition. This is settling Texas according to Gunter.
