slavery is disappearing. The Sultan has given the British Consul a written promise that all children in his dominions after the 1st of January next shall be free. This is considered the greatest concession that a Mussulman prince has ever made to a European.

JOAQUIN MILLER is evidently becoming somewhat of an Eli Perkins himself. After his recent trip through Oregon and Washington he went home and wrote: "In Spokane Falls at the Grand Hotel I saw a little box with a few dollars of change in it out on the end of the counter in the midst of a dozen or two of the daily papers from various places. No one, so far as I ever saw, was in charge of either the papers or the money. Any man who wanted a paper took it, tossed his money into the box and took whatever change was his. I set this down as an incontestable sign of prosperity, and—let us admit, as we bow our heads in humility to the need of that portion of the Lord's prayer which says 'Lead us not into temptation'—of honesty, which is the first-born of prosperity."

It is announced that Senator Dolph, of Oregon, intends to reintroduce his coast defense bill, and thinks it will at the approaching session bring about some sort of legislation for the defense of the Pacific coast. "We must adopt a general plan for defending our coasts," said Senator Dolph, "and I think congress is now ready for it. Both the interstate commerce and the civil service laws will be amended, but neither will be repealed. Senator Blair will bring forward his educational bill again, but one cannot foretell the action in the house. We must carry out our pledges and revise the tariff."

VILLARD has again secured absolute control of the Northern Pacific railroad.
