JUDGE DEADY TALKS.

Interviewed Concerning the Hill-Sharon Case.

SHE WAS MERELY A MISTRESS
Judge Deady Fears She Will Attempt to Take the Life of Justice Field or His Own.

The Herald's Special Dispatches.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Judge Matthew P. Deady, of Oregon, before whom the famous Sharon-Hill case was brought to a hearing, is in Washington. Judge Deady wrote the opinion declaring the famous marriage contract a forgery. Judge Sawyer wrote the contrary opinion. Being interviewed by a Post reporter, Judge Deady said: "I came East to the Episcopal convention at New York. Yes, I sat in the Hill case. The fact is that woman was merely his mistress. He gave her $500 a month, furnished magnificent quarters and spent money on her lavishly. Her influence on Judge Terry was undoubtedly bad. She urged him to act against his own inclination. In November she will be tried before me for a rehearing of authorities. Very likely she at some favorable opportunity will attempt the lives of Justice Field, Judge Sawyer or myself. I predict she will die a violent death."

THE EPISCOPAL CONVENTION.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Episcopal convention merely considered the reports and routine business and decided on balloting for the next convention.

A CABINET MEETING.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A regular meeting of the cabinet was held this afternoon, at which topics to be embraced in the president's message were considered.

SLAVERY IN ZANZIBAR.
How the Male and Female Slaves are Sold at Auction.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—A letter from Zanzibar received at the office of the anti-slavery society here reports the buying and selling of human chattels in the streets of that city as being carried on with scarcely any attempt at concealment. When the auctions are held at which slaves are boldly exposed to the gaze of intending buyers, in many cases each slave carries a placard suspended from his neck upon which is written the price at which he can be bought. The women are not usually ticketed in this manner, but are sold for what they will fetch, the ordinary price being from £6 to £10 each if young. The slave merchants who carry on the trade are all wealthy, but it appears to be well understood in Zanzibar that rich firms of English traders furnish all the capital to conduct the business.

Thought to be Dying.
LONDON, Oct. 22.—Charles Bradlaugh, a well known political and social reformer, is very ill. It is feared he is dying.

The Reichstag Convened.
BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The reichstag opened to-day. Von Boetticher, vice president of the Prussian ministry, read the emperor's speech from the throne.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.
A Report That He Cannot Live More Than Another Year.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A Times special from London of October 19th says: At the great gathering in Athens this coming fortnight, where more royalties will be gathered than have been since the burial of the old Kaiser, there will be at least one family which will conceal deep sadness under the conventional smiles. I am assured on exceptional authority that the Prince of Wales has been warned by his physicians that he has Bright's disease incurably fastened upon him. There seems to be no ground for immediate apprehensions, but my informant says that the chances are said to be against his living through next year. The Queen has been thrown into grave despondency by the tidings, and is living a more secluded life than ever.

PORTLAND TO SAN FRANCISCO
No More Trains To Be Put On for the Present.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—As there is a good deal of talk in Oregon about the need of an additional train between this city and Portland every day, the question was asked of General Manager Towne whether such extra service is probable. His answer seems to settle the question for the time being. "We shall not run a second train until we can fill the one we are now running," was the reply.

THE DESTITUTE DAKOTAS.
Subscriptions Opened for the Sufferers in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 21.—The relief committee appointed by the chamber of commerce practically to day a report of the destitution in the Dakotas, which shows a serious state of affairs in several counties, caused by the failure of the crops incident to drought and frosts. An organized relief movement to get to work at once is recommended to get clothes, supplies and provisions to the people who are in want, before the extreme cold weather sets in. Delays will result in great suffering. Subscriptions have been opened by the city councils and the commercial bodies of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

PIONEER JOURNALISM.

How the Publishers Made the Arkansas Traveler a Success.

OPIC REED.
When P. D. Benham and I started the present Arkansas Traveler we had, after paying for the type, just money enough to get out three issues; but as I had run—excuse me, walked—so many papers without any money at all, I felt greatly encouraged. It was some time before we began to put money in the bank—indeed, our business in that direction has never enjoyed a rush. There were times when it was a strain to pay the printers, but they didn't seem to feel it. They took the money as emotionlessly as if we had found it in the road. For a long time advertisers were slow in recognizing our "unrivalled facilities." They were extremely stupid. They didn't come around and dispute any of our assertions. They silently accepted our statements, but continued to neglect their opportunities. We sent them the following circular:

"Gentlemen:—The Arkansas Traveler now goes all over the world, and it is with difficulty that we have kept it from going to hell." After this statement had been made, advertisements began to move towards us. Colonel Ben Simons advertised for a stray calf, and John W. Fillpot put in an announcement to the effect that he would not be responsible for debts contracted by his wife. We sent for Mrs. Fillpot and told her that she had been insulted. "But what am I to do?" she asked. "Madam," my partner answered, "put in an advertisement stating that you will not be responsible for debts contracted by your husband."

"She did so, and our paper became a success."

DAVY CROCKETT'S COMMAND.
Origin of a Saying That is Known All Over the World.

New England Magazine.
In Jackson's campaign of 1812 originated the now world-wide motto, "Be sure you are right and then go ahead." The fact was given me personally by General William Moore, in these words: "I was a Captain, but a very young man, in that command. Davy Crockett was in my company, quite young and awkward. I had trouble with my men and told them I would go and lay my complaints before the General. I did so, and young Crockett officiously went along. When I had stated my case, the General said: 'Captain, don't make any orders without needing them, and then execute them, no matter what it costs.'"

"Returning to camp, the boys wanted to know what the General said, when Davy Crockett, with a big laugh, said: 'The General told the Captain to be sure he is right, and then go ahead.'"

General Moore informed me that the next day Crockett's words were in the mouth of every soldier in the regiment and they were used all through the campaign. "Be sure you are right and then go ahead" is a common saying now wherever the English language is spoken.

Bismarck as Unseen Foe.
"This was sometimes a paradox," as Hamlet says. Since, however, the people of America and other lands have been enabled to get Hostetter's Stomach Bitters against that unseen foe, malaria, it is no longer a paradox, but an easy possibility. Malaria evolves its deadly venom to poison the air, and decaying unwholesome vegetation impregnates the water, there, in the very stronghold of miasma, is the auxiliary potent to disarm the foe and assure efficient protection. Fever and ague, bilious remittent, dumb ague and ague cake, no matter how tenaciously they have fastened their clutch on the system, are first forced to relax their grasp and eventually to abandon it altogether. But it is preventive force that should chiefly recommend the Bitters to persons dwelling in malarial localities, for it is a certain buckler of defence against which the enemy's powerless. Cures, likewise, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney and bilious ailments.

Piles! Piles! Piles!
Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for blind, bleeding or itching piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old cases of long standing.

William Coons, Maysville, Ky. says: "Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr. Williams' Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c and $1 per box. Sold by Foshay & Mason, Albany, Oregon.
